VOL. XXIX.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1901. 9 A M

NO. 65

MIDDLEBURG.

Nuts of all kinds are scarce this fall with the exception of a fair chinquapin crop.

The holiness meeting which has been going on for several days at Liberty, closed Sunday night.

Corn is much lighter than farmers at first thought. The yield is less than half. Sweet potatoes are good size but lacking in flavor.

As administrator of W. T. Durham, deceased, F. P. Combett will sell at public auction the personal property of the deceased, on Tuesday October 22.

Rev. J. B. Ferrell preached at the Baptist church Saturday and Sunday evening. Those candidates not baptized a week ago were immersed Sunday by Rev. Ferrell.

Jones & Wheat are involving the stock of goods of the new defunct firm of G. S. Durham & Co. Wesley & Wesley have been involving the past week, preparatory to laying in the winter stock.

M. W. Jones, the people's candidate for county judge, returned from the Casey Creek section Friday, where he has been putting in good looks in behalf of his candidacy. He received much encouragement in that section from both parties.

Rev. Logan Godbey has moved into the M. E. parsonage on Lynn street. Rev. Joshua Taylor moved into the residence on Race street that he lately bought of Dr. Wesley. Perry Wesley has moved into the Drye property on the same street. A few weeks ago we wrote to the effect that there were more empty houses in this town than for years. There are now only two empty houses in the burg.

Mrs. Robert Lasham showed us a half bushel of the nicest and largest pears that we have ever seen and only adds further proof to a statement that we have hitherto made in these columns that not a finer fruit country exists than "old Casey." Mrs. Lasham showed us one pear that measured 11 inches in circumference and 12 around from flower end to stem. Several more were not far behind.

Miss Lilly Miller, who has been living in Leavenworth, Kas., for the past 10 months, has returned to her first love, "Old Kentucky." Jason Coffey and Mrs. Belle Lawhorn, two Yosemite merchants, returned Thursday from Louisville and Cincinnati, where they went to lay in their winter goods. Mr. J. W. McWhorter, Sr., returned from Frankfort Friday where he visited relatives. Attorney General Breckinridge made "Uncle Jim" acquainted with Gov. Beckham, who questioned him concerning the outlook for Farris and Jones, which goes to show that we have a governor, who, besides attending to State affairs, takes pains and time to study and consider minor county affairs.

We regret very much that many republican friends of Mr. Jones, our nominee for judge, are taking Mr. Tarter's candidacy so much to heart. The democratic party is not interested pro or con in the Tarter-Taylor wrangle, as it is purely a contest among themselves—with a regular republican nominee against a republican bolter. But the friends of Mr. Jones in both parties should be prepared to hear almost anything—though no one has as yet attempted to assail his character, which is unimpeachable. Mr. Jones is making a clean, honorable and aggressive candidacy and is receiving assurance of support almost daily from unexpected quarters. He will poll the better element of all parties, which we trust is in the majority.

Everything points to a full vote in Casey, as the friends of Jones and Rales, Farris and Cochran, are determined. As for the other nominees for county offices with the exception of the county attorney's race, the republican nominees have no opposition. While Jones and Farris are the only candidates the democrats have out, yet they have made such a clean and honorable canvass as to command the respect of all. They have been all over the county and have succeeded in arousing the people to the importance and realization of the contests in their various phases. Casey is not so overwhelmingly republican when voted out clean. The trouble is the democrats, after a couple of more of disastrous defeats, have since remained away from the polls, to their shame, be it said. The time has been when old Casey was reliably democratic from 300 to 500. A number of would-be bosses and petty quarrels gave the party a stunning blow, from which it has never been able to recover. Many democrats left the party during the last Cleveland administration, others on the money question. The rads always have a barrel of the stuff that goes and they vote out a man, but they are fast killing themselves in this county. Their majority for McKinney in 1896 was the highest ever recorded, but has been steadily on the decline ever since. The democrats of Casey yet have hopes that we will be taken out of the 11th, which alone would be such an incentive as to infuse new life and blood into the leaders and rank and file as well.

A. H. Robinson, of Nashville, refused $10,000 for his two-year-old colt, Glad Bells, which trotted a mile at Cumberland Park, Nashville, a few days ago in 2:15 and is considered a coming world beater.

W. C. Terhune shipped a car load of yearling mules to Pennsylvania Saturday bought at an average of $60. This makes 1,200 mules that he has bought this fall at an average of $30 for colts and $55 for yearlings.

A dispatch says that the owner of the great trotter, Creceus, has accepted an offer from a New York theatrical company for a 40 weeks' engagement for that horse to appear on the stage. The owner is to receive $1,000 per week for his horse's services.

