MICHIGAN MINERS LISTEN TO BRYAN

The Free Silver Doctrine Well Received

MANY SMALL TOWNS ARE VISITED

Where Enthusiastic Hundreds Gather to Hear

AN OCCASIONAL GOLD YELL

Indicates That Idiots Have Escaped From the Asylum

But Silver Sentiment Is Strong and Daily Growing Stronger

One Meeting Interrupted by a McKinley Marching Club, but the Opponents of Silver are but a Small Minority.

Associated Press Special Wire
MARQUETTE, Mich., Oct. 14.—Candidate Bryan reached this city this evening.

The weather has been very considerate to Candidate Bryan the last two days. Where he had reason to anticipate cold, disagreeable traveling, he has encountered sunshine and warmth. As usual, he began work early this morning, making his first speech at Ironwood, at 8:45. The special car of Chairman Campau of the campaign committee was added to the train at Duluth, the Michigan committee which is escorting the nominee through the country being abroad. Besides Mr. Campau, the committee consisted of ex-Congressman T. E. Tarsney, Justin Whiting, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, and George W. Moore. Mrs. Justin Whiting accompanied the committee, being an old friend of Mrs. Bryan.

At Ironwood a large crowd was in waiting to see and hear Mr. Bryan. It was composed for the great part of miners, who gave him an enthusiastic welcome. He spoke from a gaily decorated platform erected a few hundred yards from the train, making explanation of the statement that under the gold standard a dollar would rise in value and property fall in proportion to that rise.

Fifteen minutes later Bryan addressed a large crowd at Bessemer. He ridiculed the idea of a flood of money advanced by the supporters of gold. Continuing, he said: "If we are simply going to petition foreign nations to assist us, every Republican meeting should be provided with petition blanks, so that people who attend can sign the petition asking foreign nations to please be good to the United States and give us what they think we ought to have. If we let them do what we want them to do in this country, and they do not do it, we can turn them out and elect somebody who will; but, my friends, if we transfer legislative powers to other nations we are helpless to protect ourselves, and must submit to whatever they give us."

At Waters Meet, which was reached soon after 11 o'clock, Bryan spoke in a conversational tone from the rear platform to a few hundred enthusiastic listeners. Some one shouted: "The national bank system is what the people of this place are interested in."

Mr. Bryan said the national bank plan is this: "We have greenbacks out now, and those greenbacks draw no interest, and the government pays none. When you retire those greenbacks with an issue of bonds, and then let the banks issue money on the bonds, the banks will then draw from the people of the country interest which the people now have. It is good for the banks, but hard on the people."

"Our Maker first, William J. Bryan next, and free silver," was the salutation of an enthusiastic individual at Iron River, and it was heartily applauded. The train stopped five minutes there. Bryan talked the full limit of time.

While he was applauded frequently, some gathered around the train wearing gold badges, and attempted to hoot the candidate, but were quickly silenced.

There was a shot made into Wisconsin at Florence, and the residents of that town in the Badger state turned out in force to see and hear the nominee. The adherents of the white metal were demonstrative and so were the followers of the yellow. After Mr. Bryan had finished his speech and his admirers had stopped cheering and applauding, three cheers were given for the Republican nominee.

In part Mr. Bryan said: "We have been trying the gold standard for twenty years, and if there is anybody who believes that it has been a success and that we ought to maintain it because it has been a success that person has not had much influence in national conventions, because in all the time we have had the gold standard in this country not a single party has ever declared that the single standard has been a success."

The biggest crowd of the day up to that time was encountered at Iron Mountain. Apparently it was a most unanimous silver aggregation. Mr. Bryan said in part: "You say that a dollar rising in value every day is a good thing for the farmer because when he gets a dollar it will be a good dollar? Put the emphasis on the 'when.' You say it is a good thing for the laboring man to be paid with dollars that will buy a great deal. Remember that the laboring man is interested in getting a chance to work before he is interested in being paid with good dollars. I would rather trust these laboring men to know what is good for them than to trust men who have spent their lives trying to destroy laboring men's organizations and who try now to speak for them."

