ANNOUNCES WILLINGNESS TO TACKLE SOME HEAVYWEIGHT FIRST AS OUTCOME

Kick for Six or Two Rounds—Flynn and His Blackbird Opponent Cut Out Training

BARRY DAVIDSON

JAMES LANGFORD'S willingness to tackle some heavyweights first in his quest to fend off the recent criticism emanating from boxing circles has been announced. The heavyweight contender intends to begin his training in Pennsylvania and will train at Venice. Angelo Macri, his manager, has arrived in Frisco to see that the upcoming matches are well publicized. Langford is confident that he can beat the Boston terror in a long battle, and he plans to keep his distance away from the Aftn.
