Lured by his promises, they went to Honolulu and found that wages were only $15 per month, out of which they were required to pay for medical attendance.

They returned to this city almost penniless about fifteen days ago and on last Monday, being unable to pay their room rent, were turned out of their humble lodgings. Interpreter Da Silva of the Chinese Bureau attempted to get them employment at their trade as stone masons, but not belonging to a labor union they were not accepted. They are now wandering about the Latin quarter, hungry and penniless.

Jeffries informed his friends yesterday that he was doing some light training, but if the amount of work he accomplished is taken into account the big fellow did some heavy work. He arose at 7 o'clock and after breakfast strolled through the streets of Oakland. At 10 o'clock he went to the gymnasium of the Reliance Club and exercised for two hours. He skipped the rope, punched the bag for twenty minutes, pulled and hauled big Bob Armstrong all over the ring and fought an imaginary opponent with dumbbells. Jeffries did not box out of consideration for his sparring partners' feelings. Armstrong is suffering from sore hands and Brother Jack has a few sore spots on his anatomy that hurt when struck by the champlon.

During the roughing it with Armstrong the colored man tried to force Jeff's head back with his elbow. Jim stood the strain, but after he had finished the work he expressed a soreness in his "Adam's apple." In talking he gave the impression that he had caught cold. Jim said he simply strained his vocal chords and would not be able to sing for a few days. Jeffries attended the theater in the evening and laughed over the jokes and wittleisms of the comedians. For a man who has a big contract on his hands, he is the most indifferent man in the world. He allows Billy Delaney, his trainer, to do the worrying. He knows he is in condition to enter the ring, and having had a number of championship battles, experiences no nervousness as to the outcome of the fight.

ARRY CORBETT, who will referee the heavyweight champlonship battle Friday night, stated yesterday that he would instruct Jeffries and Ruhlin that they would have to protect themselves in the clinches. He said:

"There will be no delay when the men enter the ring. I understand the rules thoroughly and will instruct them that they can hit in the clinches. I will not, however, permit one man to hold the other and then punch him. Either man may punch if his hands, but despite all manner of persuasive urging on his part Nannie won out by a length, Rush Fields struggled in a distant third, followed by Bonnie Lissak, Morinel, Essence and Herculean.
No other very warm favorites were served at the collation, which was perhaps a fortunate circumstance for the talent. Short priced horses were not seen at their best, as Josle G and The Singer were the only favorites to be encased in brackets. The attendance was large, with an abundance of coin in the ring.

Johnny Woods, on Sea Lion in the Blue and Gold handicap at six furlongs, put up a capital finish, leading out Diderot a head. The last named three-year-old at the commencement enjoyed first call in the betting, until a plunge on Sea Lion developed large proportions, sending Caesar Young's mud lark to the post a 7 to 5 choice. Hoar, on Diderot, with Frank Kenney as close companion, cut out the running. Squared for home, Kenney had enuly at the paddock with Sea Lion and in a furious drive won by a head, getting a well deserved reception from the crowd. An 8 to 5 favorite, he stumbled at the start, losing half a dozen lengths or more. When the Miller and Imperious had grown leg weary and began backing up the favorite experienced no difficulty in passing them. Imperious got the place.

El Oriente, a Baldwin stable representative, took the concluding race of the day. As good as 6 and 8 to 1, the gelding made all the pace, finishing four lengths before Dunblane at the wire. San Venado, the favorite, could not raise a gallop in the going.
