

"I'LL NOT ADMIT DEFEAT; I'LL FACE WHAT COMES CHEERFULLY," CRIES MRS. GLADYS E. AOKI

White Wife in Her New Nevada Home Discusses Suit for Divorce Against the Japanese

"I'VE LOST HUSBAND—GAINED BABY" "Think of It, at 22 I'm Pioneer Mother of Race Problem," Declares Recent Bride as She Weeps Over Her Little Girl

By HARRY DAVIDS [Special Dispatch to The Call]

CARSON CITY, Nev., May 30.—From the broken threads of her lost loves, Mrs. Gladys Emery Aoki, only daughter of Archdeacon Emery of the San Francisco diocese of the Episcopal church and wife of a Japanese houseboy, has woven a philosophic robe as strange as her own unique social position and as perplexing as her feminine moods.

For many hours she discussed the perplexing international question, quietly, calmly and in a manner of one whose knowledge is from books and little else besides. She examined with microscopic care the remnants of her shattered household gods, obtaining from one piece a laugh, from another a sociological deduction, just as it suited her mood and the whim of the moment.

"Great heavens, I am but 22 years old! It is not the fashion of 22 to submit to defeat."

Therefore she builds her structure of philosophy—the wonderful, wonderful philosophies of 22. Only, in this instance there is no sign of priggishness, no trace of that charming, flamboyant conceit of young blood. She explained:

"The continual knowledge that one is apart from human kind, that one is not as other men, is not a thing for which to give pharasaical thanks. Far from it. I am not asking for sympathy or throwing myself upon the pity or mercy of the onlookers, but—"

"There are four in the family, living in a red brick cottage here, at Third and Division streets, until such time as Mrs. Aoki shall have acquired a legal residence in Nevada and secure her divorce. There is Mrs. Emery, the mother. She predominates. She guards her daughter's doings and comings, her speech and her dress. Mrs. Aoki may be the central figure in the eyes of the public, but in the cottage she meekly accepts a second place, allowing her mother to rule."

Mrs. Emery Rules "Mrs. Emery is a gray haired woman with a face and demeanor spelling absolute and unhesitating obedience from those around her. She has a quick, stern manner, speaks emphatically to the point and often in harsh and somewhat embarrassing language."

Mrs. Aoki's attitude throughout has been one of the marvels of the friends of the family. She upheld her daughter in the latter's desires to marry Aoki when the general expectation was that she would be the strongest opposition would come from her. Following the marriage she spent much of her time at the Aoki home in Seattle, and now when Mrs. Aoki seeks a divorce she once again assumed command. The girl is under her absolute sway. In interviews the mother is ever present, and she acts as the arbiter and judge of all questions.

"May I answer that question, mother?" was one of the frequent remarks made by her, and almost invariably the answer came back:

"No. Don't say anything." "But mother—" and there would begin a pleading of a girl who, seeing herself a virtual outcast from society, longs with all the pitiful loneliness of 22 years to set herself right. At times, when the girl's enthusiasm for her argument would lead her to sweep along, the mother's uplifted finger would check her and she would drop into confused silence.

Second in Household "Secondly in the household is the baby, a wife of a girl named Frances, and in her face is the question which is bothering two nations, that of the amalgamation of the Japanese and American races. The upper face of the child is purely and solely Japanese. It has the high cheek bones, the straight, dark hair and the slit, slanted eyes. The mouth, however, is of the faintest of Cupid's bows with dimples on either side. The combination of the two races is a curious thing. The child is a mixture of the two, and she is a very interesting study. She is a very beautiful child, and she is a very interesting study. She is a very beautiful child, and she is a very interesting study.

Foreign "Mrs. Aoki and Senator Root have long conversations in London. The Japanese and American races are a very interesting study. The child is a very beautiful child, and she is a very interesting study.

Sports "Doctor Fredericks of Claremont wins the northern California golf championship. Corbett arrives unharmed at Rowardman and gives marvellously fast workout. Bubbling Water steps one and an eighth miles in 1:39:2.5 in Decoration Day handicap.

Marine "Steamer Umattilla is all ready to carry a big crowd to Nome. Tornado hits Wichita—Wichita, Kan., May 30.—A miniature tornado hit Wichita Sunday night and did damage to residences, barns, orchards and other property. No lives were lost. The Wichita Western league baseball park was damaged heavily.

