TELEGRAPHIC DISCOVERY.

A Vienna engineer named Pollak has made a discovery which seems to have solved the question of the rapid transmission of telegraphic messages. By a process only requiring the use of simple apparatus Herr Pollak is able to send the same telegraphic line to wire 60,000 words an hour. The details of this remarkable invention have been bought up by a stock company, which states that up to the present they have met with great success.

SALT-WATER BATHS.

Ladies Home Journal. For a hand bath (bath given to the body by use of the hands only, or by sponge or cloth) place a handful of salt in a basin as ordinarily filled for washing. Allow the salt to dissolve, or hasten the action by stirring it with the hand. The water should be as cold as you have vitality to withstand. Use no soap. Bathe the entire body. Do not neglect the face and neck in the free use of the salt water. This bath has an exhilarating influence, tones the entire system, and gives to the skin a healthful condition that amply repays for the time and trouble involved. If used in the winter it will be an excellent preventive of colds, besides being a substitute for face cosmetics. No chapping, no roughness of the skin and no clogging of the pores will trouble the person who systematically and regularly takes a bath of this sort. Ordinary table or rock salt will do, but will not do so well, either on the face or on the body. The sea salt contains medicinal properties and exercises or not, the body should receive a daily bath of cold or cool water, especially in the summer, either upon rising or before retiring.

PLANTS SEEN IN QUEER PLACES.

Flower pots exposed along the window ledges prove that spring is here. There is no better sign. All winter the flower pots have been lined up in the open air like invalids confined for long, but convalescing. They are curious things, flower pots, and evidence the force of nature born in us all and staying with us to our latest breath. They are seen, too, in the most curious places. These are a huge smoke-armed factory on the west side, ten stories high. The air about it is thick with coal dust and soot. Yet all summer its ledges bloom like gardens. One knows that many girls work in that factory. The flowers are watered from the taps that are carried full and dripping the long length of the halls in the luncheon hall. Men would not take the trouble, but the women who does not love buds and blooms is as rare as the woman who does not love babies. In either case her thinking machinery is slipping a cog wheel badly wrong to begin with. Flower pots and little seamstresses working high up above the city's roar go together as naturally as turkey and cranberry sauce.

ROBBED THE HAREM.

How a Young Englishman Abducted an Immense of the Seraglio.

The continental newspapers of Europe are full of the story of a young Englishman of wealth and title who has within the last three years succeeded in abducting one of the ladies of the sultan's seraglio at Constantinople. It seems, says a writer in the Washington Post, that he made her acquaintance during the recent festival of the Laila el Karat, when all men and women alike go to the mosques to pray. Each of the ladies of the sultan's harem who goes to the mosque is jealously guarded by a couple of eunuchs, and these in this particular case were won over by the Englishman's gold. He has carried her off on his yacht, and is now cruising somewhere in the Mediterranean. He seems to have been more fortunate than the late Duke of Wellington. The latter, along with one of the Berberes, was caught in the harem of one of the princesses of the imperial family on his yacht, and is now cruising somewhere in the Mediterranean. He seems to have been more fortunate than the late Duke of Wellington. THE RIVER NEWS.

Valuable Find Made in the British Museum.

A map that is destined to prove of practical benefit to Bible students and scholars generally was recently discovered hidden in the midst of a lot of dusty manuscripts found in the British Museum. The map shows a plan of Jerusalem made in the seventh century and contains as well the location of every important place in Palestine. The drawings were made by Marino Sanudo, the elder, a Venetian nobleman, who made five journeys to the holy land to perfect his design. His aim was to arouse the Christians of Europe to the importance of Palestine and to urge them to another crusade against the Moslem invaders who had captured Jerusalem in 636, under the command of Khalid Omar. The old map is carefully drawn to correspond to some scale of measurement, which the discoverers have not yet been able to determine. Palestine is divided into eighty-one equal spaces in length and twenty-three in width. Many of the identifications of the historic spots of sacred and profane history, the scenes of various battles and the tombs of the prophets and kings, for instance, are better placed in the Italian map than in more modern plans of the holy land. The map, of course, is some hundreds of years removed from the actual time of the Savior's life upon earth, but it is nearer the destruction of Jerusalem by some 1,200 years than the world of today. Even the latest books issued on Palestine have very vague knowledge of the actual sites of the holy places, so that the map of the old Italian is destined to furnish light for a subject that is seen at present only through a glass darkly.

The City of Sheffield from St. Louis is due tonight with a large crowd of excursionists making the round trip. She goes through to Riverport.

The City of Paducah will pass out of the Tennessee river tomorrow morning for St. Louis.

The "marine dentist," steamer E. A. Woodruff, has executed some fine work in cleaning the Ohio river of snags. When she finishes up with the Ohio's mouth at Cairo it will excel in point of skill and workmanship any professional job of dentistry ever executed, not even excluding Doctors Whitesides, Fisher, or any other dentist.

The H. W. Hottel, from Evansville, arrived and departed this morning with nice business both ways.

The old Cincinnati & Louisville Packet Line Co., say that the City of Pittsburgh will "cut no ice" with them. That they will send her where they have sent all other competitors for many years past. The City of Pittsburgh's career in this astounding low cut rate fight, will be short and sweet like a jack ass's gallop.

The Hustler is due tonight from Grand Rivers Landing on Cumberland river. She has a big produce trip and will depart on return trip at noon tomorrow. Capt. McMahon in command is quite popular in the trade.

The Dunbar was ordered to Cincinnati last night by Capt. Tom Ryan, of Nashville, her owner. She was to go under charter, to the Cincinnati & Louisville Packet Line, to run in that trade during the low water season, but the order was countermanded this morning for the present as the Ohio is now at Cincinnati with 10 feet of water.

HORNETS AS MURDERERS.

Canadian hornets will tackle almost anything that flies in their quest for food. In illustration an Ontario gardener tells of a singular observation he made recently in his garden. He found a nightingale nest in one of the hedges and watched it daily until four young birds were hatched out. A day later he was driven away from the nest by a swarm of hornets, which hovered about it, and finally settled upon it like a solid cover of black and gold. Presently the hornets arose and disappeared as suddenly as they had come. The gardener found the four little nightingales dead, their poor bodies being masses of ugly stings.
