AGRICULTURAL AND SCHOOL FAIR, BEREA

The County Agent wishes to thank Berea College for its splendid cooperation in the Agricultural and School Fair which was held at Berea, October 20, 21 and 22. The College Tabernacle and athletic field added much of the success to this fair. Exhibits and athletic field for the school activities.

Berea College deserves much credit for making it possible and assisting in Agriculture, Live Stock, and School projects pertaining to the County Agent's work in Madison and Rockcastle counties. It is thru the College that many things are made possible for our benefit.

The farmers' play was well attended. This play turned lights upon a new day for the farmer, bringing encouragement to the farmer who had been thinking in terms of poverty. The play closed the Agriculture program of the fair Saturday night at 10 o'clock.

Results of the Fair will appear next week.

SWIFT PRODUCE REVIEW

Receipts of cream during the week have been on a liberal scale. Consumption of butter is reported large and prices have shown a slight advance during the week.

Fresh eggs are in light supply, with prices ruling higher.

There has been a liberal movement of live poultry, and it has been necessary to transfer part of the surplus to storage. Prices generally are unchanged.

HOME PAPER WEEK IS ENDORSED BY COLLEGE

Support of the College of Agriculture in the movement to bring about greater appreciation of the home town paper by people in rural communities has been given in a statement just issued by Dean Thomas P. Cooper, in which he endorsed the idea of "Subscribe for your home town paper week" to be observed throughout the nation from November 7 to 12.

"As an aid to the advancement of the highest ideals in rural communities of Kentucky the home town paper deserves the support of all who believe in the highest possibilities of rural life," Dean Cooper said. With a distinctive field of its own the country weekly does not attempt to fill the place of the large city daily. The weekly or semi-weekly paper serves the local community in a way that no other paper could serve. Many times the local community involves a broad rural and always includes a large rural constituency. After studying the situation and realizing the great good done by the county press, a journalistic institution peculiar to the United States, no one can be indifferent to the continued successful service it has given rural affairs.

"Today the country press represents the most effective means available of giving information to farmers. The country weekly recognizes that farmers are by far its most important subscribers as they are the people whose patronage makes the town possible. For this reason home town papers are giving more and more agricultural information and other genuine service to farmers of the State. They are thus one of the invaluable links in the chain of social and economic strength which makes for true progress.

"While serving the farmers in a way in which no other organ could serve them country papers also have had an important part in all phases of community life. There is no community institution or activity which is not served in some measure by and in a degree dependent upon, the local newspaper when that paper is a going concern as it should be. Believing in the whole-hearted support of the home town paper, the college is glad to give every encouragement to home town paper week. The college appreciates the splendid cooperation papers are giving in the extension of agricultural news and information. Kentucky's papers are rendering a conspicuous service to the interests of farm and home and deserve the support of all those who believe in these two great factors of American civilization."

Don't feel hurt, brother, because the world doesn't value you at what you think you are worth. The Lord knows you.

Political Speeches

The following answers have been received to a list of questions addressed to the various candidates by the Bera League of Women Voters. The questions appeared in The Citizen dated October 20. All of the candidates to whom questions were sent responded except James Park, Republican candidate for Representative, who, it is stated, was away from home and did not receive the questions.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES

Mr. W. H. Burgess, candidate for Sheriff, says:

Yes, I will be willing for the citizens of Bera and surrounding neighborhood to recommend a man for their Deputy Sheriff. This is the way I propose to appoint my deputies all over the county.

Most assuredly I will cooperate with any and all Federal Officers in enforcing the Prohibition Laws. There is no one who stands for a more strict enforcement of the law than I do.

Judge W. K. Price, candidate for County Judge, says:

I do not only favor forfeiture of bonds when public roads are not built according to contract, but I am in favor of forfeiture of bonds when in open violation of law for any other misdemeanors. And I am not only in favor of a more rigorous enforcement of the Prohibition Law, but I am in favor of rigorous enforcement of all law, and I have endeavored during my term of office to carry into execution the enforcement of all law of whatever nature when brought before me. It is true that I must proceed in the performance of my duties according to Statutory Law.