COURT DAY.—There were 310 cattle at Florence's pens yesterday, 185 of which sold at 2 to 4c. Common cows brought $15 to $18; 1,100-pound steers 3½c; heifers 2½c. Thirty-five sheep sold at $2.25. At Bruce's pens there were 200 cattle and about half changed hands at 2 to 3½c. A good many mule colts were bought at $25 to $50. There was a demand for mules of all ages. The horse market was quiet.

B. F. Kindig, of York, Pa., purchased of Horace Miller, 27 yearling mules for $2,900. For size, color and beauty they could not be surpassed. Howard Wilson bought 50 cattle, weight 950 pounds, at 3.60; Thomas Brock bought in Madison 50, 1,000-pound weight, at 4c. Adair & Ewalt, of Paris, sold to Senator J. W. CHURCH MATTERS.

Rev. W. M. Britt is now pastor of the Methodist church at Falmouth.

Only one in every 10 of the Christian churches gave to church extension last year.

Lorenzo Snow, fifth president of the Mormon church, died unexpectedly in Salt Lake City.

Northern Methodists will not ordain a man to preach if he is a tobacco user.

Southern Methodists are moving in this direction.

Elder Henry Mavity, the oldest preacher in the Christian church in Kentucky, is dead at Vanceburg. He was 92 and had baptized over 5,000 persons.

Rev. W. E. Arnold will begin a protracted meeting at McKendree church Monday night, 21st. He will be assisted by Rev. J. O. A. Vaught, of Danville.

Rev. E. G. Shouse has been asked to resign as pastor of a Baptist church at Kokomo, Ind., but he says he will stay with the church until the Lord tells him to go.

A protracted meeting of the Baptist church closed with 125 additions, besides numerous additions to other churches, making in all about 150 conversions.—Glasgow Times.

Paris is to have one of the finest Christian churches in the State. It will cost $45,000 and be of pressed brick and Bedford, Ind., limestone, with hardwood interior finish throughout. The foundations have just been completed. The building will probably be completed in the early fall.

A resolution will be presented to the Episcopal convention in San Francisco proposing the appointment of a standing commission upon the relations of capital and labor, one of the duties of which shall be to act as arbitrator between workmen and their employers, should such service be desired.

The pastor of the Flat Lick church, Rev. J. L. Owens, began a protracted meeting at that place, Sept. 28. The meeting is still in progress and much good has been accomplished. There have already been 35 professions and 22 additions. The interest is wide-spread and is yet unabated. Differences of long standing have been settled and the members are united in love. Rev. Owens is a faithful worker for the Lord and is never weary in well doing.

It is to be regretted that the authorities of the Methodist church have seen fit to call for the labors of Rev. W. S. Grinstead in another field. The fruits of his pastorate have appeared, perhaps more abundant at Carrithers' Chapel, Olive Branch and Rockbridge than at Taylorsville, but we can not believe that the good seed scattered in our midst will be lost. So, while the quarterly conference asked his return to us, yet the bishop and his cabinet seem to have held him for better things. The Flemingsburg field has the reputation of being one of the best charges within the gift of the conference, and we gladly congratulate both place and preacher in the new relation. It is to be hoped that the change of place and surroundings will largely contribute to the restoration of Mrs. Grinstead's health. As this good family leaves us our best wishes and prayers go with them.—Spencer Courier.

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS.

Henderson Grimett, of this place, was stricken with partial paralysis and completely lost the use of one arm and one side. After being treated by an eminent physician for quite a while without relief, my wife recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and after using two bottles of it he is almost entirely cured.—Geo. R. McDonald, Man, Logan County, W. Va.

Several other very remarkable cures of partial paralysis have been effected by the use of this liniment. It is most widely known, however, as a cure for rheumatism, sprains and bruises. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

A WORD TO TRAVELERS.

The excitement incident to traveling and change of food and water often brings on diarrhoea and for this reason no one should leave home without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

Director Gage, of the Iowa Crop Bureau, estimates the yield of corn in that State at 225,000,000 bushels, as compared with the 170,000,000 yield indicated by the September-government report. This is 35,000,000 bushels less than the average for the past 12 years.

In anaemia and most women's ailments the digestion is weak, the making of color, flesh and strength out of food is imperfect so that the patient is weak, wan, nervous and dyspeptic. This condition can be corrected by taking a course of HERBINE. Price 50c. For sale at Penny's Drug Store.

Sunday afternoon a horse belonging to Cecil Broadus ran away with a buggy. The horse stepped on Mr. Broadus' back and it is not yet known how serious the wound may be. The buggy was not damaged.

The protracted meeting at the Presbyterian church closed Sunday night with 16 additions. This has been one of the most interesting meetings ever held in Lancaster. On Sunday morning the ordinance of baptism was administered to eight children. The Rev. Joseph Hopper, who did the preaching, is a very old man and we may never have the pleasure of again hearing him here. He certainly knows how to deliver discourses that go to the heart of his hearers, and the people of the Presbyterian church should feel very thankful for the stirring up he has given them.
