GOVERNOR SIGNS MISSOURI RACING BILL

Trouble in the Middle West Will Keep Many Horses on the Pacific Coast and Game Will

Thrive

By Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 21.—
Governor Folk today signed the Godfrey bill, passed by the legislature, making pool selling and bookmaking a felony in Missouri. The law becomes effective on June 16.

Unless all signs fall, Seattle and Por land will have record-making meeting during the coming summer seasor There will be men and horses in th northwest that have never raced a those meetings before, and the troubl around Chicago and St. Louis will b responsible in a great measure for th success that is bound to come to th small meetings on the Pacific coas and those on the Denver circuit.

Racing people in Missouri are rethe best of the time that remains for pacing in that state. The Kansas Cit-track is already prepared to announce a meeting that will last into June. In St. Louis there is talk of trying to have the dates of Delmar and Kinloch given to the Fair Grounds track and running off as many of the stakes as i may be possible to give.

The chances are that there will be

The chances are that there will be plenty of racing in St. Louis after the opening, which is scheduled for April 15, as the Corrigan forces will open Union park unless a truce is patched up with the Western Jockey club before that time, and this seems to be will apply the property of the control of the co uite unlikely.

The eastern circuit will have more horses this year than it can take care of, and already it is impossible to get stall room at the Bennings track, which comes towers the second constant of the second const which opens tomorrow.

Owners in all parts of the country are now wondering where they stand in the matter of stake entries that they have on the various tracks in the middle west, and on some of which it seems that there will be no racing.

There are horsemen who, before the actual split, and even after it, but before the results of the seems there was a decident to the contract there was a decident to the contract there was a decident to the seems the contract there was a decident to the contract there was a decident to the contract there was a decident to the contract the contract there was a decident to the contract the contra ore there was a decision to enforce the outlaw rule, who had made entries without reference to the affiliation which the associations later might elect to make. What becomes of these nom-inations? Horsemen may not keep all of them without subjecting themselves to outlawry, and yet, in some instances that very incapacity to fulfill the engagement arises from sides taken by the associations. It may be said that this is the fortune of war, but, whether so or otherwise, it is a very distinct misfortune. Of course associations that were affiliated with the Western Jockey club when entries were made, and who since have transferred their allegiance to some other governing organization, should not hold nominators for their forfeits, but in the case of added money stakes it is the winner of the stake with whom the right to absolve rests,