ROOT TALKS LONG WITH ROOSEVELT

After Confab in London, Former President Declines to Be Interviewed

Colonel Takes Tea With Mrs. Ward and Dines With Lord Beresford

LONDON, May 30.—Former President Roosevelt had an opportunity today to hear something of affairs in the United States. By appointment he met Senator Elihu Root, who is passing through London on his way to The Hague.

Roosevelt and his former secretary of state had a long talk at Ambassador Reid's residence. Asked later what interesting subject kept them together for so long a time, Roosevelt laughingly replied:

"This is one of the cases in which I must observe my usual reticence." Upon his arrival in Europe Roosevelt wrote to Senator Root asking the senator to meet him. Acceptance of this invitation only came last night by wireless from the steamer Lapland, on which Root was traveling.

Roosevelt early this evening made a call on Mrs. Humphrey Ward, with whom he took tea. He dined with Lord Charles Beresford, whose guests included many prominent citizens of the United States. Ambassador Reid was present, as were Admiral Sir Edward Hobart Seymour, Admiral Sir Gerard Henry Noel, Vice Admiral Sir Hedworth Lambton, Lord Roberts, Lord Alverstone and Lord Rotheschild.

The Royal geographical society entertained Roosevelt and several other distinguished persons at luncheon today.

Among those invited to meet the former president were Lord Kitchener, Commander Robert E. Peary, Lord Curzon, Lord Strathcona, high commissioner of Canada; Sir Harry H. Johnston, Sir Francis Younghusband, Frederick C. Selous, the hunter and naturalist, and Ian Buxton.

FIREMEN OVERCOME, BUT NONE IS KILLED

Score of Flame Fighters Suffer at Blaze in Denver

DENVER, Colo., May 30.—While trying to rescue persons from a burning building late this afternoon a score of firemen and volunteers were overcome by smoke and were with difficulty themselves rescued alive.

The most seriously afflicted is Chester Campbell, a truck driver, who suffered from convulsions caused by the smoke. Among the firemen who were overcome were Chief Terry Owens, Assistant Chief Haller and Captain Louis Goodman. E. R. Copeland, who was aiding the firemen, fell into the burning building and was carried out barely in time to save his life.

The fire, which raged for more than an hour in the wholesale grocery house of Spratlin & Anderson, caused a loss of $100,000. The upper floors of the building were used as a storehouse by the International harvester company.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE AGAINST MRS. DOXEY

Woman on Trial for Murder of Husband Predicted Death

ST. LOUIS, May 30.—The most damaging evidence yet introduced against Mrs. Mora E. Doxey, accused of the murder of William J. Erder, was presented today.

First an attorney testified that the woman in a letter had predicted the death of a relative and sought to have certain indebtedness held up pending the settlement of his estate.

Then the pastor of the church to which the Doxey family belonged in Columbus, Neb., told of their straightened circumstances and just before adjournment tonight Mrs. Katherine Erder, mother of the dead man, corroborated the testimony of her daughter, Miss Kate Erder, who is regarded as Mrs. Doxey's nemesis.

CHAMP CLARK WANTS TO SUCCEED CANNON

Democrat Says He'd Rather Be Speaker Than Senator

WASHINGTON, May 30.—"I would rather be speaker for two years than United States senator for 18 years," said Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, the democratic leader of the house, today.

"Of course, there is nothing certain but death and taxes, but the democrat who belonged to the next house as sure as you are living, and I think I have a good show for the speakership."

ALMA KELLNER'S BODY DISCOVERED

Child Was Murdered and Not Kidnaped as Was at First Supposed

Police Search for Missing Janitor of Church Where Remains Were Found

LOUISVILLE, May 30.—That Alma Kellner, the 8 year old daughter of Fred L. Kellner of this city, was murdered and not kidnaped was proved today when her mutilated and dismembered body was found in an old cistern under a parish house of St. John's Catholic church, five blocks from her home.

The girl disappeared December 8.

About 10 o'clock this morning a plumber searching for a leak under the house discovered the body.

The police are looking for Joseph Wendling, former janitor at St. John's, who since January 14 has been missing. Mrs. Lena Wendling, wife of the missing man and house keeper for Father Schumann, pastor of St. John's church, is under surveillance.

