WOMAN'S HEAD STRIKES ON PAVEMENT
DIES THREE HOURS LATER

Mrs. James C. Collins, Visitor in City,
Meets Death in Accident
at Thirty-First Street

Mrs. James C. Collins of Hutchinson, Kan., who has been visiting her niece, Mrs. M. McCormick, 114 East Thirty-first street, died yesterday afternoon from injuries sustained in a fall while attempting to alight from a Main street car a few hours previous.

The accident occurred at the corner of Thirty-first and Main streets about 11 o'clock Tuesday evening, while Mrs. Collins and her daughter were returning from Chutes park. Mrs. Collins is said to have signaled the conductor to stop the car. A few minutes later the woman stepped into the street. As she did so she apparently lost her balance and in falling struck the back of her head on the pavement.

She was hurriedly taken to a house at 107 Thirty-first street and medical aid summoned. After an examination by the physician it was announced that the woman's skull was fractured.

The injured woman was removed to her niece's residence yesterday morning, but died soon afterward without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Collins came from Kansas about eight months ago and was so pleased with Southern California that she had written a few days ago for her husband to meet her in Los Angeles, with the intention of building a home in this city.

The remains were removed to Sutcliffe undertaking establishment, where an inquest will be held over the body this morning.

M. M. Flower, 50 years old, brother of ex-Governor Flower of New York, was run down and painfully injured by a Washington street car yesterday afternoon while in front of The Palms hotel on his way to the Santa Fe depot.

The elderly man, whose home is in Valley Springs, has been visiting his sister, Mrs. A. W. Rhodes of Los Angeles, for ten days, and was starting on his return home when the accident occurred. It is said that Mr. Flower miscalculated the distance between himself and the car as it approached him and, stepping too near the tracks, was struck by one corner of the car as it was slowing down to take on several passengers.

The crew summoned medical aid. After an examination, it was announced by the surgeon that no bones were broken, but a number of severe bruises had been sustained by him. He was removed to the Pacific hospital where it is said that he will be confined to bed for several days.

GERMANY SWAMPED WITH WAR SUPPLY ORDERS

Russia Wants More Rifles and Cartridges than the Factories Have

Declined Contracts

BERLIN, June 14.—The Russian war office invited proposals from German ammunition works this week for 200,000,000 cartridges of all kinds, costing between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, and also for considerable quantities of regulation infantry rifles. The largest arms and ammunition factories in Germany have been obliged to decline contracts because they have orders so far ahead from the Japanese, Russian and other foreign governments.

The business of manufacturing guns, both large and small, is described as having never been so active in Germany as at present. It is estimated that 25,000 persons are now employed in the various German smaller arms and gun factories, all of which are turning out the utmost product of which they are capable.

The young people, attracted by the barking of a dog in the yard, went out to investigate, when they were fired upon. The girl fell dead and the boy crawled back into the house, where he died. A younger child was wounded.

ANGELENOS BATHE IN SALT LAKE

MANY PLEASANT FEATURES
ARRANGED FOR DAY
BANQUET CROWNING EVENT

Reception Is Held for Visitors by President Joseph Smith, Who Explains System of Mormon Church

BY BURT A. HEINLY.
Special to The Herald.

SALT LAKE, June 14.—For one hour today Salt Lake was two inches higher than it has been in many years. With his democracy, a tight bathing suit and a smile, Joe Simons waded into the briny element.

"Uncle Billy" Workman followed him and breast the waves in a way that demonstrated he was glad to be once more in the Mormon inland sea.

Two hundred other Angelenos also took a bath. The Salt Lakers announced before the start to Saltair that it was their determination to see that every visitor took at least one bath while in the city. And there were thousands of saints who believed their own advice was good and followed it likewise.

Every train running to Saltair yesterday from morning until late at night carried thousands of pleasure seekers. The attendance is placed at 25,000 people. A banquet at 5 o'clock was the crowning feature of the day. Frivolity ran riot. The jolly good feeling which was rampant brought singing one moment, the standing on chairs with the waving of napkins the next and almost continual applause.

