

W. P. WALTON.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Judge of the Court of Appeals,

JUDGE W. S. PRYOR,

SIX PAGES.

A DELEGATION of Georgia Prohibitionists, with Samuel Small as chief, are en route for Indianapolis, where the third party hopes to-morrow to convince itself that it is alive.—(Louisville Times.) This reminds us of Sam's experience the last time he attended a convention in the same city. He was then with the Atlanta Constitution which sent him there as a reporter. Arriving at Junction City after frequent wrangles with his old enemy, the bottle, and having gotten considerably the worst of the encounter, not being as strong in the cause since his wife had notified all the bar-keepers in Atlanta not to sell him whiskey under pain of legal punishment, he was so bewildered that he did not know he had gotten on the wrong train till the conductor came around just before getting here. Small fumbled around in the maudlin way peculiar to an intoxicated man and finally produced his pass, when he was told that it was good only going the other way. He got off here and came at once to this office, but his condition was such that we advised a nap, which he took and in a few hours he was "better" and entirely well after an invigorating drive with us to Pink Cottage and other points. He is a very companionable fellow, and until his train came that night he talked incessantly and very entertainingly. "Things have changed since Betsy died" somewhat. Sam's got to be a preacher and likewise a political prohibitionist, but somehow that kind of fellows rarely amounts to much and their last end is frequently worst than the first.

THE editor of the New York Sun, Mr. Dana, who allows his likes and dislikes to warp his political judgment, says in an interview with a Cincinnati paper, that if the republicans put up Chauncey Depew for the presidency, he can beat any man the democrats can run with the exception of Gov. Hill. Since Dana's futile effort to beat Cleveland in 1884 and his silly "We believe that Grover Cleveland is beaten," published every day after the election until the official vote was given, no confidence whatever is placed in his integrity nor his judgment in political affairs, and most of the other important matters discussed in his paper have to be taken with a grain of salt. For all practical purposes the Sun might as well shine out fully for the republicans. It does the democratic party more harm than good by claiming to be a member of it. Fortunately its influence is so greatly on the wane, however, that it does not amount to much any way.

KENTUCKY will witness the hanging of a white man for murder to-day. It will be an unusual spectacle, the more so the pity, when so many of them deserve death for cruel murders. Gov. Buckner has declined to interfere in the case of James Buchanan, who is condemned to die for the murder of James Ross, whom he killed in a drunken fit, and he will swing at Campton, Wolfe county, to-day.

THE Mercer Sayings and Doings celebrated the opening of the Louisville Southern in an illustrated double number that would do credit to any office. The celebration was attended by thousands of people, who were regaled with oratory and victuals till they couldn't repose. It was a big day in the history of the county and right royally did the people commemorate it.

GEN. SHERIDAN is not going to die this time, as much as some of the people in the Valley of the Virginia, which he wantonly devastated during the war, would like to see him. Little Phil, the fighter, did his country some noble services, but making a desert of a fertile country was not one of them by a long shot.

BURGERS got into Blaine's residence at Augusta, Me., and stole some of his private and business correspondence. If there were any letters among them of the Mulligan variety the Plumed Knight will likely weep before the campaign is over because he did not burn them before sailing the ocean blue.

THE Insurance companies have gotten the best of their Kentucky patrons in the last five years pretty handsomely. According to the Insurance Herald they have only paid $5,878,235 in fire losses in the State in that time, while they have pocketed $9,378,502 in premiums.

Gov. BUCKNER is spending a few days on his farm in Hart, the first since his inauguration. If the old granger doesn't mind he will not only lose all of the hayseed out of his hair, but forget how to farm entirely.

THE Savings & Doings of Harrodsburg, T. M. Cardwell, editor, favored his friends here with invitations to dine with it at the big celebration Wednesday.

THE political prohibitionists assembled in national convention at Indianapolis Wednesday and organized by the election of Rev. H. C. Delano, of Connecticut, as temporary chairman. On taking the chair he was presented with a gavel made from the telegraph pole from which Gen. St. John was hung in effigy at Topeka, Kas., when the latter gentleman made some facetious remarks on the feelings of a man hung in that way. The leaders affect to believe that the "party" will poll a half million votes this year and in 1892 will sweep the country like a cyclone. They base their belief on the steady growth of the cause as shown by the vote since 1872, when only 5,600 votes were cast. Neal Dow, who headed the ticket in 1880, received 10,000 votes in 15 States, but in 1884 15 times that number were cast in 34 States for St. John. During the last two years there have been elections in 20 States where there was a prohibition ticket and the total vote cast was 287,000.

No nominations had been made up to adjournment Wednesday night. St. John was made permanent chairman and Sam Small secretary. The prospect was that Fisk, of New Jersey and Geo. W. Bain would be the ticket. The question of woman suffrage seems to be the disturbing element, the Northern delegates advocating it and the Southern opposing. All but three States are represented in the meeting.

THE equivocal nature of James G. Blaine made more people believe that he wanted the presidential nomination after his Florence letter declining to be a candidate, than before. He has once since reiterated his resolve with no better effect, until now he has finally put an end to doubt of his intention by writing to Whitelaw Reid that he will not accept the nomination if tendered him. He says: "Assuming that the Presidential nomination could, by any possible chance, be offered to me, I could not accept it without leaving in the minds of thousands of these men the impression that I had not been free from indirectness, and, therefore, I could not accept it at all." This ought to settle the question, but it is likely that it will not. There are too many red radicals, who swear by the man of the Mulligan letters to give him up for smaller fish.

