

ANCIENT PAPER COMES TO BUTTE

Account of Ball Game Played in 1875 Brings Back Memories.

An account of a baseball game played in Butte, July 14, 1875, in Virginia city, reached Butte today. It was a copy of a newspaper. Several prominent Butte men played in the game.

Captain Wynne, former chief of police in Butte, pitched for the Juniors, who won a victory over the City Club by a score of 10 to 1. The Juniors made a whitewash of the game in the ninth inning when they knocked in 14 runs.

In the lineup of the Juniors in the game of 1875, the Juniors, who were the founder of the Butte Juniors baseball team. He played center field. Wynne at short base played a great game. He was well known in Butte. He has been dead for many years. Fred Wylie, captain of the Juniors, is the father of Ray Kettle, a well known Butte man.

Mr. Kettle enjoyed the trip immensely showing the 42-year-old paper to a number of his father's friends, among them Captain Wynne, who recalled the incidents of the famous game—one of the best played in the state of Montana.

CAR BANDIT KILLED IN BATTLE WITH OFFICER

be shot. "He was shot in the back,"

The order was obeyed by everyone except Deputy Sheriff Bennetts, who was sitting in the rear of the car talking with Clarence Dean, an engineer at the Butte Daily mine. Mr. Bennetts was made to start in the car, and at the same time the four men, including Bennetts, Thompson recognized the man in the car who had held the car for a few minutes before.

Recognized by Motorman.

"Well," said the motorman, "it is the same guy who took us up a few nights ago."

"What?" shouted the motorman as he threw the doors of the car open and down the car for the purpose of making the passengers get out of the car. Thompson walked to the rear of the car and was just about to commence a search of the passengers for money and other valuables when Deputy Sheriff Bennetts, in a perfectly cool manner, arose from his seat with his revolver clamped in his right hand. As he did the bandit pointed the revolver in his right hand at the officer and was just about to pull the trigger when Bennetts fired in the head and killed him.

The bandit was shot in the head and fell from the car. The bullet entered the right temple and the second went through the right side of the head and the bullet dropped to the floor of the car.

Panic Among Passengers.

During the shooting there was great excitement among the passengers who took refuge behind the seats. The women screamed and some misery behind the car seats. As Bennetts fired the second shot and Thompson fell to the floor some persons on the outside of the car, who were apparently a partner of Thompson, fired a shot through the car window, but the force of the bullet was stopped by the glass and it dropped on the floor of the car. As soon as it was ascertained that Thompson was mortally wounded, the car was headed up and ran through without stopping to the corner of Main and Broadway, where the body was taken in charge by Clarence Dean, who ordered it removed to Sherman & Bennett's undertaking rooms. An inquest will be held Monday.

Thompson was a native of Finland and 22 years of age. He had been in this country for several years and papers found in his possession showed that he worked at the Southern Cross mine, where he had recently paid hospital dues. In the dead man's pockets were a jackknife bearing a scabbard inscription, a partly filled flask of whiskey and some tobacco.

Deputy Sheriff Bennetts is today being warmly commended on the heavy and precise work he displayed when he stood facing at a distance of but a few feet the gun of the bandit pointed directly at his heart. Failure to act as promptly as he did and deliver the blow which sent the man's arm into the air and caused the bullet to go through the roof of the car would have undoubtedly resulted in the officer's death.

Third Holdup.

Within the past few weeks there have been three street car holdups in about the same locality. Under Sheriff Jack Meis selected Bennetts as the man he considered best qualified to capture the robber. Last evening the undersheriff directed Bennetts to ride on the Porter avenue car, as that was the last one held up, and told him if the bandit put in an appearance to capture him, but not to take any chance of letting the holdup get the drop on him. After Bennetts had made a few trips on the Porter avenue car he decided to switch to the Race Track line in the hope that the holdup man would once more visit that line. He was not long in his seat when Thompson made his appearance.

Thompson carried two .38-caliber revolvers, and on examination at the undertaking parlors it was found that one of the guns was fully loaded, while the other gun had one empty chamber. According to Motorman Harry

SHIPYARD GENIUS SPEEDS U. S. BOAT CONSTRUCTION

Seattle, Wash.—They're using the car to make more room for ship-building here.

