at Albany

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—A remarkable demonstration against race track gambling, that at times assumed the form of a personal tribute to Governor Hughes, was made in Brooklyn today.

The demonstration began in the streets leading to the Bedford branch of the Y. M. C. A., where the governor was announced to address an anti-race track gambling meeting and attended the speaker from his carriage to the platform of the spacious hall.

The mass meeting was a non-sectarian affair for men, called, the chairman, Rev. John F. Carson of the Central Presbyterian church, explained, with the object of "impressing upon our representatives in the legislature the necessity of their changing their views regarding race track gambling, and," he added, "if they do not change their views we will see to it that we change the men."

An hour before the time set for the meeting the hall was crowded to the doors, while a thousand or more persons were in the street outside.

Hughes is Cheered

Governor Hughes' arrival was the signal for prolonged cheering and cries for a speech to those who could not get into the hall. For several minutes the demonstration continued. Mounting the steps of a convenient doorway, the governor spoke briefly, setting forth the unconstitutionality of the present racing situation, and warning his auditors that upon them, as citizens, devolved the responsibility to see the constitution was kept inviolate.

Within the hall there was a second outburst, the audience first cheering and then rising and singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" as the governor smiled and repeatedly bowed his acknowledgments.

After the chairman had explained the objects of the meeting Governor Hughes spoke. He referred to the charge that his official conduct regarding the situation had taken the form of "legislative usurpation."

"Well," he said, "I never will support a measure that I cannot openly and directly discuss with the people." Many of his remarks were delivered in a semi-humorous spirit, and he kept his auditors in good humor throughout. At times he stirred them to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

The audience adopted resolutions denouncing the Percy-Gray act, which makes race track gambling possible, and demanded the passage of the bills against gambling which were recently defeated by a tie vote in the state senate.

PRINCE OF WALES TO VISIT CANADA IN JULY

By Associated Press.

LONDON, April 19.—Arrangements have been completed for the visit which the prince of Wales is to pay to Quebec in July to attend the centenary celebration and inauguration of the monument on the plains of Abraham to Wolfe and Montcalm, and the men who fought under them for possession of what is now the dominion of Canada.

This will be the prince's second visit to Canada, he having crossed it nearly ten years ago when on his world tour, going from ocean to ocean and visiting all the chief towns en route. He also spent some time enjoying the fishing and hunting of the northwest.

This time, however, he will go no farther than Quebec, and his stay will not extend over a fortnight.

The Atlantic will be crossed on a fast cruiser, probably the Minotaur, accompanied by another fast cruiser as an escort, the two leaving Portsmouth on an early 16 and reaching Quebec on the 23d.

TOKIO, April 19.—At a meeting of bankers at Osaka, which was closed April 18, and at which the chief trade centers were represented, resolutions were adopted asking the government to observe greater economy in the consideration of financial measures. Matsukata Matsuo, governor of the Bank of Japan, who was present, said he believed that this unprecedented semi-political action of the bankers would help to relieve the depression and inspire confidence in foreign investors.

ADMIRAL THOMAS

CATHEDRALMANY SAILORS PRESENT DURING MORNINGEloquent Easter Sermon is Preached
by Dr. J. J. Wilkins, Dean and Rector of the Church

St. Paul's pro-cathedral was visited by Rear Admiral Thomas yesterday morning. He was accompanied by Captain W. M. Cowles with squads of sailors from the flagship and sister ships. The rear admiral was in full uniform and with the men in blue marching down the main aisle formed an imposing sight. Patriotism and devotion were mingled yesterday in the service of the triumphant Easter day at the pro-cathedral.

At 10:30 o'clock the peals of the organ opened the service with the "Hallelujah, He Is Risen." The choir entered in procession, preceded by the cross bearer and followed by the dean and clergy. The usual Easter service, with full choral service, was rendered. Dr. J. J. Wilkins, dean and rector, preached an eloquent sermon on the great resurrection theme of the day. He said in part:

"This is not a day for preaching. It is a day for the administration of lilies and roses that, from generation to generation, the bloom of the resurrection may be remembered as the royal day that brought light and immortality to life. Therefore, let us keep this day with brightness and rejoicing, for the Lord arose from the dead for our redemption."