THE Cincinnati Press Club will dedicate its permanent quarters in the Exposition building, June 9th, with a reception and banquet. Our thanks are returned for an invitation.

Knott and Representatives Canth and McCreary, called at the White House and invited the President, in case he visited Cincinnati on the 4th of July next, to extend his trip to Louisville. The President said that he would accept the invitation in case he was in that neighborhood.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Evangelist Munhall's revival at Columbus, Ohio, resulted in 1,000 additions to the churches.

—The South District Association will meet Thursday, before the third Sunday in June, at Greensburg.

—Bro. Barnes' ode to the army worm may do, but the less he says about the cut-worm in this section the better.

—I will preach next Saturday night at Moreland, Sunday at 11 at Hustonville and Sunday at 4 p. m. at McKinney, Jos. Ballou.

—Elder Vanhook Lee, an old and popular minister of the Christian church, died at Cynthiana this week aged 88.

—The Moody Tabernacle, Louisville, has been sold at auction to Junius Caldwell, Jr., for $1,000 and will be taken down at once.

—Rev. Dr. J. M. Trimble is the only member of the Methodist General Conference in New York, who attended the celebrated conference there in 1844.

—The item from the Baptist Recorder about a meeting to be held here by Revs. Elsom and Holtzclaw was an error. Their meeting will be at Shepardsville.

—The commencement exercises of the Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville occurred last night. Of the 12 graduates only one, E. G. Shouse, is from Kentucky.

—Rev. R. B. Mahony is holding a fine meeting at his Newport church, which has resulted in 10 additions to last report. The church is in a splendid condition and everything moves in the utmost harmony.

—To the Stanford JOURNAL Tie those wrangling preachers' tails together and throw 'em across a clothes line.—(Louisville Times.) Can't do it. One has skipped to California and the other is not prepared to do the Kilkenny act alone.

—Eld. Joseph Ballou is back from Nicholas county, where he held a "glorious meeting." The number of additions was 10, but he had thoroughly gleaned the field a year ago and it was a source of great joy to him to meet the converts of the former meeting strong and steadfast in the faith.

—The Southern wing of the Presbyterian church has solemnly declared as an unalterable tenet of its faith that God made Adam out of mud, and not out of a monkey. All good Southern Presbyterians must now quit monkeying with the evolution heresy and burn their books on geology.—(Louisville Times.)

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—J. N. Menefee bought of A. C. Dunn a Second Jewell colt for $125.

—George D. Wearan bought of Ad Catron a bay buggy mare for $175.

—James Martin sold to Green & Embury, Covington, a car-load of 215-pound hogs at 5 1/2 cents.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—Wakefield & Lee bought this week from a Garrard county party a five-year-old harness gelding for $145.

—Mrs. A. J. Potts, of Lexington, has been the guest of Mrs. Frank Gilcher several days this week. Mr. Montrose Graham, formerly of this and Rockcastle counties, now of Vernon, Texas, is in town.

—The admirers of Terra Cotta will be glad to learn that he won a $1,100 race at St. Louis Wednesday, beating Barone, Little Minch, Wary and one or two others. Time 2:10; distance a mile and a quarter.

—The soldiers' graves were decorated Wednesday by the G. A. R. Col. Logan McKee was to have delivered the address, but as he did not return from Harrodsburg in time, Gen. S. S. Fry was substituted for him.

—John Bugg, while plowing a few days ago on the battle field of Perryville, unearthed a camp kettle containing about $45 in foreign silver coin, all of it of date running as far back as 1792. The deposit is thought to have been made by a soldier afterwards killed in battle.

—Rev. Samuel McKee, having completed his theological studies at Princeton, N. J., is at home for a short rest. For the next year he expects to engage in missionary work in the mountain counties of Kentucky. Rev. M. M. Allen, of Princeton, Ky., a graduate of Centre College four years ago, and a classmate of Mr. McKee at Princeton, N. J., has accepted a call from a church at Bessimer, Michigan.

—Mr. W. B. Nichols, of the late Tribune, has a very old map of Kentucky, made when there were only three counties in the entire territory, Jefferson, Fayette and Lincoln. Considering the early date of its publication, it is well-executed. It was printed by the Helio-type Printing Company, of Boston, Ohio on the north side is put down as an Indian territory, with no mention of Cincinnati. Danville and Harrod are noted, the former as a town the latter as a fort or station. On the upper right hand corner is the following:

"THIS MAP OF KENTUCKY, Drawn from actual observation, is inscribed with the most respect to the Honorable Congress of the United States of America and to his Excellency George Washington late Commander in Chief of their army. By their humble servant, John Filson."

—Mr. D. T. Fackler, whose serious illness has been noted, died Wednesday night at 10 o'clock, of consumption of the bowels. Deceased was a native of Alabama, but has been a resident of Danville nearly all the time since his 10th year, making his home with his uncle, Col. J. T. Fackler. He attended the preparatory department of Centre College and afterwards the Danville Military Academy. After leaving the latter school he entered the University of Virginia and graduated in due time from the law department. He practiced his profession several years in Danville, but finding it ungenial he entered the newspaper business, connecting himself with the Danville Advocate. This connection existed at the time of his death. He was a careful and painstaking writer and thoroughly revised everything he wrote before handing it to the printer. Mr. Fackler had passed his 34th year. The funeral will take place Friday evening at 4 o'clock from the First Presbyterian church, of which he had long been a member.
