Complications Which Must Cer- Disputes the Assertion of Spelling as to Facts on Her Competition to Be tainly Arise if It Is Upheld.

IT IS MARTIN KELLY'S WORK.

The Dilemma of the Election Commission in Regard to the Primary Elections.

At the suggestion of the City and County Attorney the Election Commissioners have secured the signatures of all their employes to a pledge that they will not hold them personally responsible for their sal-

The Election Commissioners want to be on the safe side of the legal controversy being agitated at this time in regard to the powers and emoluments of their office, and their action in this instance plainly indicates the attitude they will take in respect to the recently passed primary law. The Supreme Court was called upon last Friday to issue a writ of mandate compeiling Auditor William Broderick to sign the salary warrant of James Denman, and on the result is dependent the disentangling of one of the greatest political snarls with which the people of this State have yet had to deal.

The court has ninety days in which to render its decision, but this will carry the issue clear beyond the month of January, in which the new primary law lays down that the Election Commission must select thirty men who are on the assessment-roll in each of the precincts of the city and county, from which five officers of election must be selected to officiate as such at the primary without pay.

Unless the decision of the Supreme Court decides the new law constitutional before January 31, 1896, the Election Commission will not be in a position to go ahead with its work without going down into its own pocket to defray the expenses of clerical hire to select the desired 9000 available men. Judging from the stand made by Mr. Denman in his suit for salary, it is not likely that he or his confreres will adopt the latter course.

Should the decision of the court be in Should the decision of the court be in favor of Mr. Denman, it would carry with it the unconstitutionality of the primary law, which, in the judgment of the leading attorneys of this State must follow the result of the case at issue.

Already District Attorney Ryan, of Sactions of the same of the country has advised the Roard of the same of ramento County has advised the Board of Supervisors of Sacramento not to act under the primary law, as it is unconstitu-

The Election Commissioners here have asked the Board of Supervisors for an appropriation of $32,000 for the primaries, propriation of $32,000 for the primaries, the delegate members consider the payand that sum is included in the last tax levy. If the law is declared unconstitu-tional after January, and the primaries are held, there will be a clear loss of the money, which, on the basis of past primaries, will not be $32,000, but nearer $100,000. It is apparent from the expressions of the leading legal lights that the passage of the law by the last Legislature was under a misapprehension.

The old law provided that the counties of the State be divided into three classes. All those of over 20,000 inhabitants were first class; all over 8000 and under 20,000, ond class; and all below 8000, third

Now, the general primary law refers only to first and second class counties. It is evident that the Legislature thought that the general primary law applied only to San Francisco and Los Angeles counties, which are the first and second class counwhich are the first and second class counties which are the first and second class counties under the county government bill. ties under the county government bill.
But the lawyers now say that the county government classification is not broad enough to take in elections. It is merely iffor the purpose of regulating the compensation of the officers of the several pensation of the officers of the several counties of the State therein classified."

Sponded to be done in the county government bill.

Police court—Mrs. S. M. N. Cummings, Mrs.

L. J. Clough; visiting institutions—Mrs. Florence Percy Matheson, Mrs. F. E. Fairbanks and the agricultural and mineral possibilities of Japan will be reported on by Andrea Sbarboro, J. P. Currier and John Rutherford.

These committees will be ready to report the county government classified.

Consequently all the counties of the State which are not providing for primary elections by drawing the names of thirty electors from each election precinct during the month of January, to be used as a basis from which the officers of the pri-mary election can be selected, are making it absolutely impossible for the political parties to hold conventions whose candidates will be entitled to places on the printed ballots. This is the status of course unless that the primary law is declared unconstitutional.

Should political parties hold conventions as they have in the past the candidates will be worse off than those running dates will be worse off than those running independently, because, in addition to their regular nomination, they will have to get out a private list in the same way as the independent candidates, who are prohibited by the general primary law from having a place on the ticket. This prohibition is stated in section 21 of the general primary law, which provides that no candidate can have his name printed on any ballot to be voted for as a candidate for public office at any general elec-tion in this State unless he shall have been nominated by a convention com-posed of delegates chosen as provided by

The convention must file its certificate of nomination of candidates with the County Clerk not less than thirty days befor the day of election. Where there is an independent candidate who gets out his separate petition he can file his petition not less than twenty days prior to the day of election. This gives the independent candidate ten days more leeway than the regular nominee.

One of the strongest points, then, in favor of the independent is that he can file his petition on the last day and then get out an injunction, relying on section 21 of the primary law, and prevent the County Clerk from printing the name of the con-vention candidate on the official ballot.

But this is but one of the many complications which will be brought about unless cations which will be brought about unless the new law is declared unconstitutional.
See, for instance, what it will do in Shasta County, where heretofore never has there been a primary held. The county's voting population is mainly at Redding, and the candidates were nominated there by the County Committee without any unnecess.

candidates were nominated there by the County Committee without any unnecessary expenditure of money. Now each little precinct spread all over the county will have to be saddled with a separate primary. This is impracticable, just as it is in many of the precincts of this City, where it is positively out of the question to gather thirty men who are on the assessment-roll.

