FATE OF THE REFINERIES YESTERDAY AT CHURCHES

No Ordinance of Exclusion for the Council Today

CITY ATTORNEY'S REPORT

The Weekly Session of the City Fathers

Intended Barracks at Elysian Park to Solve the Regular Winter Tramp Problem

Is to Be Considered

The oil refinery problem, which involves the future existence and operation of all such establishments inside the city limits, will be the kernel of City Attorney W. E. Dunn's regular weekly opinion to be submitted to the council today. Dunn was last Monday requested to draw the necessary ordinance shutting out the refineries. He will today report recommending that either an untrammelled ordinance be adopted or else nothing at all be done. The council requested a law which makes it optional with itself to either permit a refinery to exist or not as might in individual cases be determined.

The owners of the refineries at present in existence are collecting statistics to prove why the legislation intended would be of material injury to the city. They say that the distilleries now being operated, directly employ between them over 200 people. Their pay rolls and supply bills aggregate several thousands of dollars monthly each. They insist that under a system in vogue in Chicago, Cleveland and other eastern cities the oil can be refined with separators so that there will be no steneh, which system they are preparing to at once adept. vidual cases be determined.

fined with separators so that there will be no stench, which system they are preparing to at once adept.

Councilman Savage is opposed to the intended prohibitive legislation and was the only member to vote against the reference of the matter to the city attorney one week ago. Councilmen Munson and Kingery oppose the refineries under any circumstances, while Councilman Snyder thinks that if they can be operated without continuing a public nuisance that they should not be bothered. In the latter view Snyder is supported by the mayor.

The council will today consider the recommendation of the board of public works that barracks, intended to solve the annual winter tramp problem, be built at Elysian park. There will of course be more or less oratory upon the subject.

There will be the first time in months no supply bills to be acted upon, the supply committee having on Saturday declined to allow any more expenditure during the present month, owing to lack of money. It is hereafter in ended to keep the city's expenditures within a limit of $12,500. This resolution affects the demands upon cash fund.

An Immense Crowd Witness the Cham. pion's Exhibition

After a Shooting Program the Wonderful Diving Mare Lulu Does Her Act Very Successfully One of the largest Sunday crowds in the history of Westlake park was out yesterday afternoon to witness the exhibition of Dr. Carver, the champion rifle and shot-gun shot of the world, and his wonderful diving manuel Presbyterian Sunday school tomare Lulu. The street railway company had put on extra cars on both the electric and cable lines, and the large concourse of people was handled with but little delay or inconvenience, in fact so little, that it was hardly noticeable at all. Dr. Carver first gave an exhibition of rifle shooting, on the same lines as that given at Agricultural park the previous Sunday, and which was in every way as Sunday, and which was in every way as successful. Apples and oranges were exploded with rifle bullets, vanishing completely in mid-air, and "blue-rocks" were broken as rapidly as they could be thrown in the air. After the rifle shooting came the work with the shogun, Dr. Carver using his Ashmore repeater, as he did on the previous Sunday. The doctor closed his shooting program by breaking five clay pigeons as rapidly as they could be thrown in the air. Owing to the large crowd, it was impossible to give the exhibition of shooting on herseback, as was expected.

shooting on herseback, as was expected, Br. Carver not wishing to take any chances of injuring any one.

After the shooting the famous diving horse, Lulu, did her act. Lulu is a handsome black mare, with a remarkably intelligent head, and carries herse f as a ten-thousand-dollar-prize beauty should. She is very fond of water, and whenever she can get near it always takes a swim on her own account. Dr. Carver has refused $10,000 cash for this mare, and says that double that amount would not buy her. She made her jump yesterday all right from the tower erected for her, and when she came to the surface swam for the injuring any one.

from the tower erected for her, and when she came to the surface swam for the shore, arriving without any mishap.

Lu'u will make her d ve every afternoon this week, between 2 and 3 oclock, and there will be a shooting program.

Dr. Carver carries six horses with him, all beautiful animals, and it is worth a visit to the barn on Ninth street, where they are stabled, to see them. They are all fine animals, and are California bred. The doctor's favorites are Doc, the horse from which he shoots, and Lulu, the diving mare. Besides these he has another from which he thoots, and Lulu, the diving mare. Besides these he has another black mare that does the tobogzan slide act, sitting down and sliding a hundred feet into the water, and which will be given by Dr. Carver before he leaves Westlake park. Another black horse does a jumping act, springing from a staging a distance of twenty to twenty-five f-et. A fine horse, which is used by his assistant in the shooting exhibitions, and a trained "bucker," a handsome bay, make up the stable.

Dr. Carver has fitted up a corral adjoir-ing his barn for training and exercising purposes, and will probably remain for some time, as he is highly pleased with

The Theosophists

The Ascent of Life was the subject of an interesting lecture delivered by H. A. Gib son before the Theosophical society yesterday morning. He said in part: day morning. He said in part:

"The old wisdom religion postulates infinite space as the scene of numberless universes evolving from a central point and returning again to quiescence. The monad or eternal pilgrim pasees outward through the elemental kingdoms, the firemist nebulae and downward till it reaches the mineral or most concrete form. We find the monad creaping out of the mineral form into the vegetable in lichen, mosses, etc., impelled onward by the evolutionary force or current of the life wave, building more and more perfect forms expressive of its extended life.

"Now, in man we have the self-con-more and more perfect forms expressive of its extended life.

"Now, in man we have the self-conscious free chooser capable of taking his evolutionary career in his own hands. Shall he remain an animal man or shall he gravitate toward his divine possibilities, Godwards? The great theater of life is before him; to act he is compelled; the part he shall assume is his to choose by the law of the continuity of life as a process and the descent of the individual into life after life, the environment and vehicle or body in each life is an exact resultant of causes the individual has set up in a preceding existence. Thus and only thus can wisdom be gained and safely garnered in the eternal aspect of his being till he raises himself from the merely animal concerns to the eternal or permanent. When his consciousness is placed in the immortal part of his nature he will be like the butterfly, born again to a higher plane to proceed onward and ever upward to fulfill the highest desire of his freed soul, learning the lessons of each station of his journey. Being a co-worker with nature, allied to her, he will know and be in harmony with all."

American Baptist Church

American Baptist Church

The services at this church were very largely attended yesterday. Rev. Mr. Tinker preached in the morning, and in the evening gave a stereopticon lecture on "The Life of Joseph." The Christmas entertainment will take place on Tuesday night and will be in the nature of a surright and will be in the nature of a surprise. A program somewhat unique has been provided, and there is a general feeling of pleasurable expectation among the children and parents of that vicinity. Though the new part of the house is not completed it will be used to accommodate the probable large attendance of that evening, temporary seats being secured for the purpose. The rolling partition has arrived and has been placed in position. The glass furnished by a Chicago house is in every way creditable. The memorial window of the Rev. C. E. Harris is beautiful indeed. The house will be ready for the entertainment given by Mr. Tinker January 3d, fuller announcement of which will be given later. At this entertainment a handsome flag will be presented for use on the church spire. CARVER AT WESTLAKE PARK
