First Ward Honors Bishop's Silver Wedding

Bishop and Mrs. Andrew Fjeld were the recipients of a unique surprise party last evening, the occasion being their silver wedding. The First Ward Relief Society took the initiative in the matter and all the married folks helped to carry it out.

A program of music, original compositions and readings opened the festivities in the First Ward church. Following this there were some unique and original games, and the evening closed with an old time dancing party, like those given in the days of Bishop Evans. Refreshments were also a feature of the evening.

The interesting part of the program, however, was that Bishop Fjeld paid his ticket like the others and did not know that the event was in his honor until Mrs. Hannah Jones gave the address of Welcome, and Mrs. Hannah Anderson, in the next speech, presented Bishop and Mrs. Fjeld with a beautiful set of silverware in the name of the members of the ward. The Bishop responded feelingly. Jos. Anderson of the Bishopric, acted as master of ceremonies.

Grant Sisters Entertain

The Grant Sisters most successfully entertained on Saturday evening. The decorations were arranged to honor both St. Valentine and President Lincoln. The reception room was decorated in Red, White and Blue. In this room the merry party enjoyed dancing. In the parlor white and pink carnations were in profusion. Here the sisters showed their ability at entertaining their guests with progressive parlor games. In the dining room red and white hearts were tastily arranged. The elaborate dinner was served cafeteria style.

A Striking Contrast

Early in the week a pair of twins were born to one of the women in a Gipsy camp at the Point of the Mountain. There was quite a contrast to this nomad bringing twins into the world in a frail camp wagon, as compared to the modern way of having this important event happening in a modern hospital. Nevertheless the twins and their brown skinned mother are reported doing fine.

Utah Agricultural College Weekly News Letter

Apple Tree Should Be Pruned Every Year.

If the apple tree is moderately pruned every year, new growth and fruit spurs are continually being produced, according to Dr. Leon D. Batchelor, head of the Horticultural department of the Utah Agricultural College. If years of neglect precede the pruning, the twig growth which will follow is likely to throw the tree out of bearing. Therefore if the tree is extremely dense, or if the shape is to be changed, radically, it is much better to distribute the pruning over a number of years rather than bring about such a change in a single year.

The shape of the tree can be materially changed or the neglected tree can be thinned out and considerably remodeled and still keep the tree bearing if this severe pruning is distributed through a number of years.

The Care Of Horse Collars

It is always best says Prof. Humphries of the Farm Mechanics department of the Utah Agricultural College to use a full leather collar in preference to the canvas ones, and it is also a good plan to have an extra collar for each horse smaller than the regular size, in case the horse should get thin and the regular collar not fit well. In this case a cheap collar will do very well.

The inside of the collars where they rest in the shoulders should be washed each evening and dried well with a cloth. A little harness oil applied occasionally greatly adds to the life of the collar.

If sweat pads are used they, too, must be kept perfectly clean, but the value of their use is questioned. They scarcely ever do any good in the way of preventing or curing sore shoulders. They are a nuisance to both the teamster and the horse. If the collars get too large to fit well, better get new collar instead of using a pad.

Preparation Of The Soil.

Thorough preparation of the seed bed is one of the most important elements of success in the production of crops according to the Agronomy department of the Utah Agricultural College. The more mellow the soil, the better are crops able to extract nourishment and make use of any fertilizers that have been applied. Gardens are made to produce relatively much more than fields, chiefly because of the work done on them with spade and rake. The condition of the field should, as far as possible, resemble that of a garden.

HOW TO ADVERTISE

Erie W. Allen, head of the department of Journalism in the state university of Oregon, in addressing the citizens of Glendale, Ore., on the subject, "The Newspaper in Your Town," said:

"Advertising in the country paper is the best investment a country merchant can make. The merchant's advertising should be news. It should tell something very definite about what the store offers, and the copy should be changed frequently. The advertising columns should be made as interesting as any other part of the paper, and the merchant's 'ad' should appear with the same regularity as the editor's news. An advertisement in the local paper is by no means charity. It brings big returns; first, in direct business when it is handled with a little common sense; second, in building up the community.

"The paper should be made as important an agent of a town's improvement and prosperity as the church or the school. The great problem of the small town in these days of centralization and parcel post is to make itself a good place to live in and pleasant place for the country people to come to. If it doesn't do that it is doomed to disappear.

"No town should be so shortsighted as not to give every encouragement to the man who is trying to make a newspaper there. He is in one sense the most important citizen. He can do more for the town both at home and abroad than any other one man. He should be backed up in his effort to do business at business prices and in a business way. It would be just as sensible for you to let your school run down, as to let your newspaper run down."

MILKING MACHINES

There are fourteen different makes of milking machines on sale in Victoria, Australia, used by approximately 2,000 farmers. The principle advantage of the milking machine is that it makes the farmer practically independent of labor. Their use is increasing year by year and they are particularly successful where help-ers are first broken into the machines. It has been found that the milk keeps well and that there is infinitely less trouble with sore teats.

The Utah Agricultural College dairy department is now experimenting with a milking machine and Prof. Geo. B. Caine states that he will be able to give the results of the experiment within a short time.