Martin Kelly is the one who caused the new law to be drawn up, and should the Supreme Court uphold it he will have the political machine more firmly in his grasp than ever before. In the event of his caring to join forces with Sam Rainey the pair will virtually be in control of the conventions of the two leading parties.

Take as an instance that Kelly is known to own the Twenty-eighth District. There will therefore be no struggle there and he will be free to take his lambs into any other district in the town where there is a conflict. The law requires that there be a ballot-box in each precinct for each political party. That means about three. On account of that number and the complexity of the law the professional ward-heeler will have no difficulty at all in concentrating in any precinct of any district in which the better class of citizens show centrating in any precinct of any district in which the better class of citizens show centrating in any precinct of any district in which the better class of citizens show any interest.

The law also requires that the Election Commission designate the color of the ballots for each party. This opens up an easy method of buying votes, with a reaonable certainty that the man bought ill deliver the goods. It is the same principle over again of the old "tapeworm" ticket. In that case the bosses did what they will be able to do again-tell by the size or the color that the voter deposits the ballot furnished him.

the Rights of People's Bank Directors.

The board of directors of the People's Home Savings Bank, in order to refute the statements recently made by T. Carl Spelling, referred the matter to the bank's at torney and has received a litter of advice of which the following is a copy:

DECEMBER 19, 1895.

DECEMBER 19, 1805.

Board of Directors of the People's Home Savings Bank—GENTLEMEN: I advise you as follows upon the matters stated in the communication of T. C. Spelling concerning the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company.
1—That the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company by its articles of incorporation and under the laws of California, has the right to transact such banking business as it is now doing with the People's Home Savings Bank.
2—That the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company is authorized by law to do just such business as it has undertaken for such depositors of the People's Home Savings Bank as have assigned their claims to it for collection.
3—That the People's Home Savings Bank can without the least danger pay dividends to the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company as assignee of the depositors of the People's Home Savings Bank.
4—That after a careful examination of the Home Savings Bank.

4—That after a careful examination of the incorporation and present condition of the california Safe Deposit and Trust Company, I am unable to find anything to warrant the conclusion, or even a suspicion, that any rights of any one connected with or interested in the People's Home Savings Bank are in any way jeopardized by the relations now existing between the People's Home Savings Bank and the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company. Women's State Federation Will Send 700 Christmas Missives.

A Number of Important Committees Were Appointed at Yesterday's Meeting.

The rainy afternoon and the Christmas bargain counter were factors yesterday in effecting a small attendance of ladies at regular weekly meeting of the the Women's State Federation.

A quorum was not obtained until quite late in the afternoon, so an informal meeting was called, during which the needs and shortcomings of the association were Some dissatisfaction has arisen among the associate members over their inability to take an active participation in the questions of the society by vote. It was explained that allowing an associate member to vote would give to that member an equal power of decision to twenty-five and a fraction of the members of contingent organizations represented by ment of their yearly dollar dues entitles them to a louder voice in the proceedings. As it is they have the privilege of discussing questions at issue, but are deprived of the right to vote for officers. As each delegate member represents twenty-five and a major fraction of members of her particular society, four associate members would equal, if the franchise were theirs, seventy-hve or seventy-six represented members.

It was resolved to prepare a circular fully explaining this feature of organization, and the following committees were

President Mrs. Rose M. French stated that she had been given by a representa-tive of the England Pri-oners' Christmasletter Association 700 letters, to be dis-tributed among the prisoners on Christmas day. This organization sent out last year over 4.000,000 letters, to be forwarded to prisoners all over the world. For the past several years Chief Crowley has turned the letters over to Mrs. French for distributions tribution. A committee to take charge of sending the letters was appointed, consisting of Mrs. M. Ida Benson, Mrs. J. M. Peoples,

Mrs. V. S. Baker.

The letters are written by ladies of the British colonies.

The meeting was adjourned until the first Monday in January.

HUGH CRAIG, Chairman. Julian Sonntag had come into the committee-room armed with a big package of clippings not only from the local press but from the interior press and from Eastern journals that have shown great interest in the threatened cheap competitive for the control of the competitive of the control of the con tition from the Orient. The committee decided, however, that specific and well authenticated instances rather than genmous amount of nine carloads of buttons is on its way from Japan to supply a local firm. He also told of cheap watches, made in Japan for much less than a dollar, that would be a menace to the American watchmakers. It seems that full-jeweled watches with fine movements are made in Japan and put on the market in silver cases for $10, the movement alone being valued in New York at $20. The Japanese are able to do this by employing women and girls to make the delicate movements by the aid of microscopes and at 3 cents per day. Craig told of a St. Louis jute manufac turer named Pierce, who had gone to Man-chester and then to India for the purpose of deciding the advisability of moving his had visited, while in Japan, a great silk and tapestry factory that had been in operation for 260 years, and he had declared that the best American manufac-tures of such articles could not compete with the product, either in skillful workmanship or cheapness.

Craig added, on his own account, that there is talk of putting in a jute plant and a nail factory in Japan. Already, he de-clared, their manufacture of cotton yarns clared, their manufacture of cotton yarns had driven the English goods out of the market. He said that everything, from matches at twelve boxes for a cent and suits of tailor-made clothes at $8 and $10 to a first-class sailing yacht at $500, can be and is produced in Japan by means of the ridiculously low wages paid the workmen.
