"THE LIBERTINE," A STIRRING "SOCIAL LIFE" DRAMA AT RIALTO

"The Libertine," the six part stirring drama of "social life," which will be seen at the Rialto theater until Thursday night only, is one of those rare productions that penetrate the innermost part of one's soul and pull the heart strings of emotion. This production is not only dramatic—dramatic in the extreme—but teaches a moral lesson that will remain with us as long as memory lasts.

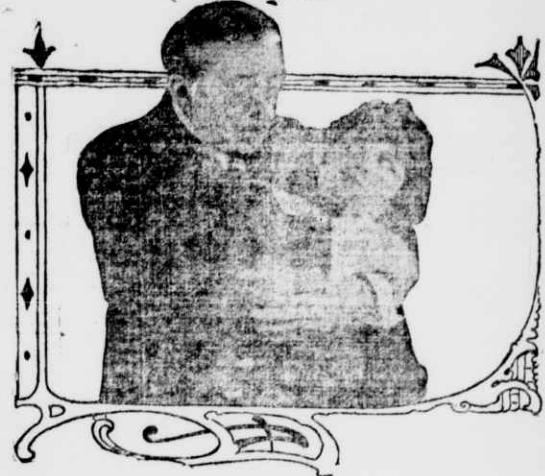

John Mason, the noted stage star, appears in the leading role. This famous actor takes the part of the "Libertine" and it is claimed no better acting has been seen.

From start to finish, the play moves in rapid fire action and the climax comes through a series of enthralling incidents. The story is of a girl who harks to the call of the nefarious "Libertine." Throwing down her parents' hearts, she starts on the downward path of destruction. His only intent was "to gain his end," as he had already done with many more weaklings before her. Being that the picture can tell the story better, no more will be said about it.

A Lonesome Luke comedy, entitled "Lonesome Luke Plumber" completes the bill, together with a Real Life, R. V. Johnston's Greater Rialto orchestra interprets music very appropriate and befitting the picture.

MAYOR WILL TALK TO AUTO DEALERS

Says Careful Instruction Should Be Given to Owners of New Cars.

A meeting of automobile dealers to discuss plans to eliminate reckless driving in Butte and vicinity will be called in a few days by Mayor W. H. Maloney, because of the many accidents which happened in or near the city last Sunday. An ordinance to regulate drivers may be the result of the meeting.

Complaint was made to the mayor this morning that dealers, after selling cars, turn the owners out with but a few lessons. Careless driving is the result. It is possible that in the near future every owner or every man who drives a car out of Butte must carry a chauffeur's license.

It was suggested to the mayor this morning that drivers of cars wear badges displayed outside and that all saloon men be forbidden to serve them drinks.

At least two of Sunday's accidents have been traced to drink. The drivers were intoxicated.

Another case was that of a man who, after one or two lessons, asked his friends out for a ride. His inability to handle the car caused a wreck and loss of life was prevented only by a miracle.

"I believe the automobile dealers will be glad to co-operate with the city in this matter," said the mayor. "Unfortunately there are no speed regulations for state roads. But, if the drivers are competent and receive proper instructions from the men who sell the cars, I believe that the trouble will be eliminated to a large extent."

SAW SHEA STRIKE GODFREY IN THE NECK WITH KNIFE

One day that Shea had a knife and witness said he saw the knife in the hand of Shea after the first trouble. The knife was open and witness looked up to Shea told him that he ought to put it away, which he did. Just before the second altercation the witness said that he heard Godfrey swearing at Shea on account of some conversation about the army. The witness said that he did not hear any of the words spoken.

During the second quarrel Sullivan said that he saw a knife in Shea's hand, but he did not see him take it out of his pocket. The second fight, witness said, he did not believe lasted over 15 seconds. He saw Shea strike Godfrey once in the neck and he endeavored to get the knife away from Shea but he would not give it up. The witness said that he received a slight cut on one of his fingers in making an endeavor to secure the knife. The witness did not see any weapon in the hands of Godfrey.

City Detective Ed Morrissey said that he helped to carry Godfrey up to the emergency hospital, where he died. The officer said that Shea when placed under arrest had on a uniform, which was identified when produced in court. The officer said that the coat was torn by the two men who were holding Shea until officers arrived as the defendant was endeavoring to get away. Ike Hayes, the porter at the saloon, told of seeing the blade of a knife in the hands of Shea when the trouble was going on.

