Entertain a Large Number of Their Friends
Last Night

The hall of the Sunset Council, No. 1074, Royal Arcanum, on South Spring street, was crowded last night with an appreciative audience to enjoy a very excellent program, which had been arranged with an idea of pleasing all present. There were recitations, songs and instrumental selections. The applause was generous during the evening, and at the conclusion of the program refreshments were served and social intercourse enjoyed. The opening address was delivered by J. B. Whitney, regent of Argonaut Council of San Francisco. The remarks were brief and confined to matters pertaining to the council and the beneficiary advantages of being a member.

Enthusiastic Ceremonies at the Pavillon When the City Authorities Make Graceful Surrender

At the call of the bugle at 1:30 this afternoon sixty jolly maskers in fetching costumes will emerge from the Hibernian building and take their places behind Roncovierl's American Concert band. They will be known during La Fiesta as "the queen's merry masker's" and they fully deserve the name they dopted. Their costumes will be after the fashion of the Pierrots, and they will make themselves heard by their yell and Fiesta whistle, with which every member will be provided. In their march around the city they will win the applause of the multitudes. From the Hibernia building they will proceed to the Jonathan club, where they will be joined by the Fiesta club composed of Jonathans in striking costumes, and a halt will be made to receive the Commercial Travelers in mask and costume.

joined by the Fiesta club composed of Jonathans in striking costumes, and a halt will be made to receive the Commercial Travelers in mask and costume. Promptly at 2 oclock the command will be given at Hazard's pavilion to start on a marauding tour and to loot the principal places of business. A large number of maskers not members of any Fiesta club will join the merry maskers and about 3000 will be in line.

Headed by Roncovieri's band they will proceed along the following streets: From Fifth to Broadway. to Fourth, to Spring, to Third, to Broadway, to First, to Spring, along Spring to Temple block, to Main, to First, to Spring, to Third, to Main, to Fourth, to Spring.

Wherever the maskers spy a store where they think they can steal articles of comfort for the queen they will enter and help themselves. A large truck will accompany them on which the various articles will be deposited. The march around the city will occupy about two hours, when the procession will be dismissed.

At 8 colock this evening the great ceremonial exercises will commence at Hazard's pavilion. The queen and her court will be formally presented to her loyal subjects and an address will be delivered by Hon. R. H. del Valle. Mayor Itader will offer the freedom of the city to her majesty, and as a token of his good faith he will present her with a silver key to the city. Hon. T. E. Gibbon, her majesty, and are stoken of his good faith he will present her with a silver key to the city. Hon. T. E. Gibbon, her majesty and are spond for her in a neat and short speech. The looters will then step forward and offer the queen all the articles they gathered during the afternoon, and after these ceremonies Roncovieri's band will give one of their celebrated illustrated concerts, by the a'd of an electrical apparatus.

It is noteworthy fact that the decorations of business houses are more elaborate and more numerous this year than at any previous Fiesta. Especially is this noticeable on Spring street and Broadway, where most artistic and costly decora rostly decorations have been constructed.

Yesterday the dragon was unpacked, and the Chinese who are to take part in its performance commenced their rehearsals. The impersonation of the animal will be very realistic, but owing to the fact that its performing will require the entire parade to stop, it has been decided to give the public a chance to see its marvelous mechanism to its full extent only in two places, in front of the queen's throne and on North Spring street. On the latter street the performance will take place in front of the places of A. Jacoby and H. W. Frank, as a compliment to the president of the Merchants' association, respectively.

Roncovieri's band will give a prome-nade concert this morning from the veranda of the Hollenbeck hotel from 10:30 to 11:30, and every morning during the week the splendid band will dis-course music, alternating between the Hollenbeck and Nadeau hotels.

The following telegram was received

John F. Francis, Los Angeles:

My sincere wishes and congratulations. May the success of La Fiesta of 1896 ecilipse our former efforts.

MAX MEYBERG.

The call committee held a meeting yesterday afternoon, at which the members reported a large sale of ball tickets, the number sold being more than double of those sold last year at the corresponding time. The members of the committee feel assured of a large attendance. The pavilion will present a fairy-like appearance, with its magnificent decorations. The handsome uniforms of the officers of the navy and National Guard ficers of the navy and National Guard and governor's staff, together with the rich and gorgeous tollettes of the laddes, will make one of the most brilliant scenes ever witnessed in Southern Caliscenes ever witnessed in Southern California.

The reception committee will make the clubrooms of the chamber of commerce its headquarters. Chairman Cline has called a meeting of the committee for tomorrow to make arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the governor and staff, Admiral Beardslee and the officers of the flagship Philadelphia and other distinguished visitors.

Chief Justice Baker of the supreme court of Arizona, and wife, and J. Alexander, clerk of the same court, have arrived to witness the Fiesta, and will attend the queen's ball.

The floral committee requests all persons to leave their address at the chamber of commerce who desire to contribute flowers for the battle of roses on Saturday. If necessary the flowers will be called for at the residences, or they may be left at the chamber of commerce.

The California Protective association, composed of the wine and liquor merchants, deposited yesterday with the finance committee over $2200, contributed by its members to the Flesta fund.