Communion closed the morning service. The admiral and friends partook of the sacrament at the altar. The invitation was extended to Admiral Thomas by Bishop Johnson and Dean Wilkins Saturday as the flagship anchored in San Pedro harbor.

The Sunday school children presented the dean with a handsome gold chain and cross at the services yesterday.

Virginia

Easter Sunday was marked with beautiful weather at Long Beach and a larger crowd than was in attendance at Saturday's festivities was marked this day, it being estimated at 55,000. The sailors ashore were full of buoyant enthusiasm and the citizens gave them the most cordial reception.

Saturday and Sunday being pay days in the division of the fleet commanded by Rear Admiral William H. Emory, the bluejackets enjoyed their shore leave all the more.

No church exercises were held on board the ships, the "church crews" being allowed to go on shore, most of them coming to Los Angeles. The women's committee of the Eboli club of Long Beach brought to the officers and men of Rear Admiral Emory's fleet the Easter greetings yesterday from the Long Beach chamber of commerce.

The Georgia (flagship), the New Jersey, the Rhode Island and the Virginia were all visited, these vessels comprising the second division of the fleet, which is stationed off Long Beach.

The battleship Virginia held open ship all day. The Georgia and the battleship New Jersey received visitors in the afternoon.

Committee Visits Fleet
Hence the committee had the first visit of the day on all the ships but the Virginia.

The Eboli club of Long Beach was represented by the following: Mrs. J. J. Penny, president of the club; Mrs. C. H. Windham, wife of Mayor Windham of Long Beach; Mrs. G. A. Miller, chairman of the Eboli club's fleet committee; Mrs. P. E. Hatch, Mrs. J. A. Miller and Mrs. W. J. Horne.

The following committee from the Long Beach chamber of commerce accompanied the representatives of the Eboli club on their visits to the four battleships of the second division: P. E. Hatch, president of the chamber; J. A. Miller, secretary; J. H. Mulholland, chairman of the chamber's fleet committee; Mayor C. H. Windham of Long Beach.

Nature by Representative Men.
Reception Parade Will Follow Tomorrow

Under the subdued light of iridescent electric lamps and amid the fragrance of a garden of fresh flowers the officers of the Atlantic fleet will sit at a banquet tonight at the Hotel Alexandria, where Los Angeles will give testimony of its respect for and loyalty to the navy.

The banquet is the most elaborate ever planned and in preparing for it the hotel management has not limited itself to the amount fixed by the committee. It has really exceeded the contract price by over $3000. This expense was in the matter of special wines, flower ornamentation and in the decorations for the hotel and its interior and the reception suites, and was necessary to complete the extraordinary scheme of entertainment.

In all 250 will attend the banquet. The personnel will include fifty-five officers, including Admirals Thomas, Emory, and Sperry, all the captains and distinguished officers of the line. The representatives of the press who have made the trip around the Horn with the fleet are another class. The city will be represented by 200 of its representative men.

Two thousand dollars is to be expended in the purchase of roses and other flowers and the big hall is to be artistically partitioned and draped with lattice work, interwoven with flowers and ferns and forming a huge dome above the center of the room with two chandeliers on each side in front of the speakers' table, which latter will be directly ahead of the main entrance. Festoons and ferns, interwoven with the choicest of California roses and great designs symbolical of the American navy, will be suspended from the ceiling on all sides of the dome and also will embellish the four corners of the hall.

Evans' Vacant Chair
The speakers' table is to be a most impressive sight with two crystal fountains sparkling in the light of chandeliers—one fountain at each end of the table, with lilies and goldfish to add to their attractiveness.

LABOR DEMANDS
NEW LEGISLATIONSUPREME COURT ANTIQUATED, SAYS GOMPERSCONGRESS IS URGED TO ENACT
BETTER LAWSImportant Mass Meeting Held in New York, at Which Plans Are Discussed for Amendments to Sherman Measure

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 19.—The most important, perhaps, of the several labor mass meetings held throughout the United States today was that addressed by President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor at the Grand Central Palace tonight.

