Insurrection in India.

A formidable insurrection has broken out against the British government in India. The insurgents are a wild, strange race of people, called Santhals, whose character and habits are thus described in the Delhi Gazette of August 4th :

the hills from Bangulpore to Drissa.—
They are for the most part destitute of fire arms; but they in a measure make up for this disadvantage by their skill in with interest thereon; also to pay a debt due to George D. Evans for the sum of eight hundred and thirty-five dollars with interest thereon; also to George George Hardman for the sum of seven hundred and fifteen dollars and six cents, with interest thereon; also to pay a debt due to George George Hardman for the sum of three hundred dollars, with interest thereon; also to pay a debt due to George D. the use of the bow, which they did not hesitate to render more deadly by the R. William on for the sum of twenty six dollars and fifty cents, with interest from the 6th day cruel device of poisoned arrows. Their mythology, compared Special Commissioner October 22d, 1855.—4t. and they have no notions of caste. Their food consists of almost anything that can be eaten, from toads and caterpillars up HAVING permanently located himself at Point Pleasant, Harrison co., Va., takes this to tigers and horned cattle, for the flesh method of informing the citizens of the neighof kine is not forbidden to them. As to their vices, it is certain from their recent proceedings, that they combine cowardice with cruelty to a remarkable degree, for they war with women and children as well they war with women and children as well prevalent in this country.

Corn and Cob Mill. and are making their arrangements to the mill in the various counties by il September next, so that all persons wh sirous of supplying themselves with this valuable Mill will have an apportunity of doing so.

It is, doubtless, an invention among the most important of modern times, for the use of the well advised furmer and stock feeder, and the universal favor with which it has been received from the first, more than anything else, attests from the first, more than anything disc, attests its utility and superiority.

For portability, simplicity of construction, and convenience of use, the little Giant has no equal. It weighs from three to five hundred pounds, according to hize, can be put in operation by the farmer in twenty minutes, without expense or mechanical sid, then adjusted and used with convenience by any body.

The LITTLE GIANT has received the First Presidues at every State Fair from Missouri to Maryland the past Fall, and that in the most complimentary manner.

These Mills are guarantied in the most positive manner against breakage or derangement, and warranted to grind feed from cob corn, and grits or fine hominy from shelled corn, with a degree of ease and convenience for farm purposes ever attained before.

There are four sizes of the LITTLE GIANT. There are four sizes of the DITTLE GIANA, which will be seld at the following prices, viz: No. 1, is offered at $35, complete, ready for attaching the team, and warranted to grind eight bushels of feed per hour, with one horse. No. 2, at $45, will grind ten bushels per hour, with one horse. No. 3, at $50, will grind lifteen bushels per hour. with two horses. No. 4, at $60, will grind twenty bushels per hour, with two horses, Weston, Va., will receive prompt attention.

N. C. COOPER, Fairmont, Va.

From American Farmer, (Baltimore, Md.) for May, 1855.

SCOTT'S "LITTLE GLANT." We have numerous testimonials as to the value of this Corn and Cob Mill, called the "Little Giant," among others the certificate of James T, Earler, Esq., President of the Maryland State Agricultural Society. Mr. Earle says: "I have ground or an average, seventy bushels of corn on the cob er week, since the 1st of January, reducing the b and grain to a coarse meal, and the crusher exhibits so far, scarcely a perceptible evidence of wear. I can safely recommend it to my broth-er farmers as among the most valuable additions to modern agricultural machinery. The economy of feeding corn and cob is equal to a saving of at least thirty-three per cent."

From the Cincinnatti Daily Times. "The Little Glant."—By invitation we called at the establishment of Scott & Ledges, yesterday, to witness the operation of what the inventor has denominated the "Little Giant Cornand Cob Mill." If over name was well applied t is in the present instance. The mill only weighs about three hundred pounds, and with a single horse attached to a ten foot shaft, it eats peorn and cob "with a vengoance." It is go pon an improvement on the best patent of the ind ever attained, and is so simple in its con traction that it can be put together and set i notion in 20 minutes, and can afterwards be ad usted and used with ease by any body. I grind with ease from twelve to fourteen by per hour.
