PLUMB PLAN FOR ALL INDUSTRY PROPOSED

Four Divisions Classified, Public Interest Defined, Rights of Labor Declared

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—A Plumb plan for all American industry, modeled after the plan of the same name for the railroads, has been prepared and is expected to be publicly announced soon. Copies of the plan, captioned "An Industrial Program by Glenn E. Plumb," are being circulated in Washington.

Outline of Plan.
Briefly the plan proposes for all American industry the system of tripartite railroad control advanced some time ago with the backing of the great brotherhoods, and which it has been announced would be made an issue at the elections. It proposes practically the same division of representation for capital, labor and the public. Industry is classed into four divisions in this way:

1. Those "individualistic in ownership and operation, including the farmer, and the small artisan, contractor and manufacturer, who is both capitalist, laborer and consumer."
2. All industries "formerly individualistic, but which through organization have so developed that ownership is separated from labor and concerns itself only in direction and supervision of production in which it engages the efforts of others who have no share in ownership."
3. Industries "based upon a grant from society in the shape of a franchise, grant of privilege or monopoly. In this division are included all public service corporations except those engaged in interstate commerce "and all industries engaged in exploiting natural resources." These latter are described as including mines, gas and water power.
4. Railroads and commercial transportation facilities. The plan explains that these are considered separately from the public service facilities embraced in the third division because the former are "under local control, created by local authorities and subject to local regulation."
The "fundamental interests" in these industries, the Plumb plan declares "is the need of society for the products of that industry, or the service which it renders, that calls the industry into being. In the first two classes where society has made no grant the free working of the law of supply and demand protects the public interest."

Public Interest Defined.
"Public interest" is defined in the plan as follows:
"It is the right of the public to obtain better, cheaper, or more products or service as the progress of the arts permits the making of more or better goods, or service, at a lower cost of production. The constitution denies the power of regulation so to deprive the owner of the property of his investment, actually, honestly and prudently made, or of a fair return on such investment. If society pays more than this amount which the owner retains as a profit, society pays more than it lawfully is required to pay and the owner receives more than he is lawfully entitled to receive."
"This," says the Plumb plan, "introduces perpetual conflict between society in the exercise of this public regulation and the agent it has created for its service and results in supplying luxuries and procuring greater revenues for those who benefit in these exactions."
Rights of Labor.
Under the heading "Rights of labor" the plan declares that the measure of what a workman shall receive "depends entirely upon the amount in value of service which he renders. He is entitled to receive an equivalent amount in value of the services of others. The wage system disregards this human right."
In its conclusion the resume declares "the existing industrial system is crashing around our ears," that wages bear no relation to value of service rendered and that "profits are wrongfully exacted."

TARZAN ASTOUNDING ACT AT PANTAGES

Man or Ape? That's the Question Before Vaudeville; Tickle the Kiddies

Tarzan—what is it, man or ape? This is the question that will be brought before Pantages audiences today at the Orpheum theatre. Tarzan, who is constantly under the direction of his trainer, Felix Paty, appears in a series of performances which are positively astounding and has aroused interest and deep study in every city in which the act has appeared. The children will be immensely pleased with this act.
The rest of the bill brings an array of artists in songs, dances and conjuring feats. K. T. Kuma and company, noted oriental workers, gorgeously stage an illusion of unusual character.
"Mon Chapeau," is a French act used by Dominique Amoros, assisted by Jeanette.
An exceptional program by Belle Oliver, leading comedienne, brightens up the bill with catchy interpretations.
Everything in song and dances will be featured by William Wolf and Helen Patterson. Both are widely known entertainers.
W. E. White is one of the unique ventriloquists in vaudeville. He is always popular.

