N. W. Stowell has protested to the council against the assessment for improving Chestnut street between Humboldt and Hayden streets. The assessment is not legal, the street being described as fifty feet wide, whereas it is but thirty.

Chief Bliss has issued orders to the officers of the police force to serve notice on all householders to trim up the shade trees along the streets. It will not be long before the winter rains are upon us and it is necessary that all trees be trimmed before then.

In the matter of the removal of obstructions on Florence street, the street superintendent has notified the council that it will be necessary for the city engineer to define the correct lines of that thoroughfare. This being done, he says that he will at once proceed to carry out the council's orders in the premises.

Garrett A. Hobart, in his letter of acceptance, August 10th, states that two billions money is deposited in savings banks by five million depositors, and expatiates on the evil the force of silver would have on these poor five millions.

On page 27, compiler of currency report for 1895, state national banks had deposits of $1,647,000,000; depositors, 2,000,000; state banks, $1,225,000,000; depositors, 1,438,000; savings banks, $1,747,000,000; depositors, 4,777,000. Total deposits, $4,620,000,000; depositors, 5,143,000. These figures ignore parts of thousands, while Hobart ignores parts of millions and also parts of the truth. If his argument was a sound one, why not give all the figures? Why not say in round numbers, five billion deposits, nine million depositors, and that one man often has from one to 500 different depositors? Why not tell us that we also have 70,000,000 people in the United States. "Facts and Figures" reproduces the figures as they are given out by the government officials, and is not a photograph. No campaign orator can stick to the fact truth because of lack of statistics, for reference, and if it is hard for the orator to get at statistics, how about yourself?
