ASSOCIATION OF THE FRANCHISES

The Anti-tobacco reformers today were given a lift in the fight for the prohibition of cigarettes, when the state board of examiners in the tobacco department declared in the report for the fiscal year that the city of Louisville is one of the least affected cities in the state. The report, the first in recent years, shows that the sale of cigarettes has increased in every other city in the state during the fiscal year 1910. The report also states that the sale of cigarettes in the city of Louisville has increased more than in any other city of similar size in the state. The report further states that the sale of cigarettes in the city of Louisville is one of the least affected cities in the state, and that the sale of cigarettes in the city of Louisville is one of the least affected cities in the state. The report further states that the sale of cigarettes in the city of Louisville is one of the least affected cities in the state, and that the sale of cigarettes in the city of Louisville is one of the least affected cities in the state.
