MONTANA NEWS.

Every day brings reports of more cattle shipments from the east to Montana.

Jerry Callahan was the section man who had his leg injured on Thursday, and the scene of the accident was near Big Timber or Dornix.

The height of the great falls of the Missouri is ninety-five feet from the surface of the water at the pitch to the surface of the river below.

The Mining and Scientific Press soon proposes to issue an edition of that periodical devoted entirely to a description of the mining districts of Montana.

James Farnsworth, a young man of Deer Lodge, was doctored to death a few days ago. He was taken sick and a physician called and prescribed, and the medicine taken. Shortly after another doctor came and exactly the same arrangement was enacted. Both doses were morphine, and the patient died.

The land sales of the Northern Pacific land department in the eastern divisions of that road, including Minnesota, Dakota and the Yellowstone valley in Montana, for the month of May, amounted to 44,615 acres, for a total of $174,000. About $26,000 were derived from the sale of town lots during the same period in the same division.

General Nelson A. Miles is one of the contesting parties in a will case soon to be tried in the Boston courts. The will is that of his uncle, Nelson Curtis, who left to his brother, George Curtis, almost all of his estate, worth $1,500,000. General Miles was cut off with $10,000, and the widow of the testator under the will receives only $50,000.

On the 31st of May Frank Lincoln and Wm. Vickers quarreled at a place in the Stinking Water country known as the Frenchman's ranch. The disturbance being caused by some difficulty resulting from a difference of opinion regarding some property. After fighting for some time, in which Vickers was worsted, the latter went out and procured a gun, with which he shot and killed Lincoln. Vickers left the country before the sheriff could be communicated with, but it is hoped that he will be arrested and brought to trial.—Billings Herald.

We regret to chronicle the sad accident which resulted in the death of Theodore Switzer. This accident occurred about fifteen miles from Storey's ranch, in the Lake Basin; while roping a steer the horse, which Mr. Switzer was riding, fell back upon him, the pommel of the saddle breaking in his breast, and the horse stepping upon his head killed him instantly. The deceased was well known in this valley and eastern Montana, having been brought up in Bozeman and having been employed in the Yellowstone round-up since 1874. Mr. Switzer leaves a wife, the daughter of Geo. W. Reed, who owns a farm within two miles of Billings, and many friends to mourn his untimely death.—Billings Herald, 15th.

The Butte Miner says: The gap between the two ends of the Northern Pacific is now only about 150 miles, and if tracklaying proceeds at the same rate on both ends the point of meeting will be at or below New Chicago. Railroad men state that the work for the temporary track over the Mullan pass will be completed by the time the tracklayers reach that point, and the work from there to New Chicago is not over such a country as to cause delay, there being but few bridges and no large ones. Tracklaying through Hellgate canyon must necessarily be slow. The two ends of the road will then probably meet somewhere about the mouth of Bear. The following from the Missoulian will give some idea of the work through Hellgate canyon: The main sources of delay in tracklaying will be: The 2nd crossing of the Missoula, 3 miles above town, 2 spans of 120 feet each; 1st crossing, about five miles above town, 2 spans of 100 feet each; Big Blackfoot bridge, 1 span of 160 feet—all three to have temporary trestling to enable them to cross before the trusses are erected; 8 crossings of the Hellgate river, making in all 26 spans of 60 feet each, and 1 at Gold creek, 60 feet clear span. These 27 are already framed and on the ground.

NEWS NOTES.

There is an incipient war between two factions of the Creek nation in the Indian Territory.

Family troubles between Geo. L. Jones, a Bloomer, Wis., editor, and his wife, caused the suicide of the latter.

Two ministers of the gospel suicided on the 14th, one in Ohio and the other, E. W. Chase, at Richfield, near Minneapolis.

Norman L. Munro, a New York publisher, has sued Bennett, of the Herald, for libel, laying the damages at $100,000.

The Mexican government has ordered troops into Lower California to protect the newly discovered gold fields and prevent locations.

A cyclone and waterspout passed through Northern Arkansas on Thursday, causing great destruction to property but no loss of life.

A Mississippi town called Enterprise proves its claim to the name by lynching a negro who murdered and robbed an Irish peddler a short time ago.

Four of the dynamite conspirators who have been on trial in London were found guilty and sentenced to perpetual imprisonment. The other two of the six on trial were discharged.

In the case of the killing of Duke at Uniontown, Pa., by young Nutt, the coroner's jury returned a verdict merely in accordance with the facts. Popular feeling is unanimous for Nutt's discharge.

Munger, chief of police in Minneapolis, visited Lake Calhoun one day lately, got very much inebriated, spent the afternoon in lewd society and wound up the orgie by getting pounded by a couple of black-legs. He resigned his position as soon as he sobered up. He advances a theory that he was inveigled into the spree at the instigation of the leading gamblers against whom he has been waging war.

The trial of Stephen W. Dorsey and his co-defendants in the Star route cases came to an end yesterday morning, when the jury rendered a verdict of acquittal. The trial has lasted six months. The verdict seems to have been pretty popular, as the reports say that a large crowd assembled in front of the court house burst into tumultuous cheers as the jurymen came out upon the street. Dorsey and Brady were also the recipients of warm congratulations as they left the court house.

A Washington dispatch of the 14th inst. says: The Indian bureau to-day received from the war department a copy of a communication from Col. Ruger and Lieut. Col. Ilges respecting war parties of the Canadian Cree Indians reported to be fitting out under Big Deer, Little Pine and Lucky Man with the intention of crossing the United States line and making war on the Gros Ventres and Assinaboines. Ilges says the situation is serious and suggests that measures should be at once adopted to prevent bloodshed and loss of property.

Brainerd, Minn., is all torn up over late developments of pine land frauds, implicating several prominent citizens of the town. It seems that thousands on thousands of acres of the best pine lands of northern Minnesota have been taken up by paid and repeating pre-emptors and sold out to these operators at government price, $1.25 per acre, when the land is really worth $20 to $40 per acre. Capt. C. B. Sleeper, editor and politician, and one of the most prominent men of the northern country, is under arrest and indictment on a charge of being deeply implicated.

Postmaster Wright inform us that the present revenue—the total amount of stamps canceled—averages $12 per day, and this of course exclusive of a considerable amount of mail matter that is posted on the trains. When the office was established at the beginning of the year the daily cancellation was about $3, and in less than six months has reached to its present volume with a steadily increasing business. There could be no more striking illustration of the growth of Livingston of the rapid increase of population and general business. This office will be made a money order office on the first of July next.
