The health officials do not hope for services of pecuniary profit to themselves, nor do they ask this. They merely ask that the different commu-nities share part of the expense enbeen compelled to resign simply be-auge they could not afford the expense the work involved. It is stated that some of the most efficient health offieason, and the state board does not feel justified in asking them to again take up their duties with the certainty that the work will be resumed at a sacrifice of time and money.

To Show Value of Investment.

The situation will be fully explained in the address of the state board, which will supply facts to show that the relatively small amount of money required for the use of the health officers will be splendid investment for the communities, with the added safeguards that will be thrown around the lives of the people by the efforts of the health offi-

Only forty-three of the 200 health officers of the state attended the meeting yesterday. The relatively small attendance is attributed to the failure of the last legislature to make adequate provision for expenses of the health officers. ### Unnecessary Deaths in Utah.

Dr. Beatty opened the afternoon meeting by a discussion of "Modern Sanitation." There are 1.500 unnecessanitation." There are 1.500 innecessary deaths in every 4.600 in Utah, he said. He reviewed investigations and discoveries concerning contagious and infectious diseases, and contrasted the slim attendance with the importance of medical knowledge, and was grossly ignorant of the principles underlying of the matters to be considered. Dr. Beatty deplored the action of the legislature in killing the bill providing means to enable health officers to attend the annual conventions. The state paid $29,000 to protect livesteek from injury by coyotes, he said, but would give less than half that amount to protect the lives of human beings living in Utah. The remedy for this attitude on the part of the people lies in public instruction and education along modern sanitary lines, he said. He reviewed the experience of New Orleans and Havana and the lessons taught by them. The means of transmission of disease came in for careful treatment. Those who decry the germ theory of typhoid and tuberculosis are the ones who will not give it a test, said Dr. Beatty.

N. Dr. E. A. Rich gave a paper on "Causes of Sporadic Infection." Typhoid and the means of preventing it

The absence of so many health officers and the consequent loss to their localities of the many valuable suggestions and the demonstrations presented yesterday was generally deplored by the delegates in attendance. It is hoped, however, that the state board will be able to bring the people of the state to appreciate the importance of the work done by the health officers and to generate the needed financial assistance.

Wallace of the Rocky Manager of the Roc npany, whereby this section is to have communication with other portions of this state and adjoining states through the Bell people extending its line from Provo to Price, a first class copper wire service to be installed. The Eastern Utah Telephone company is to erect poles from Price to Colton, and these are to be leased to the Bell people for the stringing of its wires. From Price to Colton there will be a local line maintained by the Eastern Utah company, but this place is to be the central exchange. The Rocky Mountain Bell folks are to commence construction as soon as material can be gotten on the ground and ought to have the line from Provo to Price in operation by the first of the year.

Work is to start soon on the setting of poles of the Eastern Utah lines whereby the towns of the county, including Clear Creek, Winter Quarters, Scoffield, Helper, Castle Gate and Sunnyside will be connected with Price, and the Rocky Mountain Bell system. A fifty-drop switchboard and a number of the best instruments made have been ordered by President Miller for the Price exchange, and the instruments now in use at the several towns reached are to be replaced

PROVO NEWS NOTES.

Provo, Oct. 5.-A marriage license has been issued to Myron Blackett, aged 20, In traveling through the state, I have d occasion to observe conditions which evail with reference to the water supand Elizabeth Shepherd, aged 18, both of nad occasion to observe conditions which prevail with reference to the water supply. In some place I have been astonished at the apparent indifference of the people regarding the kind of water they use for culinary purposes. Water which is allowed to run through the streets, and is polluted by every conceivable means, is taken into the homes of the people and used without any attempt at purification. Wells that serve as a source of water supply are subject to seepage of surface water at irrigation periods, and the water bears almost every conceivable contamination. In short, such conditions prevail as would not be tolerated under any kind of efficient sanitary regulation. The result of this deplorable condition is seen in the prevalence, at certain intervals, of such infectious diseases as typhoid fever, pneumonia, etc. and such contagious diseases as scarlet fever, diphtheria, etc. Mrs. McNitt is down from Salt Lake today meeting with the ladies of the Baptist church in their first monthly meeting of the season. Charles Graham of Salt Lake is visiting relatives here. W. L. Croft has moved his family to ing on the necessities of the people. The matter should be so handled by the officials of the town or city as to secure to the people the improvement at actual cost. It has been proved by the experience of the larger towns and cities that this can be done. By the exercise of proper economy such a system can be ty value on the other.

In conclusion, permit me to express my hearty sympathy with the object of this convention. There is no reason in the world why the health of the people of Utah should not be better than that of any other people on earth. If it is not the fault is to be laid at the door of those who have in their hands the remedy for the conditions I have mamed, and neglect to apply it. So far as it is in your power ladies and gentlemen, to bring about a better condition in this respect. I pledge you my help. Again I bid you hearty welcome, and I trust that the results of your stantantion will exceed your most sanguing expectations. I thank you jour attention.

W. L. Croft has moved his family to Eureka for the winter.

Lawrence Peterson, formerly of Provo, now residing in Alberta, Canada, is here visiting friends.

The Utah Implement company has filed with the county clerk abstracts of judgment from Judge Whitaker's court against J. H. Jarvis for $71.05, including costs and attorney fees, and against Wilford J. Stewart for $15.47, including costs and attorney fees.

C. A. Barrett of Idaho Falls is at the Provo general hospital receiving treatment for tuberculosis.

A. W. Kartchner of Provo bench arrived this evening over the R. G. W. from a mission to the southern states.

Josiah Beck will soon commence the erection of a two-story brick house on Center street, to cost $3,500. I am glad to be able to say, however, that in certain of the cities of our state, steps are being taken to remedy these conditions, by the installation of systems to convey the pure, uncontaminated water from the mountain springs to the homes of the people. I wish most heartly to recommend that this be done in every place where it is at all practicable. It seems to me that the people of any settlement are justified in bonding, or in going to almost any financial length, if necessary, to accomplish this purpose. Indeed, I question if the citizens and officials of a place are no! morally responsible for the evils resulting from these unsanitary conditions, by allowing them to continue when the power to change them is in their lands. I need not say that there is no comparison between community life and health on the other.

In conclusion, permit me to express my hearty vanue with with the chieres.

DOG SHOW CONTINUALLY DRAWS CROWDS.

If it were possible to take a yote on the most popular single department of the state fair, it is probable that the dog show, in which prizes have just been awarded, would be the favorite with the public. The eagerness with which final announcement of prize winners was awaited emphasizes the prominent position that the dog show holds with the people.

The judges were Frederick Jones, for pointers and setters; I. M. Fisher, for all other sporting dogs; Arthur Clarke, for mastiffs, St. Bernards, bull dogs and all terrifers.
