

CELEBRATE THE FOURTH IN LOGAN

There will be no reason for people leaving the city on the Fourth of July for entertainment and recreation as the city with the help of the committees of the Commercial club have some entertaining features outlined for every hour of the day and evening.

At this time the home coming of the soldiers will not be so emphasized as there will be a big Cache County Welcome Home celebration sometime in August under the auspices of the local government committee. Immediately after the 4th of July, this committee will call on the city, Commercial club committees and other organizations to assist in making the home coming celebration for the soldiers of Cache county the largest held here for some time.

As will be seen from the following program the city and committees have outlined a good time for the people of Logan on the Fourth of July. The towns which are not going to celebrate are welcome to join with us.

GIRL ASKS $25,000 FOR USE OF PICTURE

SALT LAKE, June 27.—Charging that her photograph, taken at a time when she was attired in a bathing suit of "scant proportions," was used without her consent to decorate a calendar and thus publicly exhibited, Miss Ione Smith of Logan and formerly telegraph operator in a Salt Lake hotel has filed suit in the Third district court to recover $25,000 damages for alleged injury to her reputation and sensibilities.

The defendants named are the Bamberger Coal & Grain company, the Bamberger Electric Railway company, the Lagoon Amusement company, Schramm Johnson Drug Company and the Century Printing company. Publication of the picture is alleged to have occurred on a page of the "Man of Melburn" calendars, circulated by the Bamberger interests.

The photograph was taken at Lagoon, according to the complaint, by a photographer of the Schramm Johnson Drug company and the calendars were printed by the Century Printing company.

The plaintiff sets forth in the complaint that the photograph, so taken and published without her consent, was snapped while she was in a pose to unduly expose her figure, and that as a result of its publication she has been subjected to much humiliating comment and that her injury because of it has reached the amount asked in judgment against the several defendants.

SICK OF DOMINATION

Washington, June 27.—It is becoming more evident every day that the country is thoroughly sick and tired of southern domination in the affairs of government and every indication points to a nation-wide sentiment favorable to returning the Republican party to power in 1920.

said Representative William B. McKinley of Illinois.

Squires.

Children's Sports and Entertainment—Jesse Earl, J. W. Crawford, J. E. Hyde and Norman Hamilton.

Baseball Game—J. L. Coburn, Robert Sheffield, Alfred Picot, O. W. Adams, Glenn Hudson, Reid Shumhart and Roy Kimball.

Each committee has its work well in hand so every event will take place according to schedule.

BASEBALL GOSSIP

GAMES TODAY

Logan at Wellsville, 5 p. m.
Lewiston at Richmond, 5:30 p. m.
Smithfield at Preston, 5 p. m.

Today's games of the Cache Valley league promises to be more hotly contested than any heretofore. The teams have changed around somewhat in the league standing as compared with a week ago. The Logan club lead the league at that time but have since dropped two games. Wellsville won two and is now tied with Richmond for third place. Preston has won six straight games and now leads the league.

Lewiston and Richmond will meet today at Richmond which promises to be the hardest fought game of the day. In this game Willett and Hall, both Rexburg pitchers, will oppose each other.

Logan is weakened considerably by the loss of Joe Jensen, manager. Not only that but Manager Coburn is rather up against it for pitchers this coming week. He has got four hard games ahead with only flingers for half that many. His choice for this afternoon will be either Nelson or Christensen, with Rose the versatile tosser, to fall back on.

Preston will defend its title to first place against Smithfield, the cellar club. Kilburn is slated to pitch for Smithfield with Mann to catch, which will be a hard combination for the Preston hitters.

CITY HOME SEEKERS ENCOURAGED

Washington, June 27.—Senator Cader of New York has introduced in the senate a bill intended to give the home seekers of the city or town a chance to obtain and own their own homes.

The bill is based on the same general principle as the farm loan act. Under the Calder bill, provision is made for a federal home loan board and home loan banks to encourage the man of small means to build or buy his own home and to enable him to do it.

Leroy Hall son of Mr. and Mrs.

Hyrum Hall of Hyrum has returned home from San Diego, Calif., where he has been stationed with the naval aviation corps. He has been suffering from pneumonia and plagues for the past two months and will be compelled to remain at home until his physical condition is improved.

One of the conferences of the Red Cross for the Mountain division will be held at Salt Lake City next Monday and Tuesday at the Amelia palace. Dr. Farrand, the national chairman, along with a number of division officers will be present to discuss the future policies and work of the Red Cross. The scope of the Red Cross has become a broad and far reaching that it will have a very important part to play in peace time and it has come to say.

Following are those who will represent the Logan branch and various departments of the Cache county chapter at the conference: E. T. Lewis, chairman; M. R. Hovey, secretary. Mrs. A. Atkinson and Miss Margaret Wilkinson, directors of the production department; Wm. Howell, director of the Home Service with Mae Edwards and Mrs. E. R. Owen Edith Bowen, director of the Junior Red Cross.

The following will represent the larger branches of the county: Lewiston, Mrs. M. J. Swinyard; Richmond, Miss Harris; Smithfield, Mr. George Miles; Providence, Thomas Stirland; Hyrum, Mrs. C. F. Olsen; Wellsville, Mrs. Jane Walters.

