Governor Hughes, Greatest Friend of Labor

THE LEGISLATIVE NEWS OF NEW YORK, OCTOBER 10, 1910.
PUBLISHED THE FOLLOWING

Now that Governor Hughes has retired from politics and ascended to a place on the highest judicial tribunal in the world, the fact can be acknowledged without hurting anybody's political corns, that he was the greatest friend of labor laws that ever occupied the Governor's chair at Albany. During his two terms he has signed 56 labor laws, including among them the best labor laws ever enacted in this or any other State. He also urged the enactment of labor laws in his messages to the Legislature, even going so far as to place the demand for a labor law in one of his messages to an extra session of the Legislature.

Only 162 labor laws have been enacted in this State since its erection in 1777—in 133 years. One-third of these, exceeding in quality all of the others, have been enacted and signed during Governor's Hughes's term of three years and nine months.

With such a record of approval and suggestion of progressive legislation in the interest of humanity to his credit, it is easy to believe that human rights will have a steadfast and sympathetic upholder in the new Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Charles E. Hughes, on Government

Those who are opposed to a protective tariff and whose aim is to put the tariff upon a revenue basis can no more be trusted to make a revision consistent with the policy of protection than those who believe in protection can be expected to adjust the tariff to purposes solely of revenue.—Charles E. Hughes

There are a thousand exigencies in the affairs of this great nation which cannot be foreseen or attempted to be controlled by any platform. The sagacity, steadiness of character, firmness and sound judgment of the chief executive must be the security of the nation in many a trying emergency.—Charles E. Hughes

I am here retained by the people of the State of New York to see that justice is done and with no disposition to injure any investment, but with every desire to give the fullest opportunity to enterprise. I stand for the purpose to shield and protect every just property interest. I stand for the people of the State of New York against extortion, against favoritism, against financial scandal and against everything that does to corrupt our politics by interference with the freedom of our Legislature and administration. I stand for honest government and effective regulation by the State, of public service corporations.—Charles E. Hughes, while Governor of New York.

When elected, November 7th, he will undoubtedly become

The Great President

—the man to whom the nomination for the Presidency came absolutely unsought, refusing to permit any man to represent him in any way, leaders of the Republican and Progressive parties not even knowing before choosing him as their standard-bearer, whether he would accept the nomination, when tendered, but he answered the call of the American people unhesitatingly, resigning immediately the highest and most dignified position in the American Government, next to the Presidency, in order to accept the opportunity for greater service to his countrymen.

CONGRESS THE TARIFF-MAKER

Regardless of the fact that the new revenue bill, imposing increased direct taxes on the people, provides for a tariff commission ostensibly non-partisan, unless the Constitution of the United States is changed Congress will always have the last word to say in tariff-making, and its decision will be controlled by the majority of the American people.

When there is a Democratic Congress and Administration there will be near free trade tariff acts, such as the Underwood act, constructed on the theory that protection of American interests is unconstitutional, and the cheaply produced goods of foreign manufacture will get the advantage of the American markets to the exclusion of American products.

When there is a Republican Congress and Administration American interests, American wage-earners and American manufacturers are protected. At the approaching election American voters will decide whether a Congress and Administration favorable to foreign interests or a Congress and Administration in favor of protecting American interests shall be chosen. Can any real American doubt where his duty lies?

Cast your vote whole-heartedly for the most unselfish, independent, patriotic, conscientious, experienced-in-all-branches-of-the-government, typical American:

"Proper Protection Provides PERMANENT Prosperity"

YOUNG IS STRONG WITH ALL VOTERS

And His Democratic Opponent is Reminded by Mason Farmer of That Fact.

R. W. Bateman, a leading farmer of Mason county, has written the following letter to C. R. Wilson, of Huntington, the Democratic candidate for secretary of state, in reply to a communication addressed to him by the Huntington man, in which his support was solicited:

"Mercer's Bottom, W. Va., Nov. 2, 1916.
"C. R. Wilson,
Democratic candidate for secretary of State,

Huntington, W. Va.

"Dear Sir:

"Your letter of October thirtieth, asking me to vote against Houston G. Young, the Republican nominee for secretary of state, is received and carefully noted.

"Evidently you are not informed as to Mr. Young's supporters in this (Mason) county. Something like eighty per cent of the Republicans voted for him. The Lilly management stated him. Mr. Young was not recognized as a factionalist and is not today, and no Republican has any apologies to offer for voting for him, nor have they any apologies to offer for Governor Hatfield nor for the achievements of his administration.

"We believe that the 'common herd' of West Virginia have enough intelligence regardless of partisan politics to elect Mr. Young secretary of state next Tuesday, as they well know that the corporations and tax dodgers of this state would be more than pleased to have you a member of the board of public works of this state. They also know the fountain head of the cry of 'Hatfieldism.' They can see the shadow of the 'fountain pen and check book.' Everybody knows that if you or any other nominee of the Democratic ticket is elected 'hat it must be by the aid of Republican voters.

"We do not believe that the Republicans of West Virginia will be diverted from their ticket to follow the demagoguery of hungry office seekers who are backed by gigantic corporations who object to paying a fair share of taxes and contributing to an equitable workmen's compensation fund.

"At the present time we are advised that the revenues for state purposes are derived from licenses and corporation tax, seventy-six and one half cent; from tangible property, twenty-three and one-half cents. Your party says, 'Down Hatfield and reduce your taxes.' We want to know whose taxes are going to be reduced? If you are going to reduce the tax on corporations what are you going to do about the state normal schools, the miners' hospitals, the asylums for the insane, the department of mines, the agriculture experiment station and other state institutions? Are you going to curtail appropriations or will you make up the deficit by a direct tax on tangible property—that the Democrats and whiskey people wanted to do in 1915 at the session of the Legislature?

"No, Mr. Wilson, the Republican party of West Virginia will not go backward. We will not vote for increased direct taxes. We will not vote for parsimony in our state institutions. We will not vote for the Democratic candidates who are anxious to perpetuate themselves in office by passing a registration law that will disfranchise the electorate of West Virginia and send the wielder of the fountain pen to the United States Senate two years hence; but on the contrary the Republicans of Mason county will contribute their share of approval of that sterling and fearless Republican, Governor H. D. Hatfield, by giving the largest majority in the history of the county to the triumphant election of Judge Robinson and the entire Republican ticket—Houston G. Young along with the rest.

"Very truly yours,
"R. W. BATEMAN."
