-A man calling himself Isaac Gastinau, just out of the Frankfort pen, is telling a wonderful yarn to the Louisville people. He says he has killed 3 men and been to the pen twice. Says he killed John Donehue at Lancasterwas sentenced two years and was pardoned by Gov. Knott, after serving a year. He says further that on Feb. 19th 1887, at a place in Lincoln county called Hold's mill, Clint Todd and Brent Evans, two noted moonshiners, attacked him He slew both of them with his little pis. tol, for which he got two years in the pen, which he has just served out, and now desires to settle down and reform. If we mistake not this is the man who killed a negro in a field at work, near porter. Holdam's mill, and got two years from Stanford. It also strikes us that he was at one time incarcerated in the Mt. Vernon jail on a charge of rape, where he showed his great fondness for gambling. After losing all his money, pocket book and other belongings in games with the inmates of the jail, he staked his clothburned in the stove, piece by piece, un til he stood barefooted and without a away, when he suggested staking a good paddling with a board against 25 cents. his daily floggings until court began, ceny when the judge ordered the jailer to buy the man a suit of clothes so as to make him more presentable before his honor.