At the little station of Norway several hundred people were about the depot and cheered the nominee when his train arrived there. The usual crowds were assembled about the rear end of the platform at a small country town, greeted the candidate at Powers.

By the time Escanaba was reached the bright sunshine of the day had changed to bleak, cold win, which was to be expected in the northern peninsula. This, however, did not deter a large crowd from being present around the stand built near the depot and the cold apparently did not chill the enthusiasm of those assembled. Here Mr. Bryan was presented with a badge of national colors surmounted by a crown of silver, from a citizen who expressed himself as being "for Bryan now, for McKinley in 1896."

Mr. Bryan said in part: "Somebody has said that everybody knows more than anybody. When we get an opinion of a majority of the people we get as near the opinion of everybody as you can obtain in governments, and in this campaign we are submitting our cause to the judgment of the American people. I have been criticized many times for traveling around among the people, but my friends, I do not know where a candidate is going to go if you do not allow him to go among the people who are to vote for him. There is no other place that I can go and feel at home. If I were to go and visit the headquarters of a trust they would put me out."

"If I were to try to make my home with the syndicate that has been leading this government I could not stay there long, and the people are about the only ones to whom I can go and not feel that my coming would be unwelcome."

The opposition was out in force at Ishpeming when the Bryan party arrived there. There was a large crowd to listen to the candidate, but it was not enthusiastic. His speech was applauded but little.

There was a big Republican rally on at which Washington Gardner was to speak. The McKinley club of the city marched to the Democratic gathering. Mr. Bryan had concluded his address and Timothy E. Tarsney had been speaking for a few moments when the Republican club's band approached. Mr. Tarsney immediately stepped in front of Mr. Bryan, and turning to the nominee addressed himself more particularly to him saying: "I am informed that this band is at the head of a so-called McKinley club. We are very much obliged to them and the people who sent them out for this kind of interruption, but inside of three weeks that band will be playing, if it is still in the same employment, a very different tune."

Those about the stand applauded this statement heartily and then Mr. Bryan was taken toward his car. Neagame, to a great measure, offset the lack of warmth displayed at Ishpeming. Mr. Bryan had time there to get on a platform in a public square to thank the people for their enthusiastic reception. He was cheered and applauded until the train left for Marquette, where it arrived shortly before 9 o'clock.

Marquette turned out all that Marquette could to hear the nominee. It was the most enthusiastic crowd of the day. Mr. Bryan was introduced by James Russell, editor of the Mining Journal.

A STUFFED REGISTER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 14.—Registration in Kansas City for the presidential election, just completed, shows a total of 31,330 names of voters on the books, as against 27,330 in the spring election. Both the Republican and Democratic parties made charges of irregularities in the Second ward, where the registration far exceeded that of any previous year. It is alleged by both sides that the opposing party managers have run in non-resident negroes to swell the lists. A canvass of the ward will be necessary to determine the truth.

Y., Oct. 14.—At 2 o'clock this morning the directors of the bank of Commerce, one of the leading financial institutions in this city, announced that owing to heavy withdrawals the bank was compelled to suspend business and place their affairs in the hands of the banking department for examination. Nothing can be learned as to the assets and liabilities.

EXCITEMENT WAS CAUSED

In a State Where Shooting Is Common

THREE DEAD, TWO WOUNDED

Is Called Sensational Tragedy Even in Georgia

Mr. White Was Not So Crazy as to Spoil His Shooting—More Killing to Come.

Associated Press Special Wire

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 14.—A special to the American from Columbus, Ga., says: Three men are dead and two seriously wounded as the result of a sensational tragedy which shook Columbus to its foundation today. One of the dead is J. A. White, who was the cause of the whole trouble. White and his 19-year-old son murdered in cold blood two policemen and wounded two other men who were in the party trying to arrest them. The murdered officers are Richard M. Adams and William Jackson.