Utah's Flag Day
These Salt Lakers are patriotic folks. This is flag day for Utah, but the abundant use of the national colors in the decorations of the week and the salute which is always given it, effectually refutes any cry of "Utah a disloyal state."

Angelenos are not behind their Utah brethren in this. Their voices were among the loudest tonight when the banqueters sang the national hymn and followed it with every other patriotic song they could think of. One toast which was drunk was "In 1910, Salt Lake the metropolis of the Rocky mountains, Los Angeles, the metropolis of California."

Every glass was raised to the toast and everyone present drank to its future accomplishment with hearty good will.

Following the serving of the banquet, the 500 diners listened to a program of toasts seldom excelled for brilliancy, eloquence and wit. Capt. Joseph E. Cain acted as toastmaster and with the prominent after dinner speakers of Salt Lake were heard, Oscar C. Hewlett, H. T. Hazard and "Uncle Billy" Workman of Los Angeles, with George A. Atwood of San Bernardino.

Following the banquet dancing in the great pavilion was the feature of the evening, Angelenos returning to the city at their leisure.

This morning one of the events which is not on the program was a reception held by President Joseph S. Smith of the Mormon church in honor of the Los Angeles officials, city and county, and other prominent gentlemen of the southwestland.

Explains Mormon System
Other prominent Mormon apostles and elders of the chapel assisted in the receiving which lasted for over two hours and at which the veteran church leader explained in detail the working system of his church.

The Salt Lake lodge of Elks kept open house today in honor of the visitors, and their headquarters became the general rendezvous for Angelenos.

At noon the Salt Lake Real Estate association gave a luncheon to the Los Angeles realty men in the dining room of the Commercial club.

Following a discussion of questions of practical interest to those present a program of toasts followed, with responses made by E. A. Pomeroy, Robert Mitchell, Thomas Hampton, William Garland, W. G. Griffith and United States Marshal Osborne of Los Angeles. Before adjournment resolutions were passed and ordered sent to Portland congratulating that city on its exposition and its great work of building up the west, with Los Angeles and Salt Lake. Many real estate deals have all but been completed in which Angelenos are to make large investments in Salt Lake property.

As the guests of Simon Bamberger the visitors will be taken to the lagoon tomorrow, where an elaborate program will be carried out.

Fifty Angelenos left for home tonight and many more will leave here tomorrow.

HICKEY DIVORCE SUIT ON TRIAL

HUSBAND OF SOCIETY WOMAN
SEEKS SEPARATION
ALLEGES SHE DESERTED HIM

Details of Their Domestic Troubles
Given to the Public on the Witness Stand

The embarrassing details of the domestic troubles of George C. Hickey and wife were given an airing in the superior court yesterday when the husband's suit for divorce upon allegations of desertion came to trial.

The case probably attracts more attention than any on the calendar. Mrs. Hickey is the sole executrix and heir of the Bumiller estate, which at one time was valued at many thousands of dollars. She is also a prominent society and club woman.

They were married in Oakland in 1888. Shortly after the wedding they moved to Los Angeles and took up their residence in the Bumiller home on South Olive street. Some slight difficulty arose later between the husband and the five children of his wife by the former marriage, and Mr. and Mrs. Hickey moved to a hotel on South Grand avenue, while the children remained at the Olive street residence.

The troubles between the husband and wife and the children continued. Hickey took a trip to Europe and his wife accompanied him. Upon their return they spent a week at Redondo and returned to Los Angeles, where the alleged desertion is said to have occurred. Hickey rented some rooms on Broadway, while his wife erected a magnificent home in the new Westmoreland Place tract. The home was valued at $12,000, but Hickey was not asked to live in it, and whenever he saw his wife it was elsewhere.

Hickey on Stand

Hickey was the first witness on the stand yesterday. He is a prominent real estate dealer of Ocean Park, and a number of business men of the seaside resort were present to take note of the proceedings.

