

ANTI-SUFFRAGISTS DEFEND THEMSELVES

ARE THESE CARTOONS VULGAR OR INDECENT?

The Rev. Anna Shaw, at a hearing before a legislative committee in Harrisburg, Pa., declared that they were. Also she asserted that the riots and the insults at the suffrage parade in Washington on March 3 were the direct result of their exhibition in the office of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage. The association leaves it for the public to judge as to the truthfulness of the charge. There were thirteen cartoons exhibited, and lack of space forbids the reproduction here of more than seven. However, the ones that might have inspired Dr. Shaw's attack are shown. The others may be obtained by communicating with the office of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, New York City.
