

POLITICAL WAR ON AT BINGHAM

Editor Robinson Wages Fight on Atha Williams, Aspirant for Postmastership.

MR. HOWELL IS INVOLVED

MUCH REPUBLICAN BITTERNESS STIRRED UP OVER CONTEST.

Bingham is in the throes of a postoffice war which bids fair to lay in the shade all previous political battles in that thriving suburb of Zion. As usual in recent Bingham political rows, Harry J. Robinson, the fighting editor of the Bingham Bulletin, is the storm center, and he and his adherents are doing their utmost in an effort to prevent the appointment as postmaster of Atha Williams, deputy sheriff, who is recommended by Congressman Joseph Howell.

Some months ago Mr. Robinson filed charges against Charles H. Roberts, postmaster after political boss. For some months of wrangling and investigation by postoffice inspectors, Mr. Roberts resigned. But, although not able to hold the job himself, Mr. Roberts seems to have had pull enough with Congressman Howell to dictate who should succeed him. He rubbed vinegar into Mr. Robinson's wounds by designating Atha Williams as his successor.

Pulled Gun on Editor. If there is a bitter personal enmity in Bingham it is between Editor Robinson and Atha Williams. Some months ago, during a justice court trial, Williams is alleged to have pulled a gun on the editor and to have assaulted him. For that act the editor had Williams arrested. A charge of exhibiting a deadly weapon in menacing manner is still pending against Williams in Justice Charles Holm's court at Murray, whither Williams carried it on a change of venue.

Yesterday afternoon, when he learned that his enemy had been recommended for postmastership, Williams immediately commenced to issue a special edition of his paper calling the people of Bingham to rise in their majesty and defend their rights—or, in other words, to make such a mighty roar that Congressman Howell will withdraw his recommendation of Williams.

Is Smoot Republican. Williams, it is claimed, belongs to that faction in Bingham which is recognized by the Smoot faction as being "right," and it is, therefore, doubtful if Mr. Howell will withhold his support from Williams under any circumstances. If that should prove to be true, the Robinson cohorts are not slow in saying that they will act the primary in Bingham and elect a delegation which will be friendly to County Attorney Parley P. Christensen over Congress.

Bingham, or at least that portion of its population which takes an interest in politics, is seething in the face of the contest. The opponents of Williams wish to see either Dr. Stamp or Justice of the Peace Lee appointed. A protest against Williams' appointment was wired President Roosevelt.

PASSENGER CHANGES MADE

G. T. Holt of Denver and C. Patten of Los Angeles Appointed as Salt Lake Route Agents.

Changes effective at once in the passenger department of the Salt Lake Route were announced yesterday. I. B. Huffman, formerly assistant ticket agent at Riverside, who has been filling that position in the local offices, has been transferred to his old post again. He is succeeded in the local office by George T. Holt of Denver. Mr. Holt was recently agent in the union depot at Denver and formerly a member of the Oregon Short Line's auditing force in Salt Lake.

Another appointment is that of Clarence Patten as traveling passenger agent here. This appointment places two Salt Lake route agents in the field for the passenger business of this territory. Mr. Patten will visit the coast by the local passenger department of the Salt Lake Route some time ago. He has been filling a traveling passenger agency in Los Angeles for the same road. Before going to the coast he was in the live-stock department here, securing a position with the Salt Lake Route when offices were first established in this city. Mr. Holt commenced work yesterday. Mr. Patten will arrive Monday to assume his new duties.

ENTERS MINISTRY.

GARFIELD GREEKS FORCE A STRIKE

With Clubs and Threats They Compel Cessation of Work at Smelter Camp.

MR. HOWELL IS INVOLVED

SHERRIFF'S DEPUTIES DEPORT EIGHTY MORE OF THEM.

Twenty-six Greeks are locked up in the county jail. Today charges of inciting a riot will be preferred against them and Sheriff Emery thinks he will be able to land the ringleaders of the crowd in the penitentiary for two or three years each. A half-dozen more are in the mountain passes around Garfield, being as they are, to withstand a whole army of deputy sheriffs. The officers expect to round up the remaining few today and place them with their brothers in jail. Eighty-one other Greeks, deported from Garfield, are scattered around Salt Lake. They will not be permitted to return to the new smelter camp; their services are no longer desired. There were fifty times for a few hours Garfield yesterday. Many of the Greeks have been dissatisfied for some time. They claim that the general foreman, Rardon, has discriminated against them. Also they would like to work nine hours and receive the pay they are getting for ten hours. The trouble began about a month ago when Rardon, at that time Deputy Sheriff Reid, stationed permanently at Garfield, thought it advisable to summon Sheriff Emery. The sheriff went to Garfield and made a tour of the Greek camps. In each of them he laid down the proposition that the men had a perfect right to quit work if they wanted to but that if any attempt at intimidation were made somebody would get into trouble.

