TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Accidents from heedless driving are reported every day. We have very narrow streets, very many carriages and the most imbecile drivers ever known in the civilized world. Let us have a municipal government which will make a few east iron rules prohibiting drays from smashing buggies; buggies from smashing cyclists; and the wheelers from knocking down pedestrians who are hardly safe on a sidewalk. By the way, the Superintendent of Public Works or whoever is in charge of our streets must have some wheels in his head. What is the idea of allowing the building of sidewalks at the same time on both sides of a narrow but important thoroughfare like King Street. And yet everything is blocked outside Kawaiahao Church as far as pedestrians are concerned for the present, but then of course the taxpayers provide buggies for the officials and taxpayers have no business not to own a carriage.

We hope that Mr. Dole's organ will continue publishing cartoons of Robert Wilcox. They elected him before and they will serve to strengthen his influence in Washington. Why not make fun of some of the good white Americans whose sympathies go out to the Filipinos who fight for their rights, to the Boers, who fight for their country and to the Hawaiians who, weak as they were, tried to preserve the independence of their country. Mr. Wilcox has been patted on the back recently by Mr. Dole's organ and told he was really a good fellow. Now he is again made the object of ridicule by Mr. Dole's organ and Billy Hayward is announced as the savior of Hawaii in Washington. Wilcox stated that Kalakaua dollars were not at par with gold in Hawaii and he certainly told the truth, as every merchant can testify to. Mr. Hayward might have had a different experience, but then his wad is always paid in gold. Give Mr. Wilcox a chance to show what he can do in the face of the low opposition from the Sewall clique and the cartoons and slurs from the whining, dying family compact. If he turns out O. K. as representing Hawaii let us take our hats off to him, if he does not THE INDEPENDENT, who did not back him in his election will be the first to bowl. But we, at least, never judge a man until we have heard or seen true evidence.

A few days ago we received a communication, in which we were told that at the Mardi Gras ball the other night, an employee of the Bishop Museum appeared in the role of an old chief and robed in one of the historical feather cloaks, which are deposited in the Museum, and which was readily recognized as that used by the half-brother of Kamehameha I. The man was of course entitled to appear in any role he wished to within the rules of the management of the ball, but we cannot understand how the directors or the managers of the Museum could permit the use of the historical cloak for such an occasion. The Hawaiians justly consider it an insult, especially as the use of a feather cloak was refused by the Trustee, at the funeral of the late lamented Princess Kaiulani. We have investigated the matter and people who know all about the treasures of the late Alii of Hawaii assert positively that the cloak mentioned, was used at the ball, and they are ready to personally say so to the directors of the Museum, if those gentlemen can risk an investigation. We understand that there are a few cloaks of the kind in existence, but the one used was immediately recognized by the Hawaiian ladies, familiar with these relics of Hawaiian "savagery," an expression we believe the custodian of the Museum used, when he "fired" out some highly respected Hawaiian ladies from the grounds of Paahi's gran institution. If that cloak was used, as our correspondent says, the man who did it committed an offence, which in the eyes of the law might be trifling because the cloak is of course returned, but which in the eyes of the Museum should mean the dismissal of their employees, and, in the eyes of Hawaiians, the expulsion from their homes of men who in such a manner would commit an act, which to all patriotic Hawaiians must stand near to sacrilege. We are ready to assist the trustees in the investigation which undoubtedly should be made, and we trust that it can be proven that our informant is in the wrong, and that at all events the outrage was not committed with the sanction of the trustees.

At the Mint

W. M. Cunningham, the well-known sportsman and financier has opened a "Mint" today which will undoubtedly be well patronized by all, who like the "golden" liquids of the finest grade, and the "silvery" voices of the "minters."

J. H. McDonough, who has a host of friends here has been appointed director of the Mint and the public unanimously endorsed his appointment and that of his assistants this morning.

The Mint is located on Nuuanu street opposite Chaplain Lane and is up-to-date in every respect. Bonny Lemon, Al. Hillary and Wally Davis have been selected as chief mixers of the precious "stuff" which the Mint will turn out without using machinery or water tanks. Reading rooms have been arranged for those who wish to wait for service, but they needn't wait too long between drinks. It is a fine place and that the attendance and "stuff" dispensed (excuse the word) will be first-class, goes without saying. A Mint is not a bank, however, according to the Dictionary.

The Last Parade.

What, we presume, will be the last parade of the National Guard of Hawaii, took place yesterday afternoon before Dr. Russell, Governor Dole and members of the Legislature. Hon. A. G. M. Robertson was present in search of bayonets with which to uphold "Hennery." Cooper, the intruder in the Legislature.

The soldiers were under command of Colonel Jones, and the company under the command of Captain Nahora Hipa made a very good showing.

Medals for those who had won in competitive target practice were presented by the Governor to Captain Wilcox, Lieut. Short, Lieut. Wirnd, Lieut. Nakuina, Sergeant Kekaulike, J. Kuliike, J. Cole, C. Kanoe, J. L. Kukahi, Jos. Morse, D. Nahoolawa, I. H. Sherwood, John Wallace, E. T. Wisant, Jos. Ferreira, W. D. Speckman, Paul Costa, E. E. Miller, Jas. Mahoney.

The Governor made a few remarks without a prompter or his "cabinet" being present and the show was pau.

A Mother's Responsibility

A great responsibility rests upon mothers at the time their daughters are budding into womanhood. If your daughter is pale, complains of weakness, is "tired out" upon slight exertion; if she is troubled with headache or backache, pain in the side; if her temper is fitful and her appetite poor, she is in a condition of extreme peril, a fit subject for that most dreaded of all diseases—consumption. If you notice any of these symptoms lose no time in procuring!

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

They will assist your daughter to develop properly and regularly; they will enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves, and all danger of consumption and premature death will be averted.

Mrs. John Tansey, of 130 Baker Street, Detroit, Mich., says: "We had a serious time with my daughter. She did not have any serious illness but seemed to gradually waste away. Our doctor called the disease by an odd name which as I afterward learned, meant lack of blood. "We finally found a medicine that helped her. After three months' treatment her health was so greatly improved you would not have recognized her. She gained in flesh rapidly and soon was in perfect health. The medicine used was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I have always kept these pills in the house since and have told many mothers about them. They have effected some wonderful cures."

—From the Evening News, Detroit, Mich.

All the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves are contained, in a condensed form, in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They are a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at drug stores, or six boxes for $2.00 and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.
