DILLON, MONTANA, MAY 8, 1886.

Silver and lead show no tendency to a raise in price.

In New York boycotting has been made a felonious offense.

Little Greece is willing to fight Turkey, but can not fight combined Europe.

The Butte City election resulted in almost a Waterloo defeat of the Republicans.

Gov. Hauser will see that good order is maintained and the laws enforced in Montana.

The current telegraphic news of the day is confined almost exclusively to strikes, boycotts, and labor troubles.

The House Committee on Territories has agreed to favorably report a bill for a railroad through the National Park.

The eight-hour strike is making serious complications. It portends a dead-lock between labor and capital in this country.

The wool growers of Colorado, Wyoming, and Utah, have protested to Congress against placing that product on the free list.

The discussion of the Postal Savings Bank system is going on. Opinion is far from being unanimous in favor of the proposed plan.

The dairymen of our country are demanding National legislation against oleomargarine and its associate forms of imitation butter.

Three red blossoms on note paper is the Japanese symbol of happiness. One big red blossom on the acclimated Montanian's nose is the symbol.

The Socialists and Anarchists should be sent back to Germany for Bismarck to attend to. We have no use for such demons in this country.

Brooklyn grave-diggers are reported getting ready to strike. Wonder if they propose to teach the departed that spades or diamonds are trumps.

The police clubbed and dispersed the Chicago Socialists. The time is coming when soldiers will be called out to make these Socialists lay still.

Jay Gould owns $25,000,000 in the Western Union Telegraph Co., and the Knights of Labor are considering the advisability of boycotting that company.

It is claimed that Major Matty Maginnis' men can knock that 199 Toole margin out of time next November without going into training for an open fight.

Belgium is boiling because Bismarck has cast his iron eye on that country. The Belgians fear the same dissecting knife that was used on poor Poland.

In America it is to be regretted that the labor strikes and troubles were not avoided. If they had been averted the business of the country would have been in splendid condition.

It is a mistake that Rev. Sam Small is a "reformed newspaper man." Men in other professions may have to reform—a newspaper man, never. It is impossible to reform the truly good.

In Texas and Montana Judge Lynch holds court at night. The Clerks of the Courts have some trouble in writing up the records by moonlight, but the ropes work as accurately by moonlight as at high noon.

Rev. Mr. Washburne, a Boston clergyman, declares that the Christian religion is becoming a musical and literary entertainment for an hour two on Sundays, and that piety consists in paying the expenses. The reverend man might add that piety does not strain itself to foot the bills.

The re-nomination of Hon. Joe K. Toole for Delegate to Congress, it is said, will warm up the Maginnis Irish wing of Democrats to such an extent that they will bolt the nomination like Jim Cavanaugh's followers bolted Warren Toole's nomination years ago. Somehow or other Toole without the O' to it don't take well with the Irish.

OLD JEFF DAVIS.
The ovations given to that old arch-rebel, Jeff Davis, in two of the prominent cities of the Sunny South were demonstrations that never should have been at all. The leader of a great rebellion, which caused rivers of blood to flow, the loss of hundreds of thousands of lives, and the waste of billions of money, should be permitted to sink into an ignominious grave. To honor the man who was the arch spirit that caused so much sorrow and misery in our country was, to say the least, inopportune. Jeff Davis has a place in history with other Southern men—some of them exalted in character—who tried to dissolve the American Union and failed to do it. Jeff Davis is entitled to no honor or credit for his leadership of the South in the rebellion. He had about twelve million people at his back when he sallied upon the field of revolution. He tested their bravery to the uttermost of endurance and sacrifice and finding it unavailing, he miserably and ingloriously failed, and tried the petticoat dodge to effect his escape. There was nothing honorable, manly or soldier-like at the scene of his surrender. Jeff Davis' claim to an obscure place in history should rest on the fact that under similar circumstances—with millions of people obedient to his wish—so few leaders of revolutions have brought such a collapsed and bankrupt issue out of such grand opportunities. In honoring such a man the chivalry of the Sunny South go begging for a hero to worship. He is old. Time has dealt kindly with the old rebel. He has been, by a merciful Providence, prolonged in physical and intellectual vigor far beyond his contemporaries of equal age in the rebellious struggle. In his dotage he spends his declining days in attempting vindications of prophecies which miscarried, of battles lost, a cause overwhelmed—a cause that should nowadays go unmentioned and unmourned. To honor such a character the recent ovations were given. It is a shame to show honor to a man whose very name should be a reproach on the lips of every lover of our glorious, united Union. Better re-flesh the bones of the traitor, Benedict Arnold, and do them honor than to do honor to the old rebel, Jeff Davis.

NOT BRIGHT BUT FAR FROM BEING HOPELESS.