In a sworn statement to the police this afternoon Mrs. Wendling admitted washing muddy clothes of her husband shortly after the disappearance of the Kellner girl. The detectives examined these clothes—trousers, shirt and hat—and declare they are still blood stained on them.

Confronted with a gold ring and a pin found in her trunk and after the pin had been positively identified by the mother of the long missing child as one that Alma wore the day she disappeared, Mrs. Wendling maintained a stolid demeanor and casually vouchsafed the information that the pin and ring had been given her by a boy who found them on the street.

The detectives believe the girl was murdered in the vicinity of the church and after attempt had been made to burn the body it was, as anticipated, buried in the old cistern and quicklime used to disintegrate the flesh. Every bone was broken and the skull was crushed and charred, indicating that the attempt to burn the body, if such was made, was interrupted or the perpetrator of the crime changed his mind regarding its disposal.

Frank Behr, the millionaire brewer and uncle of the girl, made a hasty examination and stated that the body was that of Alma Kellner, for whom he had been searching for months.

Wendling is 27 years old, about 5 feet 10 inches high, weighs about 160 pounds, has a small black mustache and dark hair and eyes. Mrs. Wendling is 42 years old. Wendling's parents live at Genlis, Cote d'Or, France.

GOULD JR. TRIES 15 CENT LODGINGS

Millionaire's Son Runs Away From School and Lands in Police Station

BRITAIN, Conn., May 30.—Edwin Gould Jr., son of Edwin Gould of Ardsley-on-the-Hudson, and grandson of the late Jay Gould, was found in the street here early today and taken to the police station.

Young Gould ran away from school in Pomfret Center Friday and arrived here footsore and weary. His grandmother, Mrs. George Shady of New York, is on the way here.

Policeman Patrick Quirk was attracted to the youngster as he limped along the street. The boy gave his name and said he wished to have his grandmother notified.

The officer took Gould, who is 16 years old, to the station, where, after he told the story of his adventures. He said he had been at the Pomfret school for three months and had got homesick. His parents had promised to run up and see him a week ago yesterday, but when they did not come he concluded he would try to walk to New York. He had 75 cents.

On Friday afternoon he struck out in the general direction of New York. Friday night he arrived at Williamsville and found a place to sleep near the railroad station. He said he did not mind sleeping in the open. He got hungry, though. On Saturday Gould said he walked all day, making about 50 miles, and reaching Hartford at night. He went to a 15 cent lodging house. Young Gould said:

"They put me in a room with six or seven colored men who were not clean. That was bad enough, but when I got into bed I found six or seven other things there. I could not stand it. I did not know just which way to go. I guess I went in circles. Sunday evening I went into a farm somewhere near a city, but the farmer turned me out. Then I kept walking and kept on going until an officer spoke to me and took me to the station house."

The police received word that Gould, the lad's father, was at Pomfret school this morning and upon learning of his son's absence started back toward New York.

CARS PACKED WITH PICNIC CROWDS CRASH ON CURVE AND MANGLE PASSENGERS

Conductor's Negligence in Observing His Signals Sends Two to Death And Maims Forty

[Special Dispatch to The Call] OAKLAND, May 30.—Two men are dead and 40 other persons are either fatally injured, maimed for life or seriously hurt as the result of a head-on collision between two speeding cars at 10:30 o'clock this morning in Fruitvale heights on the Leona heights line of the California electric railway.

On the shoulders of one man, according to the officials of the railway company, rests the blame for the terrible tragedy which has blighted a score of homes. W. J. Holdorf, conductor of one of the cars which met with terrific impact, is said by these officials to have admitted that his negligence alone made the accident possible and to have accepted the awful burden of responsibility.

CRASH ON SHARP CURVE With an unexpectedness that prevented all but the slightest realization of the impending calamity the two heavy, crowded cars crashed together on a sharp curve in a canyon three-quarters of a mile west of California railway junction at Fourteenth street in Fruitvale. Men, women and children were hurled, mangled and bleeding, to the ground or crushed into the splintered vestibule of the outboard car and carried with it, in helpless condition, as it ran backward 1,000 yards down grade without control.

Saddest of all the tragic features connected with the accident was the maiming of nearly a score of young children. Boys and girls, many of whom are not yet in their teens, were in the majority among those injured in the crash. Feet, legs and arms were sacrificed in the calamity, and in a single instant these victims were doomed to remain cripples for life.

Motorman C. A. Christensen, in charge of the outboard car,
