

DODGE BROTHERS SEDAN

It is a pleasant sight to see in almost every city or town, the hosts of mothers, with their children, enjoying the Sedan.

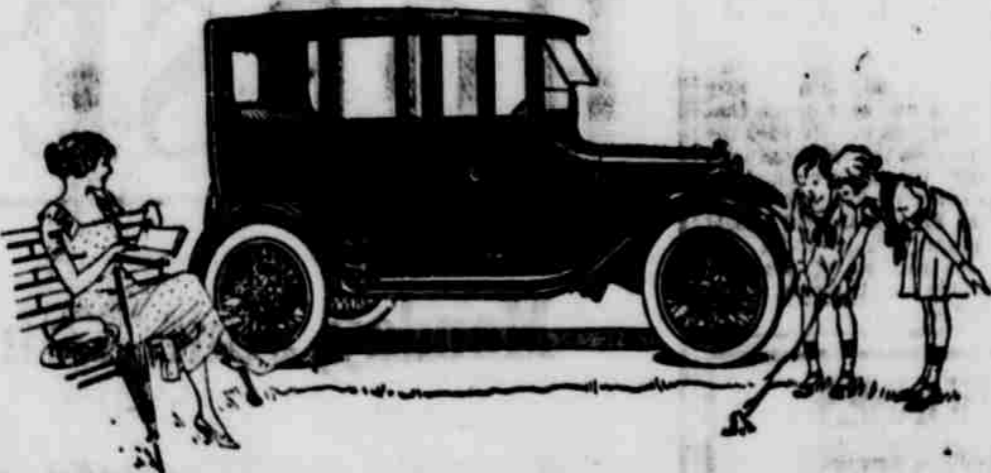

It holds the family group together—in itself no small service to the nation.

PLAINS SHORT STORIES

Mrs. William Howren has been transferred from her home in VanBuren street to Saint Anthony's Sanitarium for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Moreland Caldwell are rejoicing over the arrival of a son at their home.

Frank R. Jamison, secretary-manager of the Panhandle-Plains Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by Hamilton Palmer, rate specialist for the same organization, visited in the Spearman country Friday and Saturday. It is anticipated that the gentlemen will return to the city today.

Harmon Benton is authority for the statement that the Boys' and Girls' club work in Potter and Oldham counties is greatly handicapped by reason of the remoteness of the club members from each other. The number of the participants in the various club enterprises is not sufficient to encourage and assure most gratifying results. The rural population is sparse in both of the counties, and this gives a correspondingly low rural school student body, from which the juvenile farm clubs are usually formed. Mr. Benton states that he has a number of individual members who are doing some excellent work, but that the groups have much that is to be desired before attaining to highest possibilities.

It is understood that every property owner to be affected by the white way extension has "signed up and put up," and it is expected that within a very short time the additional streets to be traversed by this improvement will be "all lit up." It is declared by the officials of the city that Amarillo has received much of worthy publicity on account of her white way system.

Information reached Amarillo that hundreds of harvest hands are needed all over the Plains country of Texas. Some of the communities have been active, it is reported, in bringing in men from other points, but still there are many demands to be supplied. Amarillo is a center for the congregating of these men, but so far there has been no surplus, and it is understood to be the purpose of these men, after the completion of

BALDWIN. Say! You don't know how good that name "BALDWIN" sounds to me. It means HONOR. It means QUALITY. It means "FOUR-SQUARE" in every sense of the word. So does the name ELLINGTON, HAMILTON, HOWARD, MANUALO. Anything with the name BALDWIN on it, no matter whether it is a Piano or a Locomotive, that name means "The World's Best." That BALDWIN family must have been a Wonderful family, for when you see the name BALDWIN on anything, it means the TOP NOTCH, for that name does not go on anything but the best. That's why the name BALDWIN is almost sacred to me. And remember, the price of a BALDWIN-MADE piano isn't but a little bit higher than you are asked for the common kind. It should be twice as high, but it isn't. And here is another thing that's worth while to remember: "They come and they go, but WRIGHT stays on forever."

Col. Charles Nymen who has been spending several days in Amarillo, left yesterday for points south along the Fort Worth & Denver.

F. D. Murphy, a seriously gassed overseas soldier, who arrived in Amarillo a week or so ago, accompanied by his brother, E. C. Murphy, from Oklahoma, will resume his journey to Ft. Baird hospital this forenoon. During the resting period spent in Amarillo the former service man was under the care of the local Red Cross chapter at the head of which is Mrs. John Ross. The young man appears to be somewhat improved by reason of his temporary stay in Amarillo, and leaves with increased hope as to the final outcome of the trouble from which he suffers. It is stated by those who have had opportunity to know the facts that the local Red Cross chapter is "carrying on," in great shape, looking after the former service men whose health is broken, and performing other work for the good of society.