All Forced to Stop Work. The warning was without avail. Yesterday morning a score or more of Greeks concluded that every workman employed on the smelter construction should suspend operations without notice. They appealed first to their fellow countrymen. Where persuasion effected no results threats were indulged in. They were brandished, stones were thrown, and within an hour the strike force, including carpenters, bricklayers, ironworkers and others were idle. It was a choice between continuing at work or taking a chance on a cracked Greek reply.

County Treasurer W. O. Carbis went before County Commissioners Miller and Mackay yesterday informally and protested to them against the acceptance of the offer of E. H. Rollins & Sons of Chicago for the $350,000 worth of county refunding bonds. He pointed out that their bid only gave the county $350,000 premium, whereas the bid of the Society for Savings of Cleveland, O., properly interpreted and as confirmed by the officers of the society itself, gave the county a cash premium of $167,500.

County Commissioner Mackay coolly informed Mr. Carbis that the contract with Rollins & Sons had already been signed, and that so far as he was concerned, there would be no change. Mr. Miller took practically the same ground, and Mr. Carbis left the presence. It appears that the contract was signed by the commissioners and by the representative of the Chicago house the same day the commissioners made the award.

Will Furnish Blank Bonds. Thursday night Mr. Carbis sent the following telegram to the Society for Savings: "If a protest against award is successful in your behalf will you furnish blank bonds?"

Yesterday morning he received the following reply: "We are willing to furnish blank bonds."

Mr. Carbis sent this telegram because the Chicago house offers to furnish the blanks for the bonds, outside of their written bid, and he desired to leave the commissioners no loophole to escape from their predicament. The statement of Mr. Mackay, however, that the contract with the Chicago house ends the matter so far as the commissioners are concerned and leaves no hope that they will recede from their position. Legal proceedings to compel them to do so may be started. Prominent attorneys have been retained by interested taxpayers to look into the matter.

Leader a Good Foot Racer.

Of the three Yanatselis is regarded as the most dangerous. He speaks English fairly well and has for some time been going among the men endeavoring to stir up a feeling of discontent. Yesterday he is said to have threatened to kill several men who wanted to argue with him on the propriety of ceasing work. Yet when the sheriff and his armed deputies arrived Yanatselis fled and was only captured after a hard chase. Karahalios and Tsoulas were found at the Utah Copper company's concentrating plant in course of construction four miles from Garfield proper. They were still endeavoring, by threat, to dissuade other laborers from working.

Sheriff Emery returned to Salt Lake on the late afternoon train, leaving twelve men to handle the situation. It is not thought that there will be any further trouble. The work yesterday was interrupted for not more than three or four hours. The lone saloon at Garfield is closed under orders from the sheriff and will remain closed until he says it may be re-opened. And the day of the Greek as a laborer at Garfield may be said to have been finished, though perhaps a score of them are still working there, they having refused to strike, even when threatened with death or serious bodily injury.

Leon G. Skliris, Greek labor agent, visited Garfield yesterday and made an investigation. Mr. Skliris attributed the trouble to the work of a few agitators. "The men have not been badly treated," he went on. "They are receiving first-class pay and if the great majority had followed their own inclination instead of listening to the talk of the agitators they would all be at work instead of driven away from the camp."

TREWEEK STILL SMILES.

Lost Watch and Ticket but Happiness is Not Affected. (Butte Inter-Mountain.) Colonely Nick Treweek, an Colonel Shagnessy, mining men of Salt Lake City, arrived in Butte yesterday and will remain here for a day or two. While en route north on the Short Line, Colonel Treweek lost his watch, and later the Pullman conductor, while trying to open a car window for one of the women passengers, dropped Treweek's ticket out of the window. Despite the overwhelming misfortunes which befell him, the Salt Laker turned up smiling.

PHILIPPINES NOT EARLY TREATED

Former Resident of Salt Lake Talks of Conditions in the Orient.

