LOS ANGELES COUNTY

PASADENA

PASADENA, June 12.—(Regular Correspondence.) The purchase of the Mt. Lowe railway by the Southern Pacific seems reasonably assured. Negotiations have been pending for some time, and the Southern Pacific has made a thorough examination of the road and the three hotels belonging to it. The Southern Pacific's attorney at Los Angeles is now examining the title, and if his report is favorable, an offer will be made to buy all the assets of the road. The bondholders will secure 50 per cent and unsecured creditors 25 per cent of their claims, payment to be made in new bonds, guaranteed by the Southern Pacific. The present bond issue is $500,000, and the other debts $30,000. There is no doubt that the offer will be accepted. The road has been in receivers' hands since last July. Four months ago the bondholders began foreclosure proceedings and a judicial sale is expected any possible question as to the title, so the deal with the Southern Pacific will undoubtedly go through. It is understood that in the event of the sale Prof. Lowe, who built the road, is to be given some important position. It is also stated that the Southern Pacific will extend the Pasadena branch to connect at Rubio canyon with the lower terminus of the Mt. Lowe railway, and a large part of the Southern Pacific tour travel can thus be carried up the Mt. Lowe railway. The plans include the establishment on Echo mountain of an institute to be known as the Lowe institute, devoted to astronomical and other scientific investigation. The institute was incorporated a few days ago.