David Rodgers, 22, who is the son of the man, is the one who showed visitors how to turn the crank.

The "Aerial Shipyard Crane" has revolutionized the industry. It has speeded up construction at a time when speed means life to a world crying for cargo carriers.

He was in a motion picture theater in Vancouver, B. C., when he "got his back" for the new invention. A picture flashed on the screen showing the use of a single line overhead cable in lifting operations. Rodgers looked at the screen, then, shocked and rushed from the theater, surprising the audience with his sudden burst of enthusiasm.

He worked for a week with night-and-day energy before he successfully adapted the idea to shipbuilding.

Then he came back to Seattle and spread his blueprints before the owners of the Skinner & Eddy plant here, of which he is superintendent.

"Clear away, David," said Messrs. Skinner and Eddy.

"I'll be right about 10:30 to place the cranes in my garden," said Rodgers.

"So that all" answered the owners, "the men ahead, Rodgers."

The inventor, with his grappling mechanism, is operated in ways called out loud in the air over the building site by immense speakers. It is controlled by electric stations on the ground, being lowered and raised by hoisting cables.

The device picks up a ten-ton piece of steel work one of a hull building a battleship, hoists it 100 feet into the air, carries it 200 feet and drops it handsily at the point of construction required, all in the space of two minutes by ship work.

That's the way David Rodgers turned to speed up building ships.

While he was busy erecting his cranes, ship builders smiled and kidded him about wasting money.

They're all using his device now and only in the Puget sound region but all along the West coast.

RUSSIAN REVOLT HAS FALLEN FLAT

Korniloff, Leader of the Rebellion, Soon to Be in Custody.

Korniloff's resignation, special power with regard to the press.

Petrograd has entirely recovered its calm, a remarkable effect of the suppression of the revolt being that the panic rush from the capital, caused by the fall of the Baltic port of Riga, has ceased and the railroad stations have recovered their normal appearance. On the boulevards, where only private deals are transacted, there was a sharp rise in securities.

Refugees Returning.

From Moscow it is reported that refugees have begun returning to Petrograd. Doubtful elements in the provinces, who certainly would have headed General Korniloff had he succeeded in his revolt, are pausing resolutions in support of the provisional government and in condemnation of the revolt.

The new cabinet is rapidly progressing towards completion through friction again has arisen between the constitutional democrats and the socialists.

KORNILOFF READY TO SURRENDER

Petrograd, Thursday, Sept. 13.—M. Rodkin, private secretary to Premier Kerensky, told the associated press today that "the situation shows a steady improvement." Continuing he said: "General Korniloff has not surrendered, but is quite prepared to do so and is in a position of complete powerlessness. We have just received an offer of surrender from 12 companies of Korniloff troops, who say they have been deceived, and General Kaledin, who, with his Cossacks, began a menacing movement against the government, has been checked."