FIVE SOCIALISTS ARE DENIED SEATS

New York State Assembly Questions Loyalty of Men Elected to Lower Branch

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 8.—Five Socialist members of the assembly of the New York state legislature, were denied their seats at the lower branch's opening meeting of the 1920 session. A resolution questioning whether they could be loyal to their oaths of office when bound to act subject to instructions of the Socialist party, was quickly passed, 140 to 6, after Speaker Sweet, with dramatic suddenness, ordered the sergeant at arms, to bring the Socialist members before the bar of the house. The Socialists must now prove their fitness to their seats, before a tribunal selected by this assembly.
The session was dragging as the clerk was calling for routine resolutions when Speaker Sweet interrupted him. The Socialists, August Claessens and Louis Waldman of New York county, Samuel A. DeWitt and Samuel Orr of Bronx county, and Charles Solomon of Kings county, were ushered before the speaker's desk in the pit of the house.
Speaker Questions Socialists Members
"You are seeking seats in this body—you have been elected on a platform that is absolutely inimical to the best interests of the state of New York, and of the United States," the speaker said.
"That platform is the doctrine of the Socialist party. It is not truly a political party, but is a membership organization admitting within its ranks aliens, enemy aliens and minors."
Quoting from the section of the constitution of the Socialist party that requires all members to be guided in all their political actions by the constitution and platform of the party, the speaker continued:
"It is interesting to note that Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, self-styled soviet ambassador, became a member of the Socialist party upon his entry into this country and took part in its deliberations. It is therefore quite evident that you, in spite of your oath of office, are bound to act subject to instructions received from an executive committee which may be made up in whole, or in part, of aliens or alien enemies, holding allegiance to governments or organizations whose interests may be diametrically opposed to the best interests of the United States."
As soon as the speaker had finished, Majority Leader Simon I. Adler, offered the resolution declaring vacant the seats of the Socialist party members.
Two Bronx Democrats, William S. Evans and J. Fairfax McLaughlin, voted in the negative as did four of the Socialists.

Secretary Daniels Watches Filming of Washburn's Comedy

Some of the most distinguished visitors who were ever within the precincts of the Lasky studio in Hollywood were present when the theater scenes for "It Pays to Advertise" Bryant Washburn's new Paramount Arterial picture, which comes to the Alhambra theater tomorrow, were filmed under the direction of Donald Crisp.

It was the occasion of the arrival of the great Pacific fleet at the port of Los Angeles and the studio had been practically thrown open to the officers and men of the fleet. On this day, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, accompanied by Congressman H. Z. Osborne, Mayor M. P. Snyder of Los Angeles, Rear Admirals McKean and Jayne, Commander P. W. Foote and other naval officers of high rank visited the studio, and were escorted over to the theater set and were spectators throughout the greater part of the afternoon.

Bible Students to be Tried Again in April

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Eight officials and employees of the International Bible Students' association, who were convicted under the espionage law in June, 1918, and later freed when the United States circuit court granted them a new trial, will be tried again, Leroy W. Roper, United States attorney, announced, April 7 has been set as the date for the new trial.

The defendants were charged with distributing literature tending to obstruct the operation of the selective service act. The circuit court, in its decision, said that Judge H. B. Howe, of Vermont, who presided at the first trial, made remarks calculated to prejudice the jury.
Seven of the defendants were sentenced to 20 years each on four counts, the sentences to run concurrently. They were Joseph B. Rutherford, William E. Van Amberg, Fred Robinson, C. J. Woodworth, G. H. Fisher, Alexander McMillan and Robert J. Martin. A sentence of eight years was imposed upon Giovanni de Ceccal. All eight men were in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta when freed by the court's action.

Hines Proposes Big Merger of Railroads

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Compulsory consolidation of the railroads into a few great corporations before they return to private control, with the public and labor, as well as capital, represented in the management of the systems, was advocated by Director General Hines in an address before the New York City bar association.

Without this "fundamental reconstruction," Mr. Hines declared, "the result will be progressively disappointing and in a few years the dissatisfaction of the public will manifest itself through an insistent demand for a radically different plan which is not likely to stop short of outright government ownership."
