GREAT TORNADO SOUTH WISCONSIN

SEVEN LIVES REPORTED LOST AND HUNDREDS INJURED SATURDAY NIGHT.

Damage to Crops and Property Amounts to Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars—Vicinity of Orfordville Suffered Most—Michigan, Minnesota and Canada Heavy Losers.

At least seven lives were lost and scores of persons were injured, some fatally, in a tornado which swept Rock county, Wisconsin Saturday evening. Hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of damage was done to crops, buildings and other property.

Dozens of families whose homes were destroyed sought shelter in sheds or other small structures out of the path of the storm. In other instances many persons found themselves without a roof to shelter them and because the flooded roads made travel impossible they were forced to pass the night in the open fields.

Measures for the relief of the storm-stricken communities at Orfordville, Hanover, Milton Junction and Milton have been instituted by citizens of Janesville and Beloit, but much suffering necessarily must ensue.

A cold wave followed the storm and sleet and snow added to the misery of the survivors.

Loss of Lives.

The greatest loss of life was at Orfordville. There Mrs. John Clowder, 80 years old, was killed, as were also a father and two daughters of a family whose surname is Smith, and a Mrs. Broede. At Milton one person, as yet unidentified, is reported dead.

Amy Korban, 8 years old, was killed when her home, just north of Janesville, was demolished.

Footsville, Magnolia, Pewaukee and other villages are also reported to have suffered severely from the storm.

The storm broke with a fury never before equaled in this part of the country. Farmers and villagers were caught entirely unawares. A high wind had prevailed during most of the afternoon. About 4 o'clock the cloud lowered and became black as night.

Farmers who were in their fields sheltered themselves as best they could, and man hurried home to find their buildings destroyed and in some cases wives and children missing.

The storm passed almost as quickly as it came up, and left the country desolate. The roads were almost impassable, but messengers were pressed into service and made their way to Janesville and Beloit as swiftly as possible. Orfordville is equally distant from both these cities, and assistance was hurried to the stricken villages.

In the vicinity of Orfordville the greatest havoc was wrought by the storm.

Fierce in Minnesota.

Winter rode in Saturday night on a wind that cut like a two-edged sword. Out of the northwest blew a gale which was driving rain, snow and sleet alternately. Many trains are icebound.

Snow 15 Feet Deep.

Barnesville, Minn., reports snow drifts 10 to 15 feet high, and all east-bound trains delayed.

Millions of Bushels Wheat Lost.

The weather at Winnipeg is reported to be the severest on record at this time of year, and it is said millions of bushels of wheat are frozen in shock.

Fully one-fourth of western Canada's 200,000,000 bushels of wheat, it is estimated, is lost.

Also in Michigan.

Tariff Talk Cuts Revenues.

The discussion of tariff schedules in congress and action reducing duties were responsible for the $19,000,000 decrease in customs receipts for the fiscal year 1911, according to the report of Treasurer McClung of the United States. On account of increases in receipts from other sources Mr. McClung points out, however, the receipts were $701,000,000, calling attention to the fact that the year closed with $77,600,000 as working balance in the treasury.

TAFT FINALLY FINISHES TRIP

LAST DAY SPENT IN GOING THROUGH TENNESSEE AND VIRGINIA.

Traveled More Than 16,000 Miles and Delivered Over 350 Speeches to Crowds Estimated to Contain 5,000,000 People—Preparing Message to Congress.

Bristol, Tenn.—His second long swing around the circle practically concluded, President Taft rushed through Tennessee and Virginia en route to Washington. At Bristol, the last scheduled stop on the trip from Knoxville, where he spent Saturday morning, Mr. Taft was a little less than 300 miles from home. He reached the capital Sunday. He will take a day or two of rest before beginning the work of writing his third annual message to congress.

The message, friends say, will be one of the most important he has ever written.

The presidential train has covered more than 13,000 miles, and if automobile trips were to be included in the calculation the mileage would easily top the 16,000-mile mark.

The president has delivered close to 350 speeches, passed through about 30 states and been seen by crowds that Mr. Hilles estimates at more than 5,000,000 persons.

Saturday the president's last day on the road, was given up to eastern Tennessee. Knoxville got six hours of the president's time, and on the way to Bristol he made speeches from the rear end of his train at five small towns.

At Greenville the president caught a glimpse of the home and the burial place of Andrew Johnson.

Before he boarded his private car in Knoxville the president called on Mrs. W. G. Brownlow, widow of "Parson" Brownlow, one of the famous governors of Tennessee. Mrs. Brownlow is 92 years old, but her mind is alert and she chatted with Mr. Taft for several minutes. Every president of the United States who has visited Knoxville since the civil war has called at the Brownlow home to pay his respects and Mr. Taft did not wish to leave until he had done so.

For the last dinner on his car the president, Mr. Hilles, Major Butt and Dr. Thomas L. Rhoades, Mr. Taft's physician, who have made the long swing together, were served with Tennessee the car by citizens of Johnson City.

HE GETS BACK EYESIGHT.

Rushes to Save Daughter, Falls—Blind for Seven Years, Now Sees.

San Francisco, Cal.—A fall, sustained when he rushed to the aid of his daughter, who had burned herself on a hot stove, brought back the eyesight of Henry Penniman of Paris Valley, who had been blind for seven years as the result of a runaway accident.

Penniman was dragged over a plowed field on his farm seven years ago, and when he was picked up he was blind. Saturday he heard his daughter's cries for help and while groping his way to the kitchen, fell over a chair. When he rose he could see almost perfectly. Doctors who have examined him say the shock of the fall has restored some optic nerve which had been injured in the runaway accident.
