These campfires are interesting events, the Indian veterans and their friends spending a few days in outdoor life, indulging in reminiscences of the earlier days and a general handshaking. J. C. Just how much there will be, in addition to the 6,000,000 feet already sold, cannot be determined until an estimate is made by the engineers.

FIRE EIGHT MILES LONG

Now Sweeping Over the Montana-Idaho Divide

Missoula, Aug. 1.—With a wall of flame eight miles long eating its way over the Montana-Idaho divide into this state, the fire raging at the head of Cedar Creek, and several new fires reported in various sections, cry for help and men was raised here today by the officials of the forest service.

Street runners are out acousting every likely candidate as a fire fighter, and when it was found that Missoula would fall to supply anything like the needed number, a request was sent to Butte and there another fire fighting army is being recruited today by forestry agents.

The Cedar Creek fire is rapidly eating into the heavy forests of the Trout Creek district and has spread to such an extent that it will be almost impossible to stop its progress unless more men can be secured.

A crew of 60 men left Missoula this morning for Salt Lake where a pack train of 20 horses awaits them, loaded with supplies to go to the Copper Creek fire which is reported as spreading again.

JOHN CARLISLE CALLED BY DEATH

NEW YORK, July 31.—John G. Carlisle, former secretary of the treasury, who has been ill for the past two days, died at his apartments in New York at 10:50 tonight, of heart failure, accompanied by oedema of the lungs.

An intestinal complaint of long standing which wore down his vitality, lay behind the technical fact of heart failure. He was attacked last spring by the same trouble, complicated by an ailment of the kidneys and for a time hovered near death.

John Griffin Carlisle was born in Kenyon county, Kentucky, on September 5, 1865. From 1877 to 1890 he was a member of the national house of representatives, and from 1893 to 1899 was its speaker. He resigned to fill the unexpired term of James B. Beck in the United States senate, from which he again resigned in 1893 to become secretary of the treasury under President Cleveland.

With the retirement from power of the Democratic party in 1897 he withdrew from politics and took up the practice of law in New York City.

The body will be sent to Washington tomorrow and the funeral will probably be held at the residence which Mr. Carlisle still retained there. Burial will be in the family plot at Covington, Ky.

SECRETARY NAGEL ORDER IS VETOED

Cleveland, O., Aug. 1.—Henry W. Elliott of Lakewood, former special commissioner to the Bering sea seal fisheries and member of the Campfire club of America, declared last night that President Taft had complied with the demands of the club and vetoed the order of Secretary Nagel of the department of commerce and labor, to kill bull seals in the Pribiloff islands. He asserted further that in order to save the secretary's face, the President had kept secret the fact that he had issued such an order.

"Secretary Nagel is now en route to Alaska," said Mr. Elliott. "If his assistants at Washington know of the countermanning of the order by the president, they were simply acting under orders in giving out interviews last Saturday declaring the killing to be in progress.

"They were 'bluffing' to save the secretary's face, the president of the public know that the president had condemned his much-vaunted policy approved by 'all the expert scientists consulted,' chief among whom was David Starr Jordan. And the president is countenancing the deceit by remaining quiet."

SYMPATHY FOR ETHEL LENEVE

One of the dentist's pictures had the black mustache blocked out with white chalk.

"I did that," continued Kendall. "The first day I saw the man aboard; he was clean shaven then, and I wanted to see how this likeness would look without the mustache. I also chalked out the spectacles in the picture. Crippen wore no spectacles on board. Here is the result: You can see how closely it resembles the man as he looks today. And here is something else I did."

The skipper took from his desk a square of white cardboard with a round hole cut in the center, and fitted it over a newspaper cut of Miss Leneve. Thus superimposed, it covered the girl's picture, hat and dress, leaving only the face showing. "I did this and compared the pictured face with that of the passenger Crippen said was his son," said Kendall.

The resemblance is striking. "After these experiments I was convinced. Crippen was very wary in his talks with me. Several times I conversed with him in the cabin, but always I was careful to ask him no questions that would excite his suspicions. Up to the hour of his arrest, I believe that he did not dream how sure we were of their identity."

