

SUMMER CAMP AT DUNES PARK TO STUDY AREA

Course of Instruction Covers
Unique Features of North Indiana.

Mrs. Frank J. Sheehan of Gary, chairman of the Dunes park committee of the Indiana Federation of Clubs, has written to the State conservation department that the federation will establish a "Dunes summer camp" at Tremont, Porter County, on Lake Michigan, between June 15 and June 20. In connection with this camp a course of instruction on the unique features of the area will be given by men who have studied the formation, flora, fauna and history of the region for many years, she says.

Men and women prominent in the political, industrial, educational and professional life of Indiana, together with nationally known artists and historians, are serving on the executive committee for the summer camp, among whom are: Governor Warren E. McCray, W. A. Guthrie and Dean Stanley J. Coulter of the conservation commission, Richard Lieber, director of the conservation department; Dr. John Oliver, Frank M. Andrews, Dr. Frank B. Wynn, W. P. Gleason (head of Gary steel works), Richard Ebel, George Redpath, W. K. Greenbaum, H. A. Flynn, Senator C. O. Holmes, L. P. Forbes, Dr. Henry C. Cowles, Frank L. Morse, Philo Reed, Ingwald Moe, George A. Brennan, Frank V. Dudley, Mrs. W. J. Torrence, Mrs. Frank J. Sheehan, Mrs. O. C. E. Matthews, Ethel M. Durfee, Jennie M. Peterson and Mrs. G. T. Vall.

Invitations to attend this camp will be extended to members of the Indiana Federation of Clubs, Indiana Academy of Science, Indiana Nature Study Club, Indiana Audubon Society, Indiana Fish, Game and Forest League, State officials and school instructors. "We desire," says Mrs. Sheehan, "to entertain, especially, those persons living too far away to visit the dunes frequently, in order that they may see their beauty and study their suitability, as a place of recreation, for the citizens of Indiana."

"Visitors will have the pleasure of accepting the hospitality of the Prairie Club of Chicago, which maintains a beach house in the dunes. The club also will provide tents on the dunes overlooking Lake Michigan at a moderate rental fee."

George A. Brennan, historian, and Frank V. Dudley, artist of Chicago, will be at the camp, and visitors will be shown Mr. Dudley's dunes studio. How this land appeals to all classes was recently described by Mr. Dudley as follows: "I truly believe there are hundreds, if not thousands, who received their first real thrill in the mystery, poetry, and grandeur of the great 'out-of-doors,' God's landscape, in the dunes. They are compelling, irresistible. For the weary, they offer an ideal place to rest—for the energetic, an opportunity to try out the limit of physical endurance—for the dreamer, a fairyland—for the scientist, an almost unequalled spot for study—and for the artist, an atmosphere for unlimited endeavor."

John D., Mentally Alert, Tells World 'Don't Worry'

Over Four-Score Years, Rich Man Keeps in Touch With Affairs.

BY MILDRED MORRIS.

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., April 7.—At 83, John D. Rockefeller is still on the job. I just saw the master of the world's greatest business and talked with him.

In company with Dr. Frank P. Corrigan of Cleveland, Ohio, just returned from a tour of South America, made in behalf of the American College of Surgeons, I spent an evening with him and had a "rare close up" of John D. Rockefeller, human being. Although past four score years, he has lost none of his mental vigor.

Physically, he is fit—surrounded by every attention, he looks good for years to come. His hand clasp is strong, his voice clear—I heard it sing the doxology in robust tones. He is optimistic about the business outlook—this man of vast wealth and mighty power.

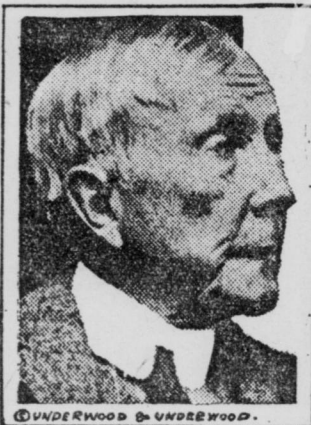

Reminded that dark clouds hover over the world; that events and conditions give little ground for cheer, he said: "Don't worry. The darkness is only temporary. The world is coming out of it all right."

The man of millions is thrifty of speech. He volunteered few opinions during the evening. Most of his comments, brought out by the conversation, shed light on his views. Once, when the business depression was mentioned, he said: "We only watch events."

An opinion expressed by Corrigan he supplemented with the remark: "Yes, that's true—we need a return to the rule of common sense."

It was suggested that the coal strike would not turn out to be a strike of importance. "You can't tell yet," said the man who has millions invested in coal mines.

Dr. Corrigan expressed the belief that the "Russian failure had been an object lesson to the rest of the world," referring to the Soviet government.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

The Daily Times herewith presents the first of a series of three stories about John D. Rockefeller, the man, as he is today, at the age of 83 years, still keeping a tight touch on the reins of his gigantic business.

"Yes, that is true," said the oil financier.

The aged multi-millionaire had come to Ormond, just across the road from his winter home, to call on Dr. Corrigan and incidentally to hear the closing Sunday night concert of the hotel orchestra. He was accompanied by the two devised women members of his household—Mrs. Evans, his niece, and Mrs. Worley, another relative—his grandson, John D. III, son of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and the young man's tutor.

The aged oil king gave his opinion on the younger people of today. Was the younger generation weaker in fiber than his? Was it jazziest itself to rule, as the sermonizers declare?

"It is in this younger generation to succeed just as much as it was in my generation and the generations beyond that," he answered. "The world today offers better opportunities to the young people than ever before."

"Work hard and look forward," is Rockefeller's advice to the young and ambitious to follow the road to success. "Always look forward," he said to me as he shook my hand in parting.—Copyright, International News Service.

health activities of the public schools will be illustrated. Superintendent of Schools E. U. Graft has appointed a committee to have charge of the school committee under chairmanship of Dr. William A. Ocker. The proposed motive for this display will be "the tree of health."

The parochial schools of Indianapolis will participate in the exposition program and will make a presentation of health work in the parochial schools on the basis of nutrition.

Combined with parochial school exhibits will be that of the Catholic society under the direction of Father Maurice O'Connor of the Catholic community center. This exhibit will include the Day Nursery, the temporary women general relief work, the home for working girls and St. Elizabeth's Hospital.