SENATOR LODGE URGES COMPLETION OF FRIEZE

Washington, June 27.—The historic frieze in the rotunda of the capitol which has been in an incomplete state for many years, may be completed as the result of the interest taken in the matter by Senator Lodge, Republican leader of the Senate.

Senator Lodge has introduced a joint resolution in the Senate authorizing the joint committee on the library to select an appropriate design for the completion of the frieze and to employ such artists in the work of restoration as may demonstrate to the satisfaction of the committee their ability to perform the work in a proper manner.

For many years the historic frieze has been one of the most interesting topics for the Capitol guides, who have cast about it the glamor of romance. Its incomplete state has always caused comment from sightseers. To complete the work Senator Lodge estimates that $20,000 may be necessary.

Sidelights On The Chautauqua

The Chautauqua has come and fact that "hireling" was so indelibly stamped upon his own brow. Had he its kind it pleased many and displeased many. We would not have our readers infer that because we criticized the Tarbell address, and because we think the Peat address was a monstrosity that the entire program was deserving of criticism. On the other hand there were many numbers of merit and which were thoroughly enjoyed. The Rede, Whitney, Mellinger and other numbers were good and worthy of commendation. The musical numbers were high class and deserving of a word of praise. The band, as the entire program for a day, was not what a Chautauqua program should be. On the whole we believe public sentiment will bear us out in saying that the program was hardly up to the standard of one year ago. At least that is the way it has come to us from some of our most prominent supporters of the Chautauqua.

Our greatest criticism is the apparent propaganda which the Ellison White people are permitting in their programs. Of course it is to be expected that things will be said that will not be approved by everybody, as there always is and always will be in the discussion of great questions. But when entire evenings are taken up, not in the discussion of great questions, but in berating public men and working on the sympathy of individuals in support of issues that the speakers know nothing about themselves, it savors too much of propaganda, and is not a very high compliment to the intelligence of a Logan city audience.

For instance take the address of the much heralded and widely advertised Private Peat. His portrayal of the horrors of war, while not new, served to refresh our memories on the many inhuman acts committed by the Hun. His appeal to the business men to be patient and charitable with the returned soldier, was very commendable and was nicely presented; on this point the community has not heard enough, and it should be made a living issue until the people fully realize the value and worth of the American soldier.

His main theme was, in our opinion, purely propaganda, and only pleased those who were delighted to hear him call Senators and Congressmen "political asses," sniveling politicians," and other like epithets beneath the dignity of a gentleman, and utterly disgusting to those who have respect for the representatives as well as the people of the greatest commonwealth in the world. Unfortunately all his good points were made side issues and lost in his apparent heat to tell somebody they "lied." His charge that the newspaper correspondents at Paris were "paid writers" fell flat, from the stamped upon his own brow. Had he have cut out the propaganda and taken the time to a discussion of the merits of the League of Nations he would have finished in the role of a gentleman. Even his propaganda fell flat from the fact that in declaring that a great many people do not think the League of Nations will prevent war he said "And I don't think so either."

Early in his address he spoke of some "political asses who talk about entangling alliances," meaning of course Senators Knox, Lodge, Johnson, Borah and others and perhaps President Wilson. We say President Wilson from the fact that he has preached the doctrine of being free from "entangling alliances" although he has recently changed his mind. The only difference between the President and the Senators is that the Senators cannot keep up with the President in mind changing. It was this reference, bearing the earmarks of coming from an upstart, together with his further references to "sniveling politicians," "political liars," etc., that enraged and fairly disgusted the major portion of the vast audience. Private Peat should be reminded that Logan citizens read and know something concerning the history of events. He should be reminded that these men whom he characterizes "political asses" and who now question this league that he at one moment espouses and later admits the things will not prevent war, are the same persons whose voices cried in the wilderness for America to go to the aid of the battered and bleeding allies at the time Mr. Wilson was "too proud to fight" when he declared "We have been thrown off our balance by a war with which we have nothing to do; whose causes cannot touch us," when he wanted "peace without victory," when he was "not interested in the obscure fountains," from which the war's "stupendous flood burst," and when he was running on a "He kept us out of war" platform.

Just how far Ellison White people propose to go in this course the future will determine. There is one thing certain that if they do not cease to impose upon certain of their hitherto loyal supporters the Chautauqua will be given a wide berth at least by those who do not relish such treatment.

We would feel that we had not done justice to our fellow man did we not pay a high tribute to the tact and ability displayed by Mr. Trimble, the director of the Chautauqua. Mr. Trimble has won the hearts of all, and if the Chautauqua comes next year Logan people will certainly be glad if the genial director is with us again.

ARMY LIEUTENANT HELD FOR MURDER

COBLENZ, June 27.—Lieutenant John Beggs, Twenty-third infantry, of Kansas City, Mo., is under arrest facing a charge of murder, in connection with a shooting affair at Seeburg, a village in the neutral zone opposite the American area of occupation. The German authorities claim that two civilians, a man and a woman, were killed.

The shooting occurred Saturday night. Officers who investigated the case said that Lieutenant Beggs contends that another American was responsible for the shooting. It developed that a number of Americans had trouble with German civilians in a cafe at Seeburg. When Beggs was arrested near Coblenz he had his pocket orders to sail for home and should have started Sunday. The German government has notified of the charge filed against the lieutenant by the army and a general court martial.