Crippen Not Surprised. There are many today who believe Crippen was taken less by surprise than had been planned. It is certain that his resources for escape had dwindled until he was nearly helpless. He had a railroad ticket for Detroit, but only $10 in his pocket. Miss Leneve had not a cent. Crippen, however, had several jewels concealed on his person.

Capt. Kendall was apprehensive of an attempt to suicide among his Father Point loomed in the distance yesterday.

day, he was careful to prepare Crippen for the arrival of the river pilot. Crippen and Miss Leneve had risen early and breakfasted together at 6 o'clock. Then Miss Leneve complained of a slight indisposition and retired to her state room. Crippen went on deck to watch for the pilot boat. When it appeared carrying four men all in pilot garb, the accused turned suddenly to the ship's physician, and, eying the other searchingly, said: "There seems to be too many pilots on board; I see four."

Stewart, the physician who had been instructed not to leave Crippen's side until the arrest was made, gave a commonplace reply and Crippen again turned his eyes seaward.

When Dew Met Crippen. Crippen remained hanging over the rail near the companionway as the tender of the pilot boat, with the police officials, paddled alongside. Inspector Dew, Chief McCarthy and Detective Denis of the provincial police were made up in an attempt to look like the real occupant of the boat, the real pilot. Dew, however, did not make a good pilot and his disguise was hardly more effective than that of his quarry. The English officer could not clamber up the rope ladder with a sailor's agility and he all but upset the little boat when he left it.

The denouement was simple enough. The recognition between Crippen and Dew was mutual and immediate. When he reached the companionway and, at last faced the man whom he long had sought, the inspector said: "Are you Dr. Crippen?" To this Crippen replied quietly: "I am."

Dew continued: "You are arrested on the charge of murder and mutilation of an unknown woman, on trial from the first sentence of the warrant which was later formally read by Chief McCarthy, when the prisoner had accompanied his captors into cabin No. 8.

The first exchanges over, Dew nodded to McCarthy and the latter clapped a pair of handcuffs on Crippen's wrists. The prisoner made no resistance, in fact he appeared relieved and as he turned in the direction indicated by the officers, said: "I am glad. The suspense was too great."

Crippen flung himself into a steam-er chair and buried his face in his hands. McCarthy remained with him. In the meantime, Miss Leneve remained alone in her state room. Telling of her arrest today, Detective Denis said:

"No handcuffs were used on the woman and none will be. She fainted at the shock of arrest, but was quickly restored."

CROP OUTLOOK FAIRLY GOOD

Seattle, Wash., August 1.—A. J. Earling, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, and party arrived in Seattle yesterday after an inspection trip over the line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound.

Commenting upon crop conditions, Mr. Earling said: "Crop conditions in eastern Washington are very good; in Montana, excellent; in North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota, crops suffered from the drought. Estimates obtained from the most reliable sources place the yield of North Dakota at not to exceed 10 per cent of an average crop; in Minnesota, and South Dakota about 70 per cent of an average yield.

"Notwithstanding the partial crop failure in the Dakotas and Minnesota, business conditions continue to be fairly good."

THERE HAS BEEN TOO MUCH JOHNSON

Pittsburg, Pa., August 1.—"Too much Jack Johnson," was the theme of a sermon by the Rev. A. A. Virgil, the colored pastor of the Warren A. M. E. church, last evening.

"I believe the members of my race have gone far enough in their jubilation spree over the victory at Reno," he said. "Too much Johnson has made us mad. The negro is still a missionary people and will be for many years to come. Consider that it took the white race 2,000 years to get where it is, and it is still far from perfection. We have harder battles to fight than those of the prize ring. Let the sober mental states of our natures get a proper hearing. There has been absolutely too much Johnson on our lips and perhaps in our hearts."

WIDER MAY HAVE WEALTH SECRETED

New York, August 1.—The theory is advanced by attaches of the district attorney's office that Edwin Wider, cashier of the local branch of the Russo-Chinese bank, who disposed of $500,000 of the bank's funds in Wall street speculation, has a large sum of the institution's assets secreted somewhere.