"My wife and I have been separated about twelve of the eighteen years of our married life, and it is all on account of her children," said Hickey. "They have always disliked me and trouble has been continual between us."

"My wife deserted me in 1899 and a short time later filed suit to recover her property, which had been placed in my name as community property. I gave back the property without suit, and she then filed suit for divorce, alleging non-support. This also was withdrawn. I asked my wife why she would not live with me and she told me that I could not support her in the manner which her social standing in Los Angeles required."

"She announced to me in the presence of men employed in my office that, unless I would build and furnish a home for her costing $15,000, she would not live with me. She gave as a reason that her daughters had to be married off well and they must have a fine home. As only one was married at that time, and as there were two others coming on, one of whom is now about 39 years old, I decided that building a home of that price might not be of any service in helping on the weddings."

Later, after she had left me, I asked her to live with me again and she told me that she would not live with me until her two daughters were married. I thought over the matter and decided that I might die of old age in the meanwhile, and so instituted suit for divorce."

"I offered to give my wife all I made, about $200 a month, but she refused. On other occasions, when there was a quarrel between myself and her children she would tell me I should control them better. She is deaf and could not hear the insulting things the children were saying about me, so I remonstrated with her, and she told me that if I did not like the state of affairs I could pack up my things and get out."

"When our legal troubles started I tried to speak to her one day when she was in an attorney's office, but she turned her back to me and put up her umbrella."

Mrs. Hickey had a different story to tell. She stated that Hickey did not have a cent when he married him and that she had gotten him his positions since the marriage. She denied that she wanted a fine house to live in, but stated that Hickey would not furnish any kind of a home for her.

Mrs. Hickey told the court that her husband was peevish and, because one of her daughters had found his suspenders on the parlor table and had thrown them out of the place, Hickey became enraged and threw some playing figures about the room.

When asked whether she would live with Hickey as a wife if the divorce was denied Mrs. Hickey hesitated and finally said that she must have time to consider such a proposition. Hickey, on the other hand, quickly spoke up and said he was willing to immediately go back to live with his wife.

SAYS HE BRIBED UNION OFFICIALS

SETTLED STRIKES WITH COIN

Testimony Before Grand Jury, He Says
He Has Disbursed $100,000
Among Various Labor Leaders

Special to The Herald.
CHICAGO, June 14.—John Driscoll, now self-titled as a "labor commissioner," but who has been the employers' man Friday in the settlement, according to his own statements, of more than 400 strikes in the last two years covering almost every branch of industry in Chicago, went before the grand jury today and told the story of the foundation of certain employers' associations and the relations of these organizations with labor leaders while he had maintained his position as premier intermediary in local troubles. According to previous statements the "labor commissioner" has paid out upward of $100,000 in buying off the union officials.

Though Driscoll occupied the witness stand three hours he only reached the substructure of the really startling story that he is expected to tell tomorrow. His story of the way these organizations had been formed and for what purpose was sufficiently interesting, however, to cause the grand jurors to be considerably surprised.

When Driscoll made his statements concerning the bribery of union officials yesterday it was confidently expected that he would be able to furnish sufficient evidence to enmesh many of the millionaire employers in the net of the law. It was stated by State's Attorney Healy tonight, however, that under the statutes of Illinois none but public officials can be guilty of accepting bribes. Consequently under this law it is legitimate for a business man to pay for the settlement of a strike, and equally legitimate for a strike leader, not a public officer, to accept the money.

However, an effort will now be made to carry the investigation to the end in the hope that some guilty persons may be enmeshed in a direct charge of conspiracy. In the latter event indictments will be voted.

CHILD VICTIM CANNOT RECOVER

INJURED IN STREET CAR ACCIDENT

MOTHER GREATLY IMPROVED

Investigation Will Probably Be Conducted to Determine Where Blame Should Attach for the Mishap

Information is given out at the California hospital to the effect that Everett Pitzer, the 4-year-old boy who was, with his mother, injured in a street car accident at Rose Hill station Tuesday afternoon, is in a critical condition and the surgeons hold out practically no hope of his recovery.