Hon. W. A. Clark, who recently returned from Washington, says that Montana's chances for admission into the Union are not bright but they are far from being hopeless. Mr. Clark further says: "Montana's progress in that direction is retarded by political complications evolved by the claims of her neighbors who are also knocking at the door for admission. There is Dakota, for instance. Dakota, as a whole, is Republican, and Dakota wants to come in as two States. The people of Southern Dakota refuse to co-operate with the people of the Northern portion of that Territory, and vice versa. Sometime ago the Southern element held a convention, framed and adopted a constitution and sent two Senators to Washington, but of course, they were not seated. It is the small-fry politicians of that Territory that are creating all the trouble. The people don't appear to care much whether Dakota becomes a State or not—at least, they don't exhibit much interest in the matter. But Washington and Montana's admission is influenced to a great extent by the Dakota imbroglio. A few weeks ago the bill for the admission of Washington passed the Senate—Washington is Republican—but Delegate Voorhees' amendment to that bill, including Montana in the admission, was rejected. But Montana's outlook for entrance is far from hopeless. I found a majority of the Congressmen thoroughly acquainted with our Territory's claims, which they seemed to regard favorably."

CANON FARRAR'S NEW BOOK.

A few weeks ago, when Canon Farrar was in this country, tens of thousands of people paid as much as one dollar each to hear a single lecture delivered by him, and were well pleased with what they got for their money. Several of the most important of those lectures and addresses with other papers are now published by John B. Alden, of New York, and can now be had in a very handsome cloth-bound volume, for the price of 40 cents. Some of the lectures are also published separately in his Elabor Library, in which form the lecture on Dante sells for 3 cents; on Temperance, 2 cents; on Ideals of Nations, 2 cents; Thoughts on America, 3 cents. The millions of intelligent people who admire Canon Farrar and who were not able to hear him lecture, will be delighted to find his brilliant, scholarly and eloquent thoughts placed in this handsome form within their reach. The publisher's illustrated catalogue, 132 pages, is sent to you on receipt of 4 cents; or condensed catalogue free. John B. Alden, Publisher, 393 Pearl St., New York.

In preaching a sermon on "The Funeral of the Devil," a blind preacher of Baltimore has proven that the devil is dead. Millions of sinners will be pleased to learn that his satanic majesty has died.

MOBS AND STRIKES.
The mob element is running rampant in some of our large cities. The mobs are composed largely of foreigners led on by Herr Most and men of his clique. Many of these leading agitators are importations from foreign lands who harangue their hearers in Dutch, Bohemian, French and crippled English. They lead the ignorant multitude of foreign followers and arouse them to commit violations of law and the wholesale destruction of private property. These men are not Americans in name—they are not Americans in principle or practice—they are destitute of every American sentiment. They defy our laws. They have no respect for the Christian religion or for any form of good government. A few years ago the Dennis Kearney mob of Irish sand-lotter terrorized San Francisco. Now the Dutch Socialists, Communists, and Anarchists, in mobs, are terrorizing the large cities of Chicago and Milwaukee. In a conflict with the Chicago police many were killed and wounded, and the bombs of the Anarchists, thrown among the police officers by those men, were very destructive of life. At Milwaukee the Governor of Wisconsin called out the military companies to suppress the Dutch mob. In the latter city a number were killed and wounded. Anarchism, with its foreign enissaries and apostles, has no business to flourish in America. With these men freedom means the right to rob and plunder. Such men, when engaged in the wholesale commission of murder and the destruction of property, should be shot down. This may be harsh doctrine, but it is the only way to suppress mobs and make these men respect law and orderly government.

The strikes are a terror to the country at present. In Montana, on the line of the Utah and Northern railroad, from Butte south, the effect is felt, and the damage to the industry of this section may yet be great. In the States strikes are too numerous to mention. These strikes are mostly under the direction of the Knights of Labor. In speaking of the situation the Salt Lake Tribune contends that "this is a time when the Knights of Labor should look to their counselors; a time when men should be careful to hold fast to their own individuality, and see that they are not led astray." They can, of course, stop every wheel of industry if they so decide, but what then? They can go a step further and destroy lives and property but what then? This world rests on labor alone. Labor can withdraw its powers and live on its surplus earnings for a season; but what then? It can go further and destroy all faith and clog all the forward march of this Republic; but what then? Laboring men strike, demanding a larger liberty, but at the same time they give up the means of making a daily living for themselves and their families, at the order of two or three men in a neighboring State. This is not freedom. The Knights should not trust to an executive committee, but should have a full Congress of their own, that there might be a committee for each section, and that when a strike should be determined upon, reasons might be given which would appeal at a glance to the sense of justice of the American people."

At the recent meeting of the Stock-growers' Association, held at Miles City, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That this association respectfully but earnestly urges upon the stock commissioners and upon the veterinarian of this Territory the immediate necessity of establishing the most efficient measures which they have the power to create at the railroad gateways of the Territory for the discovery and control of disease among cattle coming into Montana.