This theory is based upon examination of the books of all the brokerage firms with which Wider is said to have done business. It is reported that while stock purchases have been charged up against Wider, the total found by the district attorney's office will not amount to more than $200,000. However, the authorities will renew search for the missing money and securities.

CAVALRY RIDER AT FORT SHERIDAN

Chicago, Aug. 1.—While performing military tricks on a swimming horse before a large audience at Fort Sheridan yesterday, J. Frisch, 22 years old, was thrown into the lake and drowned.

Frish was a member of Troop M. Fifteenth Cavalry. The horse was swimming in about eight feet of water. Frisch, apparently, was preparing to stand on the horse's back and because of the wet flanks and slippery saddle, slid off into the water. Frightened, the horse frantically turned ashore.

Frish did not rise to the surface, and it is believed that he was struck by the animal's head.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD RETURN

About twenty-five Woodmen of the World of the local organization returned this morning from an outing to the Devil's Slide, in Weber canyon, where they were entertained yesterday by the Woodmen of the Cement city.

They report having spent a most glorious time, their greatest trouble being, so far as the married men are concerned, to reconcile their wives to the continued sojourn and the fact that the ladies were "faded."

The Woodmen made their appearance at the Cement city Saturday evening and proceeded immediately to enter into the dance festivities. Yesterday morning they were taken along the banks of Lost creek to angle. In the afternoon the ball teams of the two camps crossed bats for supremacy.

The ball game was the most interesting feature of the outing, and in it the Ogden axmen came near losing their heads. The cement boys put up a good game, the score being 7 to 6 in favor of Ogden.

IDENTIFIES MAN BY PHOTOGRAPH

SALT LAKE, July 31.—By aid of a photograph which Chief of Police Barlow received Saturday afternoon from New York City, Pete Maris, the Greek arrested by Patrolmen Radke and Griffiths in Greektown on Sunday night last, was identified as the man wanted in New York City on the charge of robbery, and also on the charge of bringing stolen property from New Jersey into the state of New York. A telegram requested Chief Barlow to learn if Maris would return to New York City without requisition papers. Maris will fight the requisition. He is known in New York City as a "general thief" and under the aliases of Arthur Pierotrie, Bill Berberopoulos, Vasile Moraitis and Pete Maris. The newspaper confirmed the story printed in The Tribune on July 25 to the effect that Maris had robbed George Metaxas and George Maskos, two Greeks, of some $870 in cash, and drafts amounting to $4,000. The robbery was committed in a room of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, Maris robbing both his countrymen at the point of a revolver.

Wanted His Freedom. Chief of Police Barlow immediately telegraphed the New York authorities that a man who gave the name of Maris and who answered the description sent out from that place had been arrested. In the meantime, Maris had secured the services of an attorney and attempted to regain his freedom through habeas corpus proceedings, but failed. In order to hold the man, the police department filed a charge against him of being a fugitive from justice and immediately got in communication with the New York officials again.

Chief Barlow confronted the man in the county jail Saturday afternoon and showed him his photograph and his criminal record. The likeness was almost perfect and, after a moment of silence, the Greek admitted his identity, but said he would fight extradition.

John H. Russell, inspector of detectives in New York City, stated in the telegram that a detective would leave New York City in the immediate future with extradition papers for the Greek.

PATROLMAN KNOCKS OUT CITY PRISONER

SALT LAKE, July 31.—Patrolman J. M. Lyon arrested Milo Thompson Saturday night for using profane language on State street, took him to police headquarters, gave him a terrific punch on the point of the chin and knocked him unconscious to the floor in the desk sergeant's room, and, aided by Mounted Patrolman Conyers and under the direction of Lieutenant Hempel, lifted the man to his feet, made him deposit $20 bail for his appearance in court Monday morning and then released him from custody. The assault by the patrolman was unprovoked.