I cannot issue warrants for individuals without first having an affidavit by some citizen that the law has been violated. I cannot issue warrants of arrest upon mere suspicion without laying myself liable to a civil suit for damages for false imprisonment. The enforcement of all law rests upon the citizenship of the community in which the law is violated. Unless the citizens are willing to become witnesses against those who violate the law, the Courts are powerless in its prosecution.

Hoping this answer will be satisfactory, and if at any time you want me to address your club on any question pertaining to the public welfare of Madison county, I will be glad to do so.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES

Mr. Elmer Deatherage, candidate for Sheriff, says:

I will state in answer to question No. 1 that I am willing for the citizens of Bera and surrounding neighborhood to have a voice in recommending a proper and suitable man for Deputy Sheriff.

In answer to question No. 2 I will state that I am not only willing, but that it will be my determined purpose, which I solemnly promise to carry out in so far as I am able, to cooperate with any and all Federal Officers in enforcing the Prohibition Law.

Mr. D. W. Kennedy, candidate for Representative, says:

(1). I am for Primary Elections because I believe they give a majority of people the right to select the candidates for both parties.

(2). From present information that I have on the two proposed amendments to the Kentucky State Constitution, I am against both.

(3). I am in favor of a State Department of Public Welfare, provided it is not run into a Department just for the purpose of furnishing a lot of political jobs and increasing taxes.

John D. Goodloe, candidate for County Judge, says:

I take great pleasure in making an affirmative answer to the three questions propounded to me by your League. I feel that these questions were put to me only as a matter of form, as my position on good roads and prohibition are so well known to the people of Madison county that I will only be stating a fact that is already known to you all.

I have always been for good roads, and in every job of building and reconstruction in my neighborhood have given freely of both my time and money. In the building of roads under bonded contract, not only the bonds but a sufficient part of the pay should be held to insure the fulfillment of the contract according to specifications till such road shall have been formally inspected and received. And should your Court do otherwise, his own bond would be liable to forfeiture. In patch and repair work care should and will be taken to see that we get 100 cents' worth of road for every dollar spent, and if elected Judge, I will use every influence I have, both personal and official, for the improvement of the roads of the county.

I realize the importance of a Public Welfare Bureau from what has already been done along that line by the churches, schools and individuals. Generally speaking, I favor local management of such questions wherever possible to obtain the best results, as against centralization. As to a State Department, I will have to inform myself more fully before making a positive statement.

I realize with you that the illicit whisky traffic has become the greatest menace to our civilization that has ever confronted the people of this great Commonwealth, and that heroic measures are necessary to free our people and institutions from this peril. It has already reached such proportions that nothing short of a united effort will avail.

Thanking you for this opportunity of presenting my views I am, for a clearer and better county.

GOOD THINGS.

When a most delightful cake is needed for some special occasion the following will be one to prepare:

Famous Lady Baltimore Cake
—Take one cupful of butter, one and one-half cupfuls of confectioners' sugar, one cupful of milk, one-half teaspoonful of rose extract, three cupfuls of pastry flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, one-half cupful of water, two cupfuls of chopped raisins, two cupfuls of chopped figs, one cupful of chopped pecan nuts, one-half teaspoonful of almond extract, two cupfuls of confectioners' sugar, the whites of nine eggs. Cream together the butter and sugar named at first; add the milk, rose extract and flour sifted with the salt and baking powder. Beat smooth and fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of six eggs. Bake in three round-layer tins lined with greased paper. Cover while baking with paper to prevent browning. For the filling boil the two cupfuls of sugar and water together until it spins a thread when it is poured very slowly over the stiffly-beaten whites of three eggs. Beat until of the consistency of cream, then add the chopped fruit and nuts with the almond extract. Put the filling between the layers and on top. Decorate the top with strips of fig and chopped nuts.

Orange Sweetbreads.—Let a pair of sweetbreads simmer gently, covered with boiling water, for twenty minutes, with a slice of lemon or one of onion and one-half teaspoonful of salt. When parboiled blanch by plunging into cold water. Remove the membranes and cut the sweetbreads in slices and cook in hot fat until lightly browned. Add to the pan the following sauce: One tablespoonful of butter blended with one of flour, this added to one cupful of well-seasoned stock, chicken or veal, and cook until smooth and thick. Season with scallion onion, a speck of red pepper, the juice and yellow rind of half an orange and one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Remove the sweetbreads to a hot serving dish and pour the sauce over them.