SUGAR INDUSTRY'S EXTENT

China's Boycott of American Goods.

"We are not getting our share of the business of the Philippine islands," said A. B. Johnson of Manila, who registered at the Knutsford yesterday. "Moreover, we do not deserve to get it until the United States congress will pass some sort of legislation that will give the islands a chance."

Mr. Johnson is a native of Grand Junction, Colo., and in 1887 and 1889 was engaged with the electrical plant, an ice and cold storage plant and just now am more interested in a million-dollar lumber business in the state capital of Washington and other eastern cities and am back with me some expert engineers and others. I stopped off here to see some of my old friends in Salt Lake, a town which has many tender memories for me.

"American capital is slow in going into the Philippines though there are opportunities there particularly in hemp. Conditions here in the islands all the time though the failure of congress to pass favorable legislation is greatly retarding the growth. The government has not yet decided to build a railway in the islands which may result in a general advance.

"The Philippines are suffering because when the United States deprived them of their market with Spain—the only market they ever had—they gave them nothing in return. Under the pretense of fear of injuring the best sugar industry congress refused to admit the Philippine products and a half per cent of the importation from abroad. If the duty were removed and the price consequently doubled the production would not double in five years and it could not increase tenfold in twenty years. You see, then, how little it could concern the United States sugar producer if the Philippines furnished one and a half or even one-fifth of the present importation. This could not be increased if the Philippines furnished one and a half or even one-fifth of the present importation. This could not be increased if the Philippines furnished one and a half or even one-fifth of the present importation. This could not be increased if the Philippines furnished one and a half or even one-fifth of the present importation.

Backfire on Officials. Because County Auditor I. M. Fisher and Mr. Carbis have vigorously opposed the bond fund, a backfire has been started on them by the commissioners and their political camp followers. It is charged that they intend to join the American party this fall and are therefore anxious to discredit the Republican commissioners politically.

"That statement is not true, so far as I am concerned," said Mr. Carbis when told of it yesterday. "I consider myself as good and loyal a Republican as there is in Salt Lake county, and while I am not a candidate for re-election, I expect, if not defeated in the primaries, to sit as a delegate in the Republican county convention this fall."

County Auditor Fisher, when asked if he intended to join the "American" party, said: "I have no announcement to make at this time. An effort is being made to read Mr. Carbis and myself out of the Republican party because we have stood for the best interests of the county in this bond matter. We shall see whether or not the effort will be successful."

Mr. Fisher is not an aspirant for re-election. Both he and Mr. Carbis have served two terms in their present offices.

FLAYN GOODING; BOOSTS BORAH

Ex-Governor W. J. McConnell of Idaho Talks on Political Situation There.

JUDGE BEATTY IS ROASTED

DECLARES HIS SON-IN-LAW WILL SUCCEED FRED T. DUBOIS.

William J. McConnell, former governor of Idaho, one of its first United States senators and one of the most picturesque political characters in all the west, handed out an interview at the Knutsford last night in which he lambasted Governor F. R. Gooding, State Chairman J. H. Brady and Federal Judge J. H. Beatty and boosted the senatorial candidacy of his son-in-law, William E. Borah.

Governor McConnell is as full of life as on that memorable occasion in 1891, when, within twenty-four hours after he had been sworn in as a member of the senate, he arose and addressed that august body at great length and with much vigor on the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1; defended his right to speak regardless of the exceeding brevity of his service in the senate, and sneered at that "senatorial courtesy" which bade him keep silent for a season. It is related that Senator George F. Edmunds of Vermont entered the senate while Senator McConnell was delivering himself of his pent-up feelings.

"That is Senator McConnell of Idaho," was the reply. Mr. Edmunds meditated several moments while listening to the trade of the statesman from wild and woolly Idaho. "Well, by G—," he finally remarked, slowly, "if it has come to a pitch where a man can make a speech in the United States senate whom he doesn't know by sight, it is time for me to resign," and sure enough, within a few months Senator Edmunds did resign.

Mixed Politics in Idaho. On the subject of Idaho politics, Governor McConnell said: "Politically Idaho is in a somewhat unsettled condition, owing to the necessity of the election by the legislature which meets next January of a United States senator to succeed Senator Dubois. We have in the Republican ranks three candidates who have announced themselves and one who has not so declared. Conditions are unusual in that respect. Two years ago the present governor, Gooding, was elected then governor, Morrison, for renomination through the efforts of W. E. Borah, who is now one of the candidates for senator.