White was formerly a policeman, but for several years has been in the shoe business. He has been considered eccentric, but not crazy. Today he became involved in a quarrel in a barroom, and Adams and Mayfield served him with a summons to answer a charge of disorderly conduct. This maddened White, who made threats against the officers. He went home, got his Winchester, and bought a supply of cartridges. They went into a barroom, and going out from there encountered the officers.

"I told you to get ready, and if you ain't ready you ought to be," White called out as he opened fire on the men. Adams fell at the first shot. Then Jackson fell, begging the Whites to stop firing. The father stood over him, firing into his prostrate body.

News of the affair created great excitement. Policeman Roberts went to White's house, knocked, was asked in, and as he stepped inside was fatally wounded by a ball from White's gun. The entire police force, armed with Winchester, and their party augmented by the presence of a large number of armed citizens, went to arrest the Whites. The son had taken no part in the last shooting, but had fired at both Adams and Jackson. The Whites' home was surrounded and demands made for a surrender. The reply was a shot, which wounded a boy in the crowd. Then six officers went to the house and broke down the doors. As they sprang in White fired, wounding Sergeant Pickett. At the same time White was shot. He attempted to break through, but half a dozen bullets were put through his body. Henry, the son, escaped. A posse with bloodhounds is on his trail.

OUT OF MONEY

Americans Abroad in Danger of Imprisonment Due to Debt

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Lucy Williams Auersler Hoyte appeared to be in the throes of hard luck. The Associated Press advised that she had been arrested about her being threatened with imprisonment, along with her husband, Hereward Hoyte, for the non-payment of debts, unless her friends immediately come to her rescue. Mrs. Hoyte was the adopted daughter of the late Llewellyn Williams of Sacramento, who bequeathed her something like $75,000, which she proceeded to expend in profitable theatrical ventures. About $100,000 was also left to her young son, for whom C. W. Clarke, the wealthy stockman of Sacramento, is guardian. The funds of the young son are in the hands of trustees.

This afternoon Governor Budd received the following cablegram signed by the husband of the heiress, which would indicate a sorry plight:
CANNES, France, Oct. 14.—To Governor Budd, Sacramento—Find C. W. Clarke, wife, boy and self starving. Compel him to cable me $1000 immediately. Delay means prison. HERWARD HOYTE.

Mr. Clarke is out of the city and the appeal of Hoyte will be referred to the attorney of the son's guardian.

DIME NOVEL HEROES

The Sherburne Bank Robbers and Murderers Fully Identified

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 14.—A Rock Rapids, Iowa, special to the Journal says: The names of the Sherburne bank robbers were none other than Lou and Hans Kellhan, well known boys in this city, fell like a thunderbolt, and their parents, who are reputable people, are prostrated by the announcement. Hans, the dead one, has been away from home for years and was supposed to be traveling with a theatrical troupe. He came home two months ago, and Lou persuaded him to join the gang. He had a position for him. The printed portraits leave no doubt of the identity of the boys. Lou has been considered a trustworthy lad and was held in high esteem. The father, John Kellhan and J. D. Wilson, his brother-in-law, have gone to Blue Earth City to see him.

The boys left here two weeks ago presumably to visit relatives. The crime was undoubtedly plotted here. The dead robber is believed to have been the main conspirator and the murderer of the two men in the Sherburne bank. The reading of dime novels is believed to have been the cause of the crime.

A WORKMAN KILLED

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—George Pabst, manager for the Eureka shaft iron and metal works, while working in the dome of the new city hall this afternoon was struck by a falling plank and instantly killed. Pabst had the contract for furnishing the corncices for the dome and was engaged in tearing down the scaffolding, which stood about sixty feet above the ground floor, when the accident happened.