Thompson, according to the allegations of Patrolman Lyon, was using profane language on State and Second streets Saturday night. Thompson was placed under arrest and taken to the station. He was led into the room of the desk sergeant and booked for using profane language. Desk Sergeant Speers and Jailer Gulbranson were standing behind the desk. Patrolman Lyon and Thompson were in front of the desk. Thompson was under the influence of liquor, and was being held by Patrolman Lyon. Suddenly jerking loose from the grasp of the patrolman, Thompson exclaimed: "You let me alone now. I am in the police station and want to put up my bail."

Thompson was holding a cigarette in one hand and a match in the other when he spoke to the patrolman. Patrolman Lyon, who weighs in the neighborhood of 200 pounds, turned and surveyed Thompson for a moment. Then he struck Thompson on the point of the chin and felled him to the floor. For about four minutes Thompson was unconscious. Lieutenant Hempel rushed into the office from the sidewalk and, after glancing at the unconscious man and at Patrolman Lyon, hastily stepped to the window and drawing the curtain, shut off the gaze of the pedestrians outside. Lieutenant Hempel then examined Thompson and commanded Patrolman Lyon and Mounted Patrolman Conyers, who had followed Hempel into the room, to lift Thompson to his feet. Thompson was held in a standing position before the desk sergeant, $20 taken from him for bail, and then turned into the street and told to go home.

NEW SENATOR FROM VIRGINIA

Richmond, Aug. 1.—Governor Nor Mann today signed a commission appointing former Governor Charles A. Swanson of Chatham to succeed the late John W. Daniel in the United States senate. The appointment is for the unexpired term which will end on March 3 next.

SPAIN ADVANCING UNDER NEW REGIME

New York, Aug. 1.—Apropos of the present conflict between the Vatican and the Spanish government, Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly, who has just returned from a trip through Spain and other parts of Europe, said of industrial conditions in Spain:

"They are improving, but the wider the split between the government and the Vatican becomes, the more rapidly they will improve. New methods, both of business and agriculture, have been introduced, particularly in Southern Spain, and the country would force ahead if it could shake off the clerical influence. But the government has a tiny little fight on its hands in its effort to do so. King Alfonso is a progressive all right, but the queen-mother is a reactionary and she wields a powerful influence.

MANN CONFIDENT OF HIS NOMINATION

Salt Lake, Aug. 1.—Samuel A. Mann, Bert, as he is familiarly known, and son of Colonel B. B. Mann, of Salt Lake, is making the race of the Spokane, Washington, district for congress. At present he is police justice of Spokane. He has just returned from an automobile trip of 457 miles over the district, and this is what he said to the Spokane Review of the outlook:

"I will confess," said Justice Mann, "that I expected a cordial reception, but the way I was received wherever I went was far beyond my expectations. Apparently, everybody knows or has heard of me, and people have no hesitancy in expressing their friendship and their cordial wishes for my success.

"No, I did not make any speeches," replied the justice, in answer to a question. "I traveled night and day, and whenever I came to a town I went from store to store, mingled with men on the street corners and talked with them personally. Between towns I stopped and talked to the farmers. It was purely a personal canvass, and I met not only business and professional men, but the folks by the wayside.

"It is plain to be seen that people are familiar with the political questions of the day, and I predict that the primary vote will be so extensive as to make a record an astonishing feat for the old politicians.

"The voters are looking into the records and attitude of the various candidates and are expressing themselves strongly to the effect that they, as well as the professional politicians, have a right to say something about the party's candidates."

Death in Early Morning—Arthur Thomas of Hadens, Ohio, died at the Ogden General Hospital this morning at about 4 o'clock of spinal meningitis, after an extended illness. The young man came here July 4th for his health, but it seems that the change of climate did not bring about the desired results. The deceased was 21 years old and is survived in this city by a sister, who is bookkeeper for the White Sewing Machine company. The body will be shipped to Hadens tomorrow for burial.

BUSY SCENE ON MOVING DAY

There was a busy scene on Twenty-fifth street, between Washington and Grant avenues, this morning, made so by the removal of business enterprises to make way for the opening of Hudson avenue, and, before evening, all the places that are on the new avenue ground will be deserted. Smalley is moving his stock of jewelry to a building a few doors west of the one he now occupies and he will be ready to do business at the new stand tomorrow morning.

