Stamping Out Tuberculosis

Worcester, Mass., July 5.—A movement originated by Dr. Melvin G. Overbrook, and backed by twenty-three big manufacturing concerns in Worcester county, Massachusetts, to stamp out tuberculosis, affords one of the most tan-

Dear Mr. Munnimaker,

Through a little Munnimaker Classified Ad in The Standard, though located on a side street, I drew customers right to my door.

Yours truly,

PASSING OF THE VETERINARY.

Few Young Men Are Joining the Ranks of This Profession.

In times of epidemic among cattle the veterinary surgeon is invaluable. His general field of work, however, is limited to-day, because of the prevalence of automobiles, and few young men seeking a profession join the veterinary ranks.

While there is much work for a veterinary to do among invalid dogs, cats, cows and other domestic pets, the subject of his most careful study and most remunerative work is the horse.

Horses, so valuable and necessary, are watched devotedly for the slightest sign of indisposition. The wife may cough unpleasantly for a week before the doctor is sent for, but the veterinary will hurriedly answer the frantic summons of her husband if his horse shows the slightest symptoms of a cold. And the gradual disappearance of the horse robs the veterinary of his chief source of income. Many of the profession who foresee the continual decrease of their horse patients are applying to the government for places as surgeons in the cavalry—perhaps the least likely seat of automobile invasion.

True Missionary Spirit.

Speaking at a recent meeting of the Colonial and Continental Church society, in London, the bishop of North Queensland said: "I spoke at Oxford the other day, and asked for men to help me in our great work. Eight of the finest young graduates volunteered to go back to the bush with me. Then I searched for a leader, and turned to Ireland, the home of missionaries. I sent a telegram to Rev. E. H. Crozier, vicar of St. George's, Dublin, asking him if he would give up his rich living, worth £500 a year net, and come and be the leader of my band of recruits in the bush at £50 a year. The answer I received was: 'Yes, the Lord being my help.'"

A Flat Child.

"I was a flat child," he said. "I was born and brought up in a New York flat. I have never known what it is to live anywhere else."

She looked him over. He was six feet two in his stocking feet and broad in proportion. He not only filled the chair he sat in, but he seemed in his great health and strength and bigness to fill the flat.

"You are not like those little flat dogs, are you?" she said. "Those little long dogs that are born under a chignon to fit a flat, those Dachshunds?"

Sometimes the Less, the Better.

We have noticed that anybody who can sing can play the piano a little.—Aitchison Globe.
