LOCAL NEWS.

The grocers will be the most popular men in the city after the Australia arrives.

Mr. Frank Brown will be a candidate for the Legislature in the District of Koolau, Oahu.

After the meeting of the Honolulu Rifles battalion last night, a grand feast was had at the Armory.

A full supply of California fresh fruits will be here on the Australia for Quaker Dairy, corner Alakea and King streets.

A pile of bricks on the Fort street side walk, corner of Fort and Beretania streets, close by the wall of an old building, is one of the best arrangements in town for wrecking the skins of pedestrians who have occasion to pass that way at night.

The Pacific Hose Company held a special meeting last evening. Sixty-seven members were present in full uniform. A number of others (whose names the foreman would not consider unless they were in uniform) were excused to attend the military meeting.

Henceforth there will be cricket practice on Wednesday and Saturday at the Makiki recreation grounds. All interested in the game are requested to meet at the Hawaiian Hotel on Thursday evening next. Per order of T. Lishman, captain of the Honolulu team.

A subscription is being taken up by Mr. Robert More to procure a coping and headstone for the grave of the late George Fawcett, in Nuuanu cemetery. The deceased was well known in Honolulu. Persons disposed to contribute to the object named will please call on Mr. More, at his place of business, King street.

Waiakala Notes.

The people of this place are made to feel that they really are part of the world, through the former weekly visits of a schooner or two being improved upon by the frequent appearance of no less than three steamers—C. R. Bishop, Waimanalo, and Ivy Holmes.

Dr. Carter is living in his new house, it being well finished and furnished. His district is the second largest on the islands. He goes over to the Koolau side of the island every week.

Halstead's mill is still grinding. We are glad to have a visit from Mr. A. Wenner, the Fort-street jeweler, who is taking a respite from business cares.

SUPREME COURT.

July Term, before Judge Preston.

S. M. Kaaukai vs. James Wright. Ejectment. The following jury were empanelled: T. J. King, A. J. Cartwright, Jr., W. C. Peacock, H. Gunn, J. G. Spencer, W. E. H. Deverill, Maile, S. W. Kaikuaheine, C. B. Dwight, M. Kelias, S. Kaile and S. Kanoa. This case was tried at the January Term, when the jury disagreed after being out five hours and a half. Rev. S. C. Luhiau, the ninth witness called by defendant, is the most important one in the case. Mahi Pahale, claimed by the plaintiff as the original owner of the land in dispute, is claimed by defendant as not the owner, and to support which contention on the part of defendant, the tax books of the district of Kohala are produced as evidence in Court to show that Mahi did not own any real property, but paid taxes only on personal. W. C. Achi for plaintiff; W. A. Kinney for defendant.

AT CHAMBERS.

Yesterday Chief Justice Judd filed his decision in the Admiralty case of Sol. Ephraim vs. Bark "Forest Queen." This was a libel to recover of the owners of the American bark "Forest Queen" the sum of six hundred and thirty-two dollars, the value of forty-two hogs alleged to have died on a voyage from San Francisco to Honolulu, by reason of the carelessness and negligence of the persons in charge of the said vessel in "stowing them" and in "keeping them stowed during the voyage." The bill of lading, signed in San Francisco on Nov. 6, 1886, by the agents of the vessel shows that 399 hogs (alive) were shipped in good order and condition on the "Forest Queen." Winding master, by the San Francisco Packing and Provision Co. His Honor, after due consideration of the law and evidence bearing on the case, says he does not find that the loss of the hogs was occasioned by the negligence of those in charge of the vessel and therefore dismisses the libel. P. Neumann for libellant; F. M. Hatch for respondent.

ANOTHER NATIVE MASS MEETING.

Preparing for the Polls—Ventilating the Issues.

Yesterday posters were seen around town calling a mass meeting to be held at 1 p. m. at the Kaunakapili church, to consider the nomination of representatives and the general political issues of the day. At that hour a large gathering of natives had assembled. J. Kanui was chairman.

The first to address the meeting was a lawyer named Kane. After stating the reason why the call was made, he invited attention to the great necessity of the natives to nominate a good man one who could carry their cause through successfully. That was the only way to preserve their rights and get back that which they consider was taken away from them. They must elect the right men if they wished to have that which was objectionable or unjust changed. Referring to the Constitution he said, "You cannot make a big coat that would set well on America fit such a small object as Hawaii."

The chairman called for Mr. J. O. Carter, and there being no response, Mr. Wm. Halstead was asked to step forward and address the meeting, but he was not to be found.

The next who addressed the meeting was Mr. A. K. Kalaukoa, who spoke a great deal but said very little.

Following him came Mr. J. M. Poepe, whose appearance was loudly cheered. He opened with quoting a passage from Scott. During the preceding gentleman's address (Kalaukoa) he heard the remark that the new Constitution placed within the prerogative of the Legislature the right to oust the Ministry in case they did what was not proper. That same authority was also allowed by the old Constitution. Some years back, did not Walter Murray Gibson, as a member from Lahaina, have resolutions passed expressing want of confidence in the Wilder Ministry, and did not that Cabinet go?

Is that a change? He had been reading a book on Venice, where the form of Government was similar to this since the adoption of the new Constitution. The results have been that the rich have become all powerful, controlling the Government, and the poorer people were oppressed and almost ridden. So will it be in this country if there is not a change. How many natives are there receiving or earning six hundred dollars a year? (cries of alo! alo! Who does receive that amount? (Cries of, "the haoie!") all the Government officers should be elected. The next Legislature is not to make laws for the people, but to look after the new Constitution and keep it in good working order. He thinks the same as a man who said to him, "The new Constitution is like the sole of an old shoe that requires mending."

Mr. Henry Waterhouse was next called upon, being received with loud acclamations of approval. He thought it most proper for the natives to thus assemble and give public expression to their opinions on public matters. If they thought they have not been treated justly, they all had the ballot to resort to. He was pleased to see the natives meet showing that they would hereafter do their own thinking. What they should nominate is a man who would always consider the rights of Hawaiians and the good of the country above everything else.

The meeting dispersed at 3 p. m.
