Fox Terriers and Bulldogs to Run Neck and Neck After Harmless Cottontails.

Secretary Holbrook of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has scored a point in his warfare against coursing. He was informed that there was to be something in his line in the new athletic grounds, out near the Presidio, yesterday. He immediately interviewed the responsible parties, and as a result of his action President Newhall of the Union-street cable line issued orders that nothing of the kind would be tolerated there.

"I spoke to James Stratton, who had endeavored to lease the grounds for coursing exhibitions, and he said: Why I am extremely sorry you take such a peculian view of such matters. The sport is far from cruel. We start a rabbit about fifteen feet in advance of a pack of pug dogs, fox terriers and Scotch terriers. No hounds are allowed at all. It requires some time, you know, for such small dogs to kill a rabbit, and then if the killing is prolonged, why we send a man out to dislocate the rabbit's neck. He is an expert in such matters, and the animal does not suffer at all."
"I told him," continued Mr. Holbrook, "that I considered it cruel and inhumane.

But on that same day Con Mooney came to me and tried to intercede for Stratton. 'Why,' said he, 'in England the elite, you know, go to these things.'

"I replied I did not care what the elite did in England; that I knew they were not given to such practices here. I intend to stop this sport whenever I find that any one is practicing it. I hold it to be extremely innumane and I feel it my duty to prevent it."

Missionaries for the Alaskan field are plentiful. All the churches are active and Methodists, Catholics, Greek church and Episcopalians all sent representatives to the far north on the Alaska Commercial Company's steamer Bertha yesterday.

Among the cabin passengers were: J. E. Binet, O. Binet, Mrs. James Wilson, two children and maid; Mrs. Beaumont and two children, Fathers Tosi and Cataldo, Brother Branchoti, William McDonald, M. Ellinger, Rev. Mr. Kortchinsky and wife, Rev. Dr. Chace, Mr. Flewelling, Rev. Mr. Naylor and wife, B. Jones, M. Blatchford, Mrs. Kate Zorn and two children, Captain G. W. Beers, Rev. J. H. Rock, Rev. Dr. Ronig and wife, T. Norris and P. Bishop.

Nearly all the clerymen are supplied with cameras, and while they are convert-ing and teaching the Indians they will also make collections of curios and photo-grap s. They expect to be gone for a long time and are all prepared for the Arctic

The brigantine John D. Spreckels arrived yesterday from Mahukona after a slow passage for her of twenty days. No time will be lost in getting her discharged, loaded and away again. She was unloaded this morning and came from the refinery to Folsom street. She will be loaded tomorrow, and on Tuesday Captain Christensen will be under way for Hawaii again.

While lying in the sugar port the brigantine was in a predicament. When ready to sail the anchor was found to be fast under a bowlder. The entire crew could not move it and Captain Christenson was in despair. Finally he enlisted the services of a Kanaka diver, and the latter soon set the vessel free. He made two dives down into fourteen fathoms of water, and on the second attempt released the vessel after being down two minutes and

When picked up he was insensible, and when the Almora came to an anchor he was at once sent to the marine Hospital. During the voyage two other men were injured, and they were two other men were injured, and they were in the sick ward when the bark arrived. The American barkentine Chehalis has just completed a wonderful voyage. She went from San Francisco to Vladivostock in Siberia, thence to Hakodate in Japan and back to this port in 103 days. The distance covered is over 12,000 miles, and considering that at each port the vessel had to discharge and load the record is a wonderful one. The barkentine is almost a new vessel, having been built in Washington in 1891. On all her voyages she has made fast time, but on this occasion she made fast time, but on this occasion she has broken the record.

> Diamond street, near Twenty-fifth, was the scene of an exciting shooting scrape yesterday afternoon, in which Mrs. Mary McCarthy, who lives at 29 Carolina street, made a strenuous endeavor to take the life of Jack Duffy, employed as a driver at Gray Brothers stone' quarry on Clipper and Douglass streets. It seems to be the same old story of 'hell hath no fury like a woman scorned.' The general opinion of sporting men about town is that Corbett will have his Duffy, it appears, has been going with hands full if he attempts to put Sharkey the woman clandestinely for some time and to sleep in a four-round contest. I cannot understand why McAuliffe is not recognized by the boxing clubs of this City. Considering their proximity it seems quarry, passing in a buggy, jumped from his seat and snatched the revolver from the hand of the irate woman. The team Duffy had left standing in the street took fright at the shot and went tearing down toward Castro street, where it was stopped without any injury to itself or others. Evidently fearing that his horse would imitate Duffy's team the foreman jumped into his buggy and started for the stone quarry, where he acquainted the men engaged of the condition of affairs. In the meantime Mary had seized Duffy with a steel-like grip and was hysterically moaning forth the story of her wrongs and reproaching him for his infidelity to attracted by the unusual spectacle, and the man, evidently wishing to avoid the otoriety of the affair, desperately endeavored to make the woman loosen her hold of him. Perhaps he would have succeeded in spite of the deathlike grip she had taken but for his seeming desire not to injure her, and though she was several times thrown to her knees she continued to cling to the object of her vengeance, tearfully crying that she must either have money to nelp her out of her troubles or she would have his life.

About this time the quarry foreman returned, and, driving near the curbstone, spoke to her. She turned her head to listen and Duffy adroitly seized the opportunity to break loose. Once free, he ran Piedmont cara.