Alfred Griggs left last week for the harvest fields in the Spearman country. A letter from him reveals the fact that work is to be had in plenty in the North Plains and that the days are of sufficient length to enable a man to earn his money while helping to give what may prove to be the greatest wheat crop of the Panhandle.

P. B. Fuqua, son of the late Port B. Fuqua of Amarillo, has received notification of appointment to West Point and been summoned to appear there at the earliest possible date. It is understood that the young man will leave Monday to assume his duties and studies at the great West Point institution. The young man is a native of Amarillo and his admission to the national school is considered a stroke of good fortune to him.

J. C. Berry, well known architect states that he has at present contract for plans and specifications for thirteen school houses ranging in price from $15,000 to $25,000, averaging about $20,000. Asked about the tendencies of the present with reference to general building activities, Mr. Berry said: "There is a great deal of talk about building, but comparatively little actual construction. The present state of the bond market is against a widespread line of activities covering buildings to be erected through popular issues. There is an upward tendency in the election of business structures. It is my judgment that when the general business of the country assumes a new status that building will find itself in line with other phases of activities. Twelve of the thirteen school buildings for which I am furnishing the architectural work are in New Mexico and only one in Texas. This seems like a very unequal distribution, but New Mexico is newer in the school house business than is Texas, and this accounts for the difference just at the present.

J. M. McQuary of Oklahoma City, who has been spending several days in Amarillo, on account of the heavy rains and the almost impassable road, has continued his tour of this portion of the state, leaving Saturday for Plainview and Lubbock and other South Plains centers.

John E. Hill, vice-president and general manager of the Panhandle Lumber company returned yesterday from Hereford, where he went in connection with business matters. Mr. Hill said: "It does one's heart good to see the wheat crop of Deaf Smith and Randall counties, visible from the highway. I was told by representatives in those counties that the average would be about twelve or fourteen bushels per acre. The people in both the counties are in high spirits over the cessation of the rains, and are getting into the harvest with the least possible delay. It will be interesting to all who are concerned in overland travel to know that the roads are again in excellent condition, for the most part. I feel that we are face to face with the change from the worst to the best business conditions."

Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner, accompanied by her son Grelley, was in Amarillo yesterday afternoon from Claude, Mrs. Warner is prominently identified with the club life of Claude, Armstrong county, the Panhandle and the state of Texas. She has contributed to many of the leading publications of the Southwest, and is a weekly contributor to The News. The visitor reports the club life of this portion of the state in excellent condition, and she states that the organizations are at this time just awakening to a realization of their possibilities for good and are formulating programs for service in the various jurisdictions occupied by them.

E. S. Davis of The A. Walker Brokerage company is authority for the statement that business during the past ten days has been greatly improved, over any previous showing during the past six months. This is evidenced in many ways including practically all the lines of produce and allied articles.

Lee Satterwhite was in Amarillo Saturday from Panhandle and reports harvesting in full swing. He declares that the people of Panhandle are just as enthusiastic over the oil field of Carson county as they have ever been and believes that when the times are propitious drilling will be resumed and a pro-

WALLIS AMERICA'S FOREMOST TRACTOR

Real Test of a Tractor is "How Many Acres Per Day"

Any one considering the purchase of a tractor should satisfy himself positively as to the working power of the machine offered him.

Many manufacturers rate their product as a "three plow" or "four plow" machine, as the case may be. This does not give the buyer an idea as to the amount of work the tractor will do.

The instances are numerous where a big, slow, heavy-weight tractor pulling 5 or 6 bottoms has done actually less in a day than the Wallis—the recognized standard light-weight, fast machine.

It is true that much depends upon local conditions, but it has already been proven that all conditions being equal the Wallis will do more work per day than any other tractor of equal rated power.

Then, too, we must not forget that a large part of the value of a tractor is the quality of work done.

In demonstrations of various kinds the Wallis has always come forward with excellent work. A subsoiler can be used, with the Wallis, to break up the hard plow pan and thus improve soil conditions.

The Wallis is commonly called a "ten acre per day" tractor. Under average conditions of soil it will plow in combination with suitable implements an acre per hour. Where soil conditions are difficult it will pull fewer bottoms but will pull them fast, so that at the end of the day the same amount of work is done.
