WAYLaid AND MURDERED

Fate of the American Sailors, Montgomery and Epps.

Statement by Commodore McNair Regarding the Killing Shows It Was Not in a Brawl.

The information obtainable as to the killing of American sailors in Japan is so far discrepant to the Japanese side of the controversy.

One of the curious incidents of the killing is that there was, so far as can be ascertained, no contemporaneous report made of the affair by American representatives in Japan to the State Department.

The details furnished to the State Department yesterday have been given to the public, and it is not likely that a full statement will be made until diplomatic has either settled the dispute or has exhausted itself in the effort.

A cable was sent to the Japanese legation last night with a view of ascertaining the allegations of facts from the Japanese side. The statement was that the members of the legation were at a certain place. They were not found there on inquiry. It was also stated at the legation that no report had been received relating to the killing of the American sailors.

The State Department is, nevertheless, proceeding with the inquiry into the matter in which the sailors came to their death. Minister Bick, at Tokyo, has called the State Department to inform him of the Japanese government to investigate the killing of the sailor Montgomery, who was attached to the gunboat Yotsukura.

The death of this sailor took place in September, 1897. It is stated that Mr. Bick had not heard of it until so informed by the State Department on the other side of the earth. The State Department sent him an inquiry about Montgomery a few days ago, to which he has replied that he has asked the Japanese government to investigate the death of both Americans, which report has been transmitted to the State Department for its information.

The essential part of the report is said to be that the Americans were killed in a drunken sailor's brawl, but were waylaid and murdered. It is likely that the State Department will hold its evidence until the case shall have been made up from the Japanese point of view.

It is believed that the motive in all of these cases was engendered out of political animosity. The outrages are said to be the result of a long series of blood and quarrels over the Hawaiian Islands, and that the Americans got the worst of it by being waylaid and killed.

There appears to be enough known to the State Department to warrant an investigation, a speedy one, by the Japanese authorities for what is believed to be the cold blooded murder of two American citizens.

PACIFIC RAILROAD PAYMENT.
Mr. Gage Takes Steps to Prevent a Money Market Disturbance.

Secretary Gage intends to provide as far as he can against any disturbance of the money market which may be due to the payment of the principal and interest of the Union Pacific bonds maturing January 1, 1898, by the sale of $2,500,000 of the interest $897,000. Up to Wednesday night $1,195,120 in bonds had been prepared for payment, and $8,353,173 had been paid.

It is probable that the amount of cash paid will reach $15,000,000. On the same day the organization committee of the Union Pacific Railroad will pay into the Treasury the sum of $8,353,401.37; and in order to guard further against any disturbance of the money market, Secretary Gage says he has arranged that $4,000,000 of this amount shall be deposited in the National City Bank of New York on bonds being turned over to the government for security. The balance, $7,353,401.37, will represent the actual amount withdrawn from the money market and paid into the sub-treasury at New York.

There has been a congestion of currency at the money centers, and except within the last week or ten days the money market has been exceedingly easy. Bonds to the amount of $7,353,000 are now held as security for special deposits in national banks on account of the purchase of the Union Pacific Railroad, and to this extent there is no actual transactions.

CHRISTMAS SCHOOL EXERCISES.
Pupils Follow a Custom and Have Pleading Entertainments.

The Christmas holidays are looked forward to in anticipation of genuine pleasure by no class of people more anxiously than by school children.

It has been the custom for the pupils of the high schools to observe the beginning of the holidays with musical and literary entertainments, to which the parents and friends are invited.

To add to the success and assist as far as possible, the principals always make the day before Christmas eve a half holiday.

At the various schools the entertainments given by the pupils were decided successes. At the Phillips School, literary and musical features were provided, the talent being drawn from the pupils. Miss McDaniel gave a piano solo, Mr. Birdan, a reading; Richard Harding Davis, "A Recruit at Christmas"; Mr. Quinton, a poem; Miss McDaniel, vocal solo; Miss Edwards, a recitation; and the Misses Haas, a piano duet.

At the Eastern High School there was a fine Christmas tree. A literary and musical program was given.

The Mary Pickens High School was given at the Western School. Chorus, "Sleep, Little Babe," recitation, "The Doughnuts Like Your Mother Used to Make," Miss Della Fisher, song, "Dreams," Miss Marie Everett, violin solo, Beethoven Waltz, Miss Della Fisher, recitation, "Changing Year," Miss Belle Graves, guitar and mandolin selection, "Normandie" March, Misses Wright and Hall, song, "The Serenade," Miss Bessie Coughlin, recitation, "Christmas Week," Mrs. Walter violin solo, the inter-medios from "Cavalleria Rusticana," L. Leonov, guitar and mandolin selection, "Daughter of Love," waltz, Misses Hall and Stoddard. Speeches were made by Mr. Leetch and Mr. Chever, of Cornell University; Mr. Smoot and Mr. Alexander, of Lafayette, and Mr. Bradley and Mr. Cassin, of Columbia.

A very pleasant entertainment was given at the Central School. At the regular entertainment, nearly all of the scholars provided themselves with balloons and the hall presented a unique and pleasant sight. The principal features of the enter-