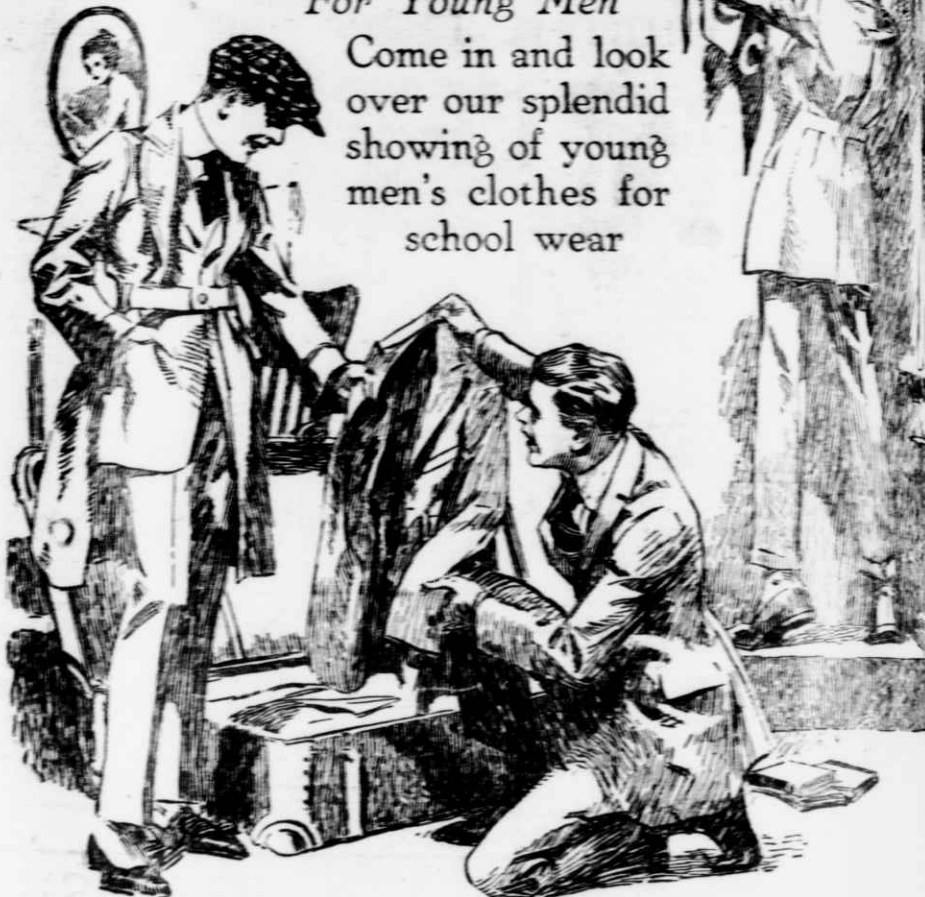

IMPORTANT CHANGES IN THE CABINET

London, Sept. 14.—The Petrograd correspondent of Reuters' Limited states that Vice Premier N. V. Nekrasoff has informed the press that he and M. Terestchenko, minister of foreign affairs, have decided to leave their posts in the cabinet, considering that their participation in the government narrowed their political horizon and, being only business ministers without party support, they did not possess sufficient strength in the cabinet. The vice premier also announced the withdrawal from the cabinet of M. Piescheneff, minister of food and supplies. Other changes in the cabinet include the retirement of M. Tchernoff, minister of agriculture, who will be replaced by M. Avskentseff, present minister of the interior, who in turn will be succeeded by M. Kischkin, a constitutional democrat. M. Kischkin enters the cabinet unconditionally. M. Kozarepoff, minister of communications, resigned because he did not consider it possible to execute Premier

MORE COSSACKS JOIN KERENSKY GOVERNMENT

Petrograd, Sept. 13.—Further evidence of defection in the ranks of the Cossacks from General Korniloff is given by the arrest near Luga of General Krymoff. The council of soldiers and workmen's delegates sent a deputation to the troops to explain the situation, whereupon the Cossacks declared they were ready to arrest their commander provided an order was received from Premier Kerensky. The council telegraphed to the premier, who ordered General Krymoff's arrest. General Krymoff submitted without resistance and was brought to Petrograd. The Cossacks of his command have joined the government forces in the Luga garrison. Railway service between Luga and Petrograd has been resumed.

STILL NEGOTIATING WITH CHIEF OF THE "SAVAGE DIVISION"

Village of Popovo, Near Tarnok-Selo, Russia, Thursday, Sept. 13.—Having obtained the only permit issued by the chief of the Petrograd district staff to a newspaper man since beginning of General Korniloff's revolt, the associated press correspondent early this morning arrived at this village, which is the headquarters of the staff of a rifle regiment of the guard which, with two other rifle regiments, is engaged in holding the front opposite the famous "savage" division. The situation here is as follows: Although all danger of an armed struggle is now excluded, the "savage" division still is not agreed to surrender on the terms granted by the government. With its artillery and machine gun detachments, the division, which is composed of tribesmen from the Caucasus, is quartered peacefully in villages south of

RUSSIANS MUST EXTEND LINE 200 MILES

Chapman of Luga by the Germans forces the Russians to fall back to the next line of defense. This means, as the map shows, lengthening their line 200 miles northward to Reval at the tip of the Livonian peninsula, controlling the entrance to the Gulf of Finland and the water route to Petrograd. Reval appears to be the next important city to be captured by the Germans, who may use both their naval and land forces to do it.