THE WHEEL IN POLITICS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—What is said to be one of the largest departments of one of the national political headquarters in this city gives its whole attention to wheelmen. It is in charge of Mr. James R. Dunn of Ohio, and he has under him three stenographers, two clerks, a page, and two mailing clerks. While bicycle clubs have taken part in previous campaigns, this is the first time an attempt has been made to utilize them as an organized body. There are said to be 1,500,000 men bicycle riders in the United States, and the claim is made that quite two-thirds of them are or will be enlisted in campaign work. They are used as messengers, distributors of documents, speakers at cross roads meetings, escorts, etc., and take part in the parade.

THOMAS W. FERRY

The Ex-Senator Dies Suddenly—Paralysis the Cause

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Oct. 14.—Ex-Senator Thomas W. Ferry died here very suddenly this morning from paralysis. Senator Ferry had been in splendid health excepting sudden attacks of the disease until three days ago, when he took to his bed. Last evening he was given a hypodermic injection. The family sat up with him until he seemed asleep. This morning they found him dead. Hon. E. P. Ferry and Col. Montague Ferry, his brother, residing at Park City, Utah, have been wired.

The interment will be at Lake Forest cemetery. Thomas White Ferry was born at McKinstry, June 1, 1827. In 1853 he was elected to the legislature, in 1864 to congress, and in 1871 to the United States senate. During the Hayes and Wheeler electoral count he was president of the joint meeting and on the death of Vice-President Wilson became acting vice-president. He was defeated for re-election to the senate by Thomas Wheeler in 1882. He was unmarried.

THEY HELD UP THE BANKER

But Will Never Commit Any More Such Offenses

Colorado Citizens Carried Pistols—The Undertaker Needs No Assistance From Court Nor Jury

LEADVILLE, Col., Oct. 14.—A special to the Herald-Democrat from Meeker, Col., says: Yesterday afternoon three men entered the Bank of Meeker, which is connected with the store of J. W. Hughes & Co., who own the bank. Two of the men held up the store employees while the third went to the bank cashier's window and, firing one shot, ordered the cashier to throw up his hands. The order was not quickly obeyed and the robber fired again, whereupon the cashier's hands went up. The manager of the store was then forced to open the bank door, and, after gathering up all the money in sight, the robbers marched the cashier and store employees into the street with hands uplifted.

Then they rushed out the back way with their booty. Citizens attracted by the shots had pretty well surrounded the building by this time, and being armed, opened fire on the robbers, two of whom, Charles Jones and William Smith, were killed by the first volley. The third man, George Harris, was shot through the lungs, dying in two hours.

He is fully identified and gave the other names, which are believed to be fictitious. Four citizens were wounded: District Game Warden W. H. Clark, bullet in right breast, not fatal. Victor Dikeman, clerk, shot through right arm. G. A. Booth, clerk, scalp wound. W. P. Herrick, finger shot off.

It is believed one of the dead men is Thomas McCarty, who robbed banks at Telluride and Delta, Col.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. Meeker is ninety miles from Rifle, on the Rio Grande, the nearest telegraph station.

GUIANA GOLD

Not Confined to the Territory Now in Dispute

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Sir Augustus Heming, governor of British Guiana, arrived at Plymouth today on board the steamer Don from Colon.

In an interview Gov. Heming said he had come to England for a holiday and that he would return in three weeks. He would have time, he said, only for a formal call on Mr. Chamber, the secretary of state for the colonies. The Venezuelan dispute was entirely in the hands of the home government, and it was impossible to predict the outcome, but it was unlikely anything serious would occur.

The feeling in the colony, he said, was distinctly British. There was naturally some dissatisfaction, but the majority decidedly opposed Venezuelan encroachments. A very strong feeling had been aroused, he said, by the intervention of the United States.

Venezuela was not itself a terrible foe, but he was convinced that the government would now soon finally settle the difficulty. The future of British Guiana, the governor said, was bright. Gold was abundant in various parts besides the disputed district, and there was a good opening for prospectors. The country only wanted exploring.