"At that time it was understood that in consideration of Borah's assistance in getting the state out of the grip of the Borah's senatorial aspirations, I do not believe he is doing so, and yet J. H. Brady, chairman of the state committee, has announced a candidate against Mr. Borah. Brady is a creature of Gooding's creation and nearly if not all of Governor Gooding's appointees are using every effort to defeat a nomination of a United States senator in the state convention. Such a nomination would undoubtedly result in the selection of Mr. Borah.

"Judge Beatty of the federal court is also a candidate for the senate. His management of the cases of the state has won him a wide reputation. I am credibly informed, to at least three lawyers, and it is expected that each will receive a few votes in the joint convention for Beatty.

Says Gooding is Candidate. "It is thought, therefore, that the combined efforts of Brady and Beatty, with the Democratic vote which Senator Dubois will undoubtedly have, will be sufficient to prevent an election if a nomination is not made in the state convention. As a means of rescuing the Republican party from this dilemma, Governor Gooding has proposed the use of the power of promoters of county divisions and state house patronage to bridge over the chasm by sacrificing himself on the altar of his state.

"Not much is being said on this subject by the press for reasons clearly manifest to our people; but while Governor Gooding is a success as a wool raiser, he has not been successful in pulling that staple of the state. The fact that Senator Dubois will be re-elected, those who are lookers-on are satisfied that the many distinct new features which will be introduced in the next legislature—W. E. Borah, a Republican, or Fred T. Dubois, a Democrat, Dubois' standing in the eyes of the people is an acquaintance of Abraham Lincoln. His position on the Mormon question may, however, cut some figure in the southern part of the state. It will have little effect elsewhere in the state.

Thinks Borah Will Win. "My reasons for believing that Borah will be elected are: First, that the candidacy of Brady is looked upon as merely a stepping stone laid by Governor Gooding to be considered a joke. Borah is practically a new man in Idaho. Few ever heard of him until two years ago, when he was chairman of the state committee. Judge Beatty is so advanced in years that he himself, if put upon the witness stand, must admit that it would be unwise for Idaho to follow the example of New York by electing a man so old.

"Second, not only our own state, but the people of all this region, need the services of young, vigorous, capable men, and those who have mixed with the people of the state are well aware that machine rule will not be allowed to rule at the coming election. The question of anti-Mormonism may be injected into the campaign, but if it is there will be those to blame who should be wiser. Dubois, through the aid of Democrats here, cannot carry the state on that issue.

"It is urged against the nomination of a senator in the state convention that the more waders the party will have in the campaign. This is a fallacy, because, if the candidates Borah is the only one who has ever done anything for the party in campaign times."

BLACK BASS IN MARKET.

First of the Utah Fish to Be Sold This Year. The first Utah black bass of the season were in the market yesterday. They were very fine fish and readily brought 35 cents per pound. The market is only fairly well supplied with the other varieties. Poultry is also scarce, and the old high prices are still holding for springs.

Utah strawberries are coming to market in such quantities that a very good quality can be bought for 10 cents per box. Some California plums arrived yesterday. They sold for 65 cents per bushel, but were sold before they reached here. A shipment is due to arrive the first of the week.

PREPARE FOR BOYS' OUTING

Y. M. C. A. Sends Out Announcement to Parents Setting Forth Advantages of Fortnight in Hills.

The boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. has sent out announcements to parents of boys setting forth the desirability of allowing the boys to go into summer camps during the month of July. The plan is to have the "preps" leave on July 5 and return in two weeks and the "juniors" leave July 17 and remain for another two weeks. The site selected is in East Bountiful canyon about three miles from the station on the Laegood road. The plan is outlined in a letter to Bountiful and then to "hike" from there to camp.

A suggested bill of fare is included in the prospectus, and a suitable outfit suggested for camping. The cost of the whole thing will be very small and the boys will be well supervised by Secretary F. J. Lucas and a corps of assistants. The sports will include swimming under the direction of a competent director and all outdoor sports will be encouraged. One paragraph says:

"It has been proved as a result of observation made by Y. M. C. A. officers all over the country that the association camp is a great opportunity for developing self-reliance and character in the boys. The evening camp fires where the questions of honesty and integrity are paramount, and the boys are made to do things for one's self are two of many lessons that the boy learns more readily and thoroughly in a camp of this kind than elsewhere.