His body is bruised and the bones in his hips crushed, besides other bones in his body being broken, and the surgeons are of the opinion that he is so severely injured internally that he cannot survive longer than a few hours, although the child is heroically withstanding treatment and operations performed in the efforts at saving his life.

Mrs. Pitzer was not so severely injured and is rapidly improving. The surgeons say that should no complications arise she will be fully recovered within a short time.

It is said that witnesses of the accident have been found who state that the Monrovia car, which struck Mrs. Pitzer and little son as they were crossing the track from behind another car from which they had alighted a few seconds previously, was proceeding at a high rate of speed and gave no warning of its approach to the crossing, nor did it slacken speed in passing the car from which Mrs. Pitzer and son had alighted, and which was standing at the crossing as the Monrovia car approached.

An investigation will probably be made to determine who is to be charged with the blame for the accident, and it is not improbable that official action will be invoked to secure information to determine whether the company or its employees were at fault.

TO COMMITTEE

WILL MAKE BRIEF RESPONSE

Aristocratic Sweden Said to Look Down on Democratic Norway and to Consider Rights of Throne Paramount

By Associated Press.

CHRISTIANIA, June 14.—King Oscar's long letter to the president of the Norwegian storthing, M. Berner, deflating his position, as cabled to the Associated Press yesterday evening, was received in the storthing, which was crowded at its opening this morning after the Whitsuntide recess. The document was referred unanimously to a special committee without comment, and the storthing adjourned to await the committee's report. There was no demonstration whatever. The Associated Press understands that a short reply will be sent, reaffirming the constitutional rights of the storthing.

The government of Norway and the members of the storthing welcomed the message, seeing in the last paragraph an indication that the king and the riksdag will probably confirm the dissolution of the union after a reaffirmation of the contention that the union could not be dissolved without the consent of Sweden and King Oscar.

A member of the storthing, commenting on the bitter feeling in Sweden, said to the correspondent of the Associated Press: "Aristocratic Sweden is always inclined to look down on democratic Norway. The Swedes resent what they consider our audacity in initiating a solution and dethroning the king. The latter has always been influenced by the atmosphere of the nobility of Sweden and seldom visited Norway. The Swedish upper chamber, too, is inclined to consider the rights of the throne paramount to those of the constitution, which, however, is not the case in Norway."

Workers Opposed to Coercion

By Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, June 14.—The attitude of the laboring classes is likely to prove a potent factor in overcoming any possible disposition on the part of the riksdag to suggest the adoption of coercive measures toward Norway and in influencing the chamber in favor of accepting the dissolution of Norway and Sweden.

Swedish labor unions are daily telegraphing to Norway unions saying they will refuse to take up arms, and the social democratic party has issued a proclamation to the laboring classes, reading:

"It becomes more apparent daily that the upper classes and reactionary newspapers are attempting to cultivate a sentiment hostile to Norway, with a view to calling the people to arms against her in her struggle for liberty."

The proclamation says it is the firm decision of the working men not to respond to a call to arms, and asserts that they intend to go out on strike over the whole country if the riksdag comes to such a decision.

In conclusion the proclamation calls upon the laboring classes throughout Sweden to manifest their opinion of the situation at public meetings.

DISCUSSING THE PLACE

The Hague, Geneva and Washington
the Points Most Favored

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Gradually the negotiations for peace in the far east are nearing a focus. The one point to which the energies of those directly concerned in them now are being directed is the choice of a place for the holding of the conference of the plenipotentiaries of the belligerents.

The selection seems to have narrowed down to The Hague, Geneva and Washington. As the situation now is, the last named appears to be the city most likely to be selected.

An announcement of the selection of the place of holding the conference is expected within a few days.

After the selection of the place of meeting of the plenipotentiaries the two governments will name those who are to represent them respectively at the conference. Then an armistice between the contending armies in the field will be arranged, and, pending the result of the peace conference, the great armies facing each other in Manchuria will lie on their arms awaiting
