After the child had been out to nurse for several months the mother wrote the following letter to Mrs. Smith and, as it will cut considerable figure in the case it is herewith produced: SAN DIEGO, June 4, 1894. Dear Mrs. Smith:—I enclose $5 today. If you can possibly get baby in the home for that amount please endeavor to do so. As soon as I can I will pay you for your trouble. I am perfectly honest when I say I have no money. It would be a great comfort for me to know that you have my baby. Rest assured I would not take him from you for I have had too much trouble to ever attempt to keep him again, so if you decide to keep him yourself do not be uneasy re-garding my interfering with you. Do garding my interfering with you. Do not think I am trying to urge you to keep baby: I want you to do entirely as you wish about the matter. If you can-not keep him please send him to the home for the present, and I will pay you for your trouble as soon as I can do so. I am ever yours sincerely,

A good many hard things have been said about Mrs. Catherine Smith, but these are, perhaps, incident almost to the conduct of a lying in hospital when the conduct of a rying in hospital when carried on on an unorganized basis. Be that as it may Mrs. Smith determined to aid the girl who had won her sym-pathy, both for her own sake and also because the baby boy was, in face and feature, curiously like a boy of her own that she had lost.

HERS BY ADOPTION.

She went and got the child from the people who had been caring for it and kept it with her until it got good and strong, about two months in all, and then strong, about two months in all, and then placed it with Mrs. Judd, who lives on Sand street. That was about July, 1894. The baby had been named Malcolm Smith and grew to be a lusty little fel-low. So much so that Mrs. Smith de-termined to bring the child back to Believue ayenue. She had, possibly, another reason for this beyond her affec-tion for the child. The father and moth-er had been married in the interim aad if it could be contrived without scandal, wanted to gain possession of their own by adoption. Mrs. Smith stands ready to aid the mother in this desire, and since May she has had the little one subject at all times to the parents' wishes. Before removing it from the care of Mrs. Judd, however, Mrs. Smith paid the board bill due and obtained the following receipt: LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 25, 1896. Received, $75, from Mrs. C. Smith for board of baby. Balance due, $25. JULIETTE JUDD.

Received, $75, from Mrs. C. Smith for board of baby. Balance due, $25. JULIETTE JUDD. Mr. and Mrs. Dobson, the parents of Mrs. Judd, and with whom she resided, were, also fond of the boy and Mr. Dob-son, who runs the corral on Aliso street, on several occasions came up to Mrs. Smith's and took the boy out for a ride. Last Friday Mrs. Dobson said they were going to the ranch and would take the baby, promising to bring it back at all. About 8 oclock in the evening Mrs. Smith's us to see why little Malcolm had not been brought home and was told that it was in bed and asleep. Since then the Dobsons and Mrs. Judd have re-fused peremptorily to yield up the baby boy, and Mrs. Smith Mas applied for a writ of habeas corpus and the matter will be gone into today. Inasmuch as on the showing so far made the Dobsons have neither legal or moral claim on the baby, the insinua-tion that has been made that they desire to use it as a profitable investmen has an ugly look, to say the least.

that burglars had been in the house. Everyhing had been ransacked for val-uables and the place turned upside down. but all that was discovered to have been taken was a revolver and a pair of cuff buttons. Entrance to the house had been effected by breaking a glass panel in a door, reaching in and turning the key, which was still in the lock. There is no clew to the thieves.