MORTON'S VIEWS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Secretary Morton today gave out to the Post for publication his view of the Bryan Democratic leaders. He closed his statement as follows: "The finance which they teach is entirely confederate flat. In the southern confederacy the same leaders who are now in command of the picket guards for free silver at 16 to 1, were leading financiers. And Harris, Pugh, Morgan and the other confederate generals now in command of the Bryan campaign seem to desire to accomplish by false finance that which they failed to bring about by arms—constitutional dishonor and disgrace."

A CLUMSY BURGLAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—S. P. Holden, a stock broker, heard a noise in his cellar today and on investigation found a man named George Orr ransacking the place. Holden grappled with the man and marched the would-be burglar off to the central station, aided by a policeman.

Santa Fe Overland Flyer to Be Put On Again—Bad Wreck On the Florida Central

Associated Press Special Wire

LONDON, Oct. 14.—There was a large attendance today at the meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada. Sir Charles Rivers Wilson said he had been accused of ordering an expensive new car. Such car, he admitted, had been constructed, but he added, he did not think any intention would have been paid to the circumstances had it not been for the lively imaginations of Canadian reporters. Continuing, the president said it was also charged that he was Americanizing the system, while as a matter of fact very few American officials, considering the large staff, had been appointed. Later Sir Charles begged the stockholders to be patient, pointing to the fact that the times were unpropitious, but the horizon, he said, seemed to be clearing.

The Americans, he explained, were in the throes of a financial crisis, but in a few weeks the crisis would be over, from information he had received. He believed that the result would be a triumph for sound financial principles which would, in his opinion, bring about a revival of business in which the North American railroads would share. Finally the president said that he wished it to be understood that no scheme for recognition would be entertained by the board of directors. The annual report was adopted.

COMMISSION POWER

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Attorney General Fitzgerald has filed an opinion that the California railroad commission has power to make the Market street railroad render statements to the commission, and has power to fix rates on street railroads. He says the commission has power to punish Secretary Willard for contempt in refusing to answer questions about the Market street railroad, but he does not deem it advisable for the board to punish him. The commission took the same view.

THE OVERLAND FLYER

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Beginning November 4th, the Atchison will re-establish its fast train service between California and Chicago. The fast train will leave here twice a week, on Wednesdays and Saturdays, and arrive in Los Angeles in seventy-two hours. The east-bound through train will arrive in Chicago on Mondays and Thursdays, the time for the east-bound trip being the same as that of the west-bound train.

A BAD WRECK

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 14.—Through a misunderstanding of orders, the north and south-bound trains on the Florida, Central and Peninsular railroad had a head-on collision early this morning just south of Swansea, about thirty miles from this city. The trains came together at an embankment. The engineers and firemen jumped and escaped injury. The engines of both the trains were demolished and the tender of the east-bound engine telescoped into the combination mail, baggage and express car. Baggage and Express Messenger W. D. Lines and Mail Agent L. A. Thomas were pinned in the wreck, which broke from the coal oil lamps. The crew of both trains tried to get them out, but the flames spread so rapidly that, though the rescuers were stimulated by the piteous appeals of the two men, they could do nothing to aid the unfortunates, who were roasted to death. Flagman Ulmer was standing between the second-class and baggage cars, and he is supposed to have been burned to death also. Two other cars were consumed, but no passengers were injured.

A TROLLEY HORROR

A Loaded Street Car Struck by a Locomotive

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 14.—Three men were killed and a score of others more or less seriously injured tonight in a trolley accident at the Hazleton crossing of the Delaware, Susquehanna and Schuylkill railroad and the Lehigh Traction company. The dead are: Jefferson Kerchner of Hazleton, a telegraph operator. William Stapleton of Milton, a telegraph operator. David Williams of Plymouth.

Patrick Dowd, the conductor of the trolley car and Morris Ferry, a boy, are at the hospital unconscious, and are not expected to live. Both have fractured skulls and are injured internally. Kerchner was ground to a shapeless mass beneath the railroad engine, and Staples and Williams lived but a few minutes after being taken from the wreck. The accident occurred about 8 o'clock. The trolley car was filled with passengers and was crossing the railroad tracks when struck by the engine.

