Where Are Hawaiian Oranges?

Those who have walked along the business streets recently have noted the large supply of oranges of unusual size and flavor that are being offered for sale at ridiculously low prices. Ten cents a dozen for oranges four and five inches in diameter and perfect in appearance and taste, would astound the visitor, yet it is passed over here without comment. Yet everybody does not know that the crop of this delicious fruit is unusually large this year. The season opens with the beginning of November and is most active during the winter months, yet it continues practically throughout the whole year. This season will produce between nineteen and twenty one thousand car-loads for Eastern shipment, besides the local consumption, which is considerable. The larger part of this crop will come from the southern counties, but the "northern citrus belt," of which Oroville, in Butte County, is the centre, will also be a large producer. These estimates are based upon the figures prepared by the Southern Pacific Company, which handles practically all of the Eastern shipment, and are based upon what has already been shipped and what is likely to be shipped during the remainder of the season. This exceeds the shipments of any previous year, and proves that California has every reason to be proud of its citrus production.—S. F. Argonaut.

Missed His Calling.

A young insurance man received an introduction to some good people a few days ago in a manner which he will not soon forget. The friend who did the honors was somewhat of a wag, but was one of those quiet, sober, polished men whom one meets occasionally. Upon this occasion he was grave and dignified as a church deacon and seemingly perfectly sincere. He said: "I would like to make you acquainted with Mr. B. I can recommend him to your good graces, having known both him and his family for years. His father is one of the best men I know, and their family is an old one. There is only one thing I might say. Mr. B. is an insurance man, and I have always insisted that any one who could tell as good a lie as he can ought either to be a piano tuner or a lightning rod agent."—Cleveland Leader.

Shriners Coming.

Over 200 people, representative of nearly every branch of the mercantile and manufacturing interests of the United States, will reach Honolulu in a body about March 12. The personnel of this party will be confined exclusively to the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine and their ladies, and will come here as the guests of Aloha Temple, which will be instituted during the visit of the Shriners in this City.

Mrs. Nation's Motive?

Watts—I broke a mirror yesterday. Isn't there a superstition of some kind connected with breaking a mirror?

Potts—Yes. It means seven years bad luck.

"It does? I'm glad to hear it. If I am in for seven years' bad luck I am sure of living that long anyhow."—Indianapolis Press.