Wessler is moving the last of his fixtures from his saloon building and is placing them in a building on Twenty-fourth street, between Washington and Grant avenues, where he expects to resume business the first of next week.

The Stinson cafe is a thing of the past. The expectation being that the restaurateur will reopen the business in some building on upper Twenty-fifth street.

The Great American Importing company is packing a remnant of goods for shipment to California, the home of the company, and Jas. McKenna has closed the doors of his saloon and cigar store preparatory to removing his stock and fixtures to some other place.

Twenty-fifth street, between Grant and Lincoln avenues, is also busy in the building line. The excavation work for the new Lyceum is progressing rapidly and the new business block being constructed by David Maule is assuming large proportions. The walls are completed to the first floor and the heavy timbers for the floor have been placed, the contractors stating that the walls for the next story will be laid within the next two weeks.

FLEAS AND HOW TO KILL THEM

Washington, Aug. 1.—Fleas can live in water from one to seven days, but kerosene oil, bisulphide and sulphide dioxide are quick and effective in destroying them, according to the report of the public health service. The investigation was made by Maurice B. Mitzman, an assistant in the plague laboratory at San Francisco, who reports in detail on the technique of flea-killing.

Only fleas healthy enough to hop about were experimented with, and no flea subject to various destructive schemes were regarded as dead unless the observation of them covered a considerable period, for many of them, at first apparently killed, recovered sufficiently to perform their duties, including biting.

The names of the twenty-two defendants, as contained in the complaint, are: Theodore Tomaras, Therese Chescas, Gust Thimoras, Gust Strives, Peter Kanpas, Gust Chocas, George Limberis, John Gallas, Sam Chionas, Christos Kabezas, Louis Chionas, Cris Gallas, Peter Skrevance, George Hornes, Andrew Pappas, Harry Lambrakos, Anton Bakloris, Peter Verven, Bill Glover, Mike Gianopolis, Jim Bossom and John Jans.

WESTERN PACIFIC SUITS OFFICIAL

SALT LAKE, July 31.—"We had a very pleasant trip over the Western Pacific," remarked Assistant General Freight Agent S. V. Derrah, who returned Saturday, "and the line was found to be in excellent shape and highly interesting. The scenery is certainly superb and all along the line the stations, stockyards and various other features are well built and ready for business."

"In company with Mr. Shotwell I visited all the freight terminals in San Francisco and Oakland and found that here, too, the most complete arrangements have been made for handling the traffic and in every way the trip was most instructive and interesting. As to any announcement, there is nothing new but the freight traffic continues to move satisfactorily and much interest is shown along the route in the announcement of the passenger department of the opening of the line for regular trains to and from Salt Lake and San Francisco on August 22."

MOB LEADER FACES MURDER CHARGE

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 31.—L. J. Bolton, thirty-two years old, of Newark, Ohio, a saloonkeeper, is held here under a charge of first degree murder in connection with the lynching July 8 at Newark of Carl M. Eberington, an anti-union league special officer.

He is alleged to have placed the noose about Eberington's neck. Detectives have been searching for Bolton since July 10, when he left Newark. Bolton's saloon was one of the places raided at Newark on the day of the lynching. He is a political power at Newark.

ACCUSE GREEKS OF INCITING A RIOT

SALT LAKE, July 31.—Twenty-two Greeks are charged with rioting, in a complaint issued by the county attorney Saturday. It is alleged that the rioting occurred near Midvale on July 23, when the Greeks, who had been employed as laborers on the Utah Light & Railway extension to Midvale, went out on strike and assaulted other employees of the company.

All of the names in the complaint were arrested at the time and were later released on bail.

The names of the twenty-two defendants, as contained in the complaint, are: Theodore Tomaras, Therese Chescas, Gust Thimoras, Gust Strives, Peter Kanpas, Gust Chocas, George Limberis, John Gallas, Sam Chionas, Christos Kabezas, Louis Chionas, Cris Gallas, Peter Skrevance, George Hornes, Andrew Pappas, Harry Lambrakos, Anton Bakloris, Peter Verven, Bill Glover, Mike Gianopolis, Jim Bossom and John Jans.