This concluded the case on the part of the state.

Shea Takes Stand.

In his opening address in behalf of the defense, Attorney Frank C. Walker declared that the defendant would rely almost entirely on the testimony submitted in behalf of the state. At the time of the unfortunate trouble the attorney said that it would be shown that Shea was in the Sullivan saloon minding his own business. Mr. Walker said that Godfrey vilified Shea and called him vile names and then threw himself on Shea. "When this occurred," added Mr. Walker, "Shea did what is the right of every American citizen, protect himself."

James Shea on being called to the witness stand in his own behalf said that he is 35 years of age and has been in this country for 15 years. Shea said that he commenced drinking on the evening of April 19 and on going home about 8:30 o'clock he donned the uniform of the Irish volunteers for the purpose of attending a meeting and a drill. He said that he got to drinking and did not attend the drill. He was out all night and next day when he wandered into Sullivan's place Godfrey accosted him and inquired if the uniform was a regular army uniform and if he were a recruiting officer. The defendant said that he informed Godfrey that it was the uniform of the Irish volunteers, an independent military organization. Soon after this conversation the two men separated, each going to the other end of the bar. The defendant said that Godfrey came up to where he was standing and after swearing at him struck him two or three times in the face. The defendant said that he used his knife not for the purpose of killing Godfrey, but for the purpose of protecting himself and driving him away.

At the conclusion of Shea's testimony the defense rested.

Physician Testifies.

At the afternoon session of court yesterday Dr. H. A. Maillet told of being called to examine the two knife wounds in Godfrey's body. He said that the wound in the throat caused death.

Undertaker James Cassidy told of preparing the body for burial, while Police Officers Tom Walsh and Phil Prija told of seeing the dead body outside the Sullivan saloon covered with blood.

M. M. Sullivan said that he was not in the saloon at the time of the trouble, but was in the restaurant next door. He said that Godfrey after being stabbed fell to the floor, but arose and staggered out to the sidewalk, where he fell.

Under Influence of Liquor.

Jack Stover said that Shea was considerably under the influence of liquor and wore a blue uniform. The witness informed the court and jury that the trouble between the two men arose over the uniform Shea was wearing. Godfrey taking objection to the explanation given by Shea. The witness said that he saw the two men engage in a struggle, but he did not see a knife in the hands of Shea.

Thomas F. White, bartender at the Sullivan saloon, saw the fight and told a story similar to that of Stover.

"WANTED, A WIFE," IS COMIC OPERA-LIKE PANTAGES OFFERING

There is no rough stuff, slap-stick comedy or anything of that sort in the delightful musical comedy affair "Wanted—A Wife," which is one of the headliner attractions in the present Pantages vaudeville show at the Broadway. It has all the elements of a thoroughly delightful comic opera and the singing in this offering is of special merit.

Frank Harrington and Charlotte Taylor are the principals in the act and they have a very clever supporting company.

This offering also tells more of a real story than usually is the case with musical comedies of the kind. In fact in every way it is a delightful summer-time treat.

COLLEGE PROFESSORS DEFEAT EFFORTS OF SPY

He Steals Blue Prints of Government Experiment—They Recover the Loot.

Berkeley, Cal., June 25.—Prompt action of two university professors prevented the theft early this morning of important secrets by a man believed to be a German spy, who had succeeded in effecting an entrance into the chemistry building of the University of California. The first act of the authorities will be to throw a cordon of soldiers about the buildings in which governmental research is being made under most careful precautions.

Shortly after daybreak two of the professors went to the laboratory and as they approached the building they saw a man slipping from a window of the office of Prof. Joel H. Hildebrand. Under his arm was a roll of papers. The servants grappled with the man, who was young and vigorous, struggled desperately and finally threw off his would-be captors and escaped. In the struggle he dropped his loot, which was found to be a roll of blue prints, containing plans for chemical apparatus used in carrying out certain vitally important experiments for the war department.

Receipts of the Performance Tomorrow Afternoon for Relief.

Gross receipts of tomorrow's Pantages vaudeville matinee at the Broadway theater will be donated to the Red Cross fund, according to an announcement made by the Ansonia company, which operates the Broadway, to the women's Red Cross campaign organization last night.

Performers at the Broadway at first offered their services for a morning performance, but when the ladies pointed out that a morning performance would probably not draw so well, General Manager Phil Levy of the Amusement company generously offered to give the receipts of an afternoon performance.
