THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.

Doubt upon the question of electoral registration, as affecting foreign citizenship, having been set at rest, matters of government may now in the main, as they can be with confidence, left to the reform Cabinet, while everybody who has the good of the country at heart devotes time, energy and influence to the work of securing a Legislature in harmony with the principles upon which the recent revolution was based. This stage of the programme is one as critical as the situation during the period covered by the week preceding and that following the mass meeting. So far it may be said that the reform of the nation has only been inaugurated in the rough. Until the different estates of the realm in a free Legislature have ratified what has been done, besides committing themselves to a sound and progressive policy for the future, the country cannot be regarded as safe. Therefore, it is incumbent upon every right thinking member of the community to subordinate personal and especially selfish interests to the grand work of securing a Legislature that will be creditable to the nation in intelligence, capacity, and thoroughly representative character. To this end one of the first requisites is to secure a complete understanding amongst all friends of reform itself and for its own sake. Thus only can a solid front be preserved against the mischief makers of different nationalities who have early got to work, most of them with no other motive than one of resentment because they were not able to divert a great popular uprising to purposes of selfish profit and aggrandizement. Better is to be expected of reflective minds that have unreservedly devoted themselves to the cause of reform, than that they should now voluntarily stop to brood over this and that result coming short of the common desire and expectation. Yet there is danger that many good men, who may be troubled with misgivings on some score or other, may permit a spark of discontent to be fanned into flame by any wind of mischief craftily directed across their path. Let the watchword for every well-wisher of Hawaii now be "Hold fast that which is good," and then the cause of reform and national development will go marching proudly forward toward triumphant consummation.

Kohala Notes.

The members of the Kohala Glee Club gave a delightful luau to their numerous friends at Makapala hall last Monday evening. Some seventy-five invitations which were liberally responded to. After the feast the evening was devoted to singing and dancing. This club has lately been organized, and its members consist principally of natives and half-whites of this district. They gave several performances lately, which were highly enjoyed. It is the intention of the club shortly to give a series of entertainments. The Rev. Mr. Whalley was the recipient of a pleasant farewell social last night at Kaiohihi hall, tendered him by his numerous friends. Mr. Whalley has been failing in health, and contemplates a trip home to England to recuperate. He has been with us for some time and his departure will be regretted. We all wish him a pleasant voyage and a speedy return. Kohala is rather unfortunate in the prospective loss of many of our society people in the coming week. Those about to leave are Rev. Mr. Whalley and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Renton, Misses Emma and Alice Renton, Mrs. George Ewart and children, Miss Mon-tross, Miss Turner and Mrs. R. H. Atkins and daughter. MASCOT.

The Kapaa School.

The closing exercises of the Kapaa School, Kauai, were held last Friday. To say they were a success would hardly represent the way in which the pupils distinguished themselves. Visitors from different parts of the island were present, some travelling a distance of sixteen miles. They considered themselves well repaid for the journey. Some of the selections on the programme would be difficult for English speaking children to learn and when it is remembered that the only time the pupils heard English was during school hours, their excellent delivery spoke most highly of the abilities of the teachers and their close attention to duty. Some of the children who recited could not speak English at all, about eight months ago. During the exercises, from the delivery and general conduct of the scholars, it was evident that they understood what they were saying and doing. The musical portion of the programme denoted careful training and was ruled a treat. At the close of the programme, Mr. White, who believes that a "ful stomach giveth great joy," invited his many guests to take an active part in a luncheon prepared for them. This is the second exercise of this kind given by the Kapaa school during Mr. White's principalship. The first, which was held at the beginning of the Christmas vacation, was almost as attractive as the last and established for him and the school a well deserved reputation. The assistant teachers, Mrs. J. Sherman and Mr. Thos. Neal, deserve more than ordinary recognition, as it is upon them, Mr. White says, he relies for the material that makes his own class an easier success.