In common with the meetings in other cities, the local gathering was for the purpose of publicly demanding remedial legislation in the interests of organized labor.

President Gompers, in his address, declared that the judges of the supreme court of the United States had shown themselves by training, environment and tendency behind the times and urged the necessity of an immediate demand upon congress to enact legislation at this session amending the Sherman anti-trust law which the supreme court declared forbids trades unions the right to boycott and to strike.

Resolutions were adopted that it was the conviction of the meeting that it lies within the duty of congress to so amend the Sherman law to remove any possibility of such future construction and to enact a bill to define the injunction and restrain its abuses.

The resolutions further called upon congress to enact a general employers' liability bill, an eight-hour bill for government employees; to hold each member of congress responsible for his record on labor measures during the pending session.

"There is no greater position to be found in the world than a loyal, upright, staunch and sturdy citizen."

THOUSANDS

EAGER VISITORSNIGHT ILLUMINATION REPEATED
AT EACHFleet Divides at an Early Hour and Takes Positions for the Remainder of Its Stay
Here

WITH an ideal day and the liberty that Sunday affords pleasure seekers, 200,000 or more persons went to see the battleships yesterday. The transportation companies again found their capacity tested to the limit, but the day passed without serious accident as a result of the crush at the stations and on the cars.

It was a day when the sailors were kept busy escorting the crowds about the ships and explaining the great guns that were the chief feature of exhibition and the thousand and one things that were inquired about by the visitors. "From the first hour the ships' decks were open to visitors they were crowded and many "made the line" by visiting all four ships.

The fleet, which remained at anchor in San Pedro harbor all night, steamed punctually in divisions from the harbor at 6 o'clock in the morning and sought the other anchorages at Long Beach, Redondo and Santa Monica. By 8 o'clock every ship was at anchor and by 10 o'clock the decks were swept clean and the guns and equipment furnished for the inspection of the public. The visitors, who made as much demand on the launches as they did on the traction cars, were on hand early, and the ships lacked no evidence of the keen interest that the Pacific coast is taking in its welcome.

Only the first division, under Admiral Thomas, remained at San Pedro, and during the day the Connecticut was the destination of all the launches that carried visitors to the fleet. The demand was so great on the flagship of the fleet that several times the officer of the deck had to detain boatloads until the crowd on board was reduced. The water transportation was equally as fortunate as the land, there being no serious accidents reported.

Night Illumination
At night each of the ports was treated to the illumination of the ships and the searchlight play, which was a duplication in reduced size of the brilliant spectacle presented by the entire fleet at its anchorage Saturday night.

But while the landmen were overrunning the ships of the fleet the sailors were paying a visit to the City of Angels. The liberty allowed for attending the church services in the city brought over 2000 sailors ashore, and after the services ended in the morning and before they began in the evening the streets were filled with the men in blouses and pie hats and wide-bottom, tight-fitting trousers. They spent the afternoon at places of amusement, shooting galleries or in taking trolley rides, which were free to all in uniform. The presence of the men, marked by the most decorous conduct, the presence of hundreds at the different churches was a marked compliment to the moral character of the fleet.

Today Los Angeles will begin her welcome to the fleet in earnest. The bluejackets have shore leave at 7 o'clock in order that they may reach Chutes park by 9:30 to be in their seats when a rapid-fire program of amusement for them begins there. None will miss this entertainment, because it includes athletic contests each sailor bout for the four championships of the fleet. And besides Jim Jeffries, the idol of the sailors, will be the referee of all events.

Banquet in Evening
In the evening the officers will be banqueted at the Alexandria, being brought to the city on special cars from the beach towns. The banquet will represent all that is highest in this form of entertainment, to be served in a bower of fresh flowers, and the speakers will be the representative men of the city. The pathetic absence of Admiral Evans, whose illness at Paso Robles prevents him from coming, will be disclosed by his vacant flower-bedecked seat.

Tomorrow the official reception parade will be held, starting in automobiles from the Alexandria hotel at 10 o'clock and traversing a large portion of the business and residence sections. It will be followed by a reception to the officers at the beautiful home of the evening by a reception at the California club.