It is not known what either of the operators signed.

THE SUPREME COURT.

Right of Women Under Decisions Which Include Alimony.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—In an opinion handed down by the supreme court today the doctrine was established that a judgment in a decree of divorce holds good against the real property of the defendant. Annie E. Gaston obtained a divorce from Andrew E. Gaston on the ground of extreme cruelty, and the court awarded her $45 a month during her lifetime, or during the time she shall remain unmarried. The defendant paid the alimony for ten years and then refused to pay anything further. The plaintiff then obtained a second divorce from the court for the sale of defendant's land, and upon the motion to vacate this order being denied, the defendant appealed. The supreme court affirmed the order, holding that the provision for support is an incident of the judgment for divorce, and an action for divorce is treated as a case in equity. The right to execution for failure to pay monthly sums of alimony does not accrue until they respectively fall due.

The justices and officers of the supreme court will leave for Los Angeles Saturday, to attend the regular October session of the court, which commences on Monday. The session will last two weeks.

THE SILVER QUESTION.

Discussed by Twentieth Century Club Men at Boston.

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—The principal speaker at the Twentieth Century club tonight was George S. Boutwell, who discussed the silver question. He said in part:

"My part in the preparation of the mint bill of 1873 was very considerable. The bill was the result in no small measure of recommendations which I made to congress after careful consideration of the existing currency system when I was appointed to the office of secretary of the treasury. The bill contained seventy-one sections, one of which called for the demonetization of silver. If I am asked the pertinent question of why I sought to work a change in the financial system, I will answer that I had come to believe it was for every nation of the world to recognize and maintain the gold standard."

Mr. Boutwell denied that the bill was forced upon the nation secretly, fraudulently and stealthily. Concerning these charges he said: "There was not the least suspicion about the fealty of any one until 1873, when the failure of the trade dollar was the signal for the crusade against the act of '73."

STORM VICTIMS.

A Norwegian Bark Foundered—A Steamer Badly Damaged.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The Mallory line steamer Concho brought from Key West as passengers Captain John Olsen and crew of the Norwegian bark Saturn, which foundered on September 28 in a hurricane on the voyage from Belize for Allao.

The Saint line steamer Hubert, which left Philadelphia for London last Friday with a full cargo of general merchandise and a deck load of cattle, sustained such damage in Sunday's hurricane that she was obliged to bear up for this port to rest. She arrived this afternoon and showed every trace of the fearful weather she encountered. Her decks were cumbered with the wreckage of the cattle pens and deck fittings, and 114 fine steers were missing, having been washed overboard.

A TERRIBLE DEATH

A Woman Caught by Machinery and Beaten to Death

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Pauline Olevieri, a sack sewer, met with a terrible death in the California Italian Paste company's works today. She was wound around an upright shaft which was revolving with great velocity and she struck against a stanchion every time she was whirled around.

Mrs. Olevieri worked on the second floor of the building, where the pasting of boxes is done. It is supposed that she was going out at the time and her dress caught. Her clothes were wound around the shaft in such a way that they could not be loosened by tugging, so a knife had to be used. The clothes were wound up close to the body and it was removed in almost a nude condition. The right leg and both arms were broken and the head had been crushed by the boys against the stanchion.

REPUDIATE THE CONTRACT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Thomas M. Quackenbush, a Quakerite, brought suit today to establish the fact that he is not a married man. He says Mrs. Nancy A. Abbott claims to have two marriage contracts which she alleges Quackenbush executed with her. He denies that he ever signed such a contract and wants her to produce them in court that he may prove their lack of genuineness. He wishes to avoid legal complications over his estate after his death. Mrs. Abbott is a widow and bears a good reputation.

AN AFGHAN UPRISING.

BOMBAY, Oct. 14.—A section of the Nari tribe of Afghans has attacked the Sanari station on the Quetta railway in Beluchistan, killing the entire staff except the station master, who lost an arm.
