THEY COULDN'T FOOL PAPA; STORY OF WEDDING TRIP TO SALT LAKE TOLD

They couldn't fool papa. That's the title of a little story which has to do with the romantic marriage of a young man and a young woman, both residents of Ogden.

They thought they were "putting one over" on friends and relatives, but— They couldn't fool papa.

The principal actors in the romance are Miss Lillian Hinkley and Arthur J. Creamer.

On Saturday the two mounted a trusty automobile and hid themselves away to Salt Lake City where they procured a marriage license and were married by Elder Brigham Q. Young. Then they returned and assumed an innocent expression.

The bridegroom is a son of D. A. Creamer, Southern Pacific passenger conductor. He turned Sherlock and today it is papa who is announcing the marriage.

"They tried to put one over on me," he said, "so I thought I would beat them to it."

MOTORISTS WHO RIDE ON WALKS GIVEN SMALL FINES

Sunday afternoon provided the time, and four motorcycles formed the means of a good time for Ernest Kammermeyer, Dewey Lassius, W. H. Stillwell, and T. E. Peterson which resulted in their appearance before Judge Roberts in city court this morning charged with operating motorcycles on the sidewalk of Thirty-third street between Lincoln and Grant avenues. The four all pleaded guilty and because of the first offense named had never appeared in court before on any charge whatever they were fined each $5 or five days in the city jail.

Peterson, who had appeared before on a charge of speeding, was fined $10 or 10 days in the city jail.

Officer Tuft made the arrests.

Mrs. Sherman Applegate, secretary of the Ogden Motorcycle club, declares that the motorists who got in trouble with the authorities at the hill climbing contest were not members of the motorcycle club.

ALLEGED GAMBLERS REQUIRED TO POST BAIL OF $500

Judge Roberts ordered this morning that Andrew Manolitis and Andrew Steffas, charged by the state with operating a gambling resort at 141 Twenty-fifth street be bound over in the sum of $500 each to appear in district court for trial.

A motion of Attorney Halverson, representing the defendants, to have the name of Andrew Steffas removed from the charge, contending that Steffas was not a proprietor of the place in question at the time of the arrest, was denied. The county attorney stated that it was clearly in evidence that Steffas was at any rate an employe of the establishment at the time named.

CARD OF THANKS

HOUSE DISPUTES OVER BOUNDARIES OF PARK

Giant Redwood District Subject Aired Before Committee — Land Is Needed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—A dispute between the agriculture and interior departments and other national interests over boundaries for the proposed Roosevelt national park in the giant redwood district of California, was aired today before the house public lands committee.

Secretaries Meredith and Lane sent letters favoring establishment of the park, but expressing disagreement of boundary lines fixed in the bill of Representatives Elston, Republican, California. Mr. Meredith objected to inclusion in the park of national forest lands under his department's supervision which are needed, he said, for timber and grazing purposes and are not necessary to the park's scenic splendors.

Witnesses before the committee, including representatives of the Fresno, Cal., chamber of commerce, the Visalia, Cal., board of trade, and the Sierra club, also recommended limitation of boundaries to exclude commercial timber and grazing lands.

Further hearings will be held.

Governor Lowden Files Petition for Primary

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 24.—Governor Frank O. Lowden's petition as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination at the preferential primaries to be held in Illinois, April 13, was filed in the secretary of state's office today by Louis L. Emmerson, the secretary, who is campaign manager for the governor. The petition was signed by 5000 voters representing every county in the state.

MINERS' INCREASE TO BECOME BURDEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The recent 14 per cent wage increase awarded coal miners will add $5,000,000 annually to the burden on consumers in Colorado if coal operators there are allowed to increase prices to produce an adequate return on their investment, E. H. Weitzel, of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company today told the senate coal investigating committee.

The wage increase, he said, could not be absorbed by his company which operated in 1919 at a loss of 7 1/2 cents a ton.

Colorado miners did not need the wage increase, he said, some miners, under the former scale receiving as high as $3500 a year, while the average was about $1682. Employees of his company had opposed the strike, he said. Prior to 1919, he added, employees of the company owned 218 automobiles at a cost of $181,850, and in 1919 this increased to 246 at a cost of $245,600, while during the first six weeks in 1920 75 new automobiles were purchased.

Mr. Weitzel said a seven-hour working day would virtually put his company out of business as the labor supply would not permit time to produce sufficient coal.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING MAY BE LEFT OUT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—A plea for non-partisan support for the senate universal military training bill and that this subject be kept out of politics is contained in letters addressed to Chairman Hayes of the Republican national committee and Chairman Cummings of the Democratic national committee by the military training camps' association and made public here today.

Universal military training may not be included in the house army reorganization bill under a plan adopted by Republican leaders calling for consideration of the measure late this week. None of the leaders would deny that omission of a training plan was likely, but asserted no final agreement had been made with advocates of training.

Despite the decision of the military committee adopting military training, in principle, as a part of the country's military policy, efforts were made today to prevent the committee decision from appearing in the reorganization bill. Chairman Kahn, who held informal conferences with the leaders and supporters of the training said no decision had been reached, and Representative Mondell, Republican floor leader, declined to discuss the movement further than to assert the army bill was selected to come before the house committee Tuesday.

Mr. Mondell was understood to have suggested discard of the training plan, he being supported by other house leaders, who assert passage of a reorganization bill including a training plan is impossible. The floor leaders understood to have proposed that instead of attempting adoption of a training plan, that the army bill merely provide a congressional commission on "physical and military training" which would report to congress in lieu of attempting adoption of a member.
