IT WORKS.

The New I. C. Depot Plan Is So Far a Success.

The Illinois Central experiment with passenger trains seems to give satisfaction. The Sex yesterday noted the change that had been made in running the trains into the Union depot head first, instead of backing them.

The plan will be carried out only with the big ten-wheelers, which cannot get around the Ninth street "Y." The other trains will back in as heretofore.

Christmas Day at Noah's Ark Next Saturday Santa Claus will arrive at 2:15 and collect his mail in Santa Claus' mail box at Noah's Ark door. He will read his mail and will afterwards be seen in Noah's Ark window working in Wonderland on a Christmas tree.

Goodbye.

The remains will probably be taken there for interment.

RAILROAD RUMBLINGS.

Items of Interest Relative to the Railroads and Railroad People.

N. C. AND ST. L. MRRAGE. Brakeman John Hall was out this a. m. for the first time after a spell of pneumonia.

Fireman Frank Schraven is laying off with a swollen wrist. Bob Waynick is his substitute.

Mr. Fred Vent, a former clerk in the freight office here, is now the night owl at Lexington.

Switchman W. A. Perry in charge with Beck and Frank Mortland make a rattling switch gang.

Engineer A. S. Chite takes a lay off this trip and Sam Lowe will tackle the 52 in his place.

W. E. Franklin, the car repairer who has been off so long with a splinter in his hand is at work again.

Mr. W. Edmondson a former employe at Jackson is in the city. It may be that "Bob" will come back to this city to reside.

Charlie, "Old Dad" Ritter, who has been ill at his home in Paris, Tenn., is reported out again and will catch his run at Memphis next trip.

Brakeman John Hall, Night Hostler John Sauerberg and Yardmaster Jack Mortland are still off duty on account of sickness, though all are reported better.

Shipments of livestock are getting to be quite numerous over this line. Nearly every freight train arriving has from two to four car loads. It is mostly Chicago bound.

Engineer Ben Rodgers went out on his run again this a. m. having pleasantly located his wife and himself at the residence of E. E. Wence in Lexington.

The father of Mr. C. G. Gathings the agent at Lexington died at his home in Prairie, Miss., yesterday. Mr. Gathings left yesterday to attend the obsequies.

The office of the master mechanic is a model of neatness and convenience now, all the work of Space Castle since his return home and resumption of his duties.

The 122, with Duffey and Hicks as her pilots, left on train 108. She tanks away up in "G," and climbs the big hills with a long swing as easily as an envelope.

Inquiry failed to develop any song of interest relative to what was done at Nashville yesterday by the stockholders, other than what has appeared in the papers.

Joe Habacker is still on the 68, and says she is a regular "wind splitter." He turns her over to "Old Dad" when he gets back to Memphis and will jump the Johnson bar on the 507, his regular steed.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Coombs, of Bowling Green, arrived last night on a visit to their daughters, the wives of Brakemen Frank Hogwood and Will Lewis, and will stay until after the holidays.

"Aunt Maria," the wife of Bob Doherty a former employe has been quite sick for several weeks but is better today. Many of the railroad people will be glad when "Aunt Maria" recovers for they miss her nicely lauded gaiters.

Born to the wife of Brakeman Wm Lewis at 8 o'clock this morning, a fine boy baby. Mr. Lewis was out on his train, but the advent of the little stranger was wired him and he is looked for on the next train. Fortunately Mrs. Lewis' parents arrived last night.

The pay car will roll in at the usual hour this afternoon. Conductor Tucker and Engineer Rhea always take a great delight in not disappointing the boys, and bring the treasury car in on the dot. Mr. Glenn, the popular paymaster, is as clever as they, and steals out the Raincoast fast—a circus ticket seller can gather in the coins from the small boy and appreciative crowd.

Mr. W. E. King, and bride, nee Miss Sallie Ware, of Murray, came in on Conductor Fattor's train this morning. "Billie" looked as happy as a ragged bird set free. The Misses Clover, Myrtle and Madge, who went up yesterday to attend the nuptials, returned with them. After today Mr. and Mrs. King will be at home at the residence of Wm. Kane on South Fourth street.

FRANCIS MILLIGEN.

May Get Out of the Penitentiary Soon.

Attorney Oscar Kahn went up to Eddyville on business. Mr. Kahn is Francis Milligen's lawyer, and at this time of the court now in session at Eddyville will attempt to have Milligen liberated on the plea of insanity by a writ of habeas corpus.

Milligen was sent up for life for wife murder, and escaped hanging only on account of his mental condition. He is subject to epileptic fits, and all the prison officials know that he is insane. Mr. Kahn has for some time contemplated getting out a writ, and will now likely lose no time in doing it.

MARRIAGES.

A Couple From Lyon County Tied Up

Judge Thomas Adjourned Court The Smally-Ross Wedding.

Miss Lange Ladd and Mr. C. F. Johnson, of Lyon county, entered the county court room yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock and found court in session.

Love laughs at such trivial obstacles as these, however, and as the young people desired to be married, County Judge Thomas readily obliged them by adjourning his court until the knot could be tied.

The marriage of Mr. Wm. Smalley to Miss Jennie E. Ross took place at 8:30 o'clock last night at the residence of the bride's father.

IS A TRAMP PRINTER.

Charles La Blanche Has Concussion of the Brain.

Charles La Blanche is the name of the man mentioned in the Sex of yesterday as having been badly hurt at the Victoria Mills. La Blanche did not regain consciousness until last night, and then gave his name to City Physician Troutman. His home is in G. Iveston, Tex., and he is a tramp printer.

Failing to secure work when he came here several days ago, he went to Terrell Bros.' stable and was permitted to sleep there. Yesterday afternoon he was sent to the dogwood factory after a load of saw dust, accompanied by a darkey.

In some inexplicable manner the tramway, a car used for dumping saw dust that runs on a track, struck them both on the head. It did not injure the colored man, but

La Blanche is suffering from concussion of the brain.

Mrs. Birchett, keeper of the City Hospital, reports this morning that La Blanche is much better, and not badly hurt.

AN OBSTREPEROUS MULE.

Wanted to Lay Down, and Do Everything Else But Go.

Some people think that a mule and a darkey were not made to go together.

Rufus Brunston, a well known colored express driver, had a new mule down at the market this morning.

A gentleman came along, offered him 15 cents to carry a side of pork up Fourth street, and hoisted the meat into the wagon. But the mule wouldn't budge. Rufus attempted to lead him, and then tried bending him, but not one inch would he move. Finally all the express drivers, reinforced by half a dozen bystanders, got behind the wagon and pushed, but the mule overcame all opposition by lying down.

The man in disgust seized his meat and transferred it into another wagon.

Rufus saw an honest living slipping from his grasp, and casting as a reluctant glance at a policeman, he soliloquized:

"Dat nu'e am sho' got sense. Ef he'd try dis racket down on any old dem back streets, I'd beat him to dead. He sees dat p'liceman ober dar, an' kno's I aint got no right ter beat him."

Another man came along at this juncture and wanted a load hauled.

"Fo' God, boss, I kant do nuffin wid dis mule," replied the driver.
