Arrangements for the Unveiling-An Ora- The Validity of the Health Ordinances Tested.

General McCook, of the local executive committee of the Army of the Cumberland, received a dispatch last evening from the Hon. Stanley Mathews accepting the invitation to deliver the address at the unveiling of the Thomas statue. Active preparations continue to be made looking to the complete success of the coming required.

The following-named gentlemen have been appointed on the committee of finance, making preparations for the require of the Army of the Police court and judgment given for the preparations for the preparation of the District yesterday occupied the clitizens of the District yeste storing and keeping scraps, lat and other offensive animal matter in a building within the city limits. The charges were first heard in the Police court and judgment given for the District. It was then brought up on certiorers. The information was based upon an ordinance of the Board of Health defining what a nuisance was and the sunishment invested for made was, and the punishment imposed for main-taining one. The questions interposed by the defense arc: First, Has the Police court general jurisdiction in unisances cases? Second, Has it special jurisdiction? Was the Board of Health authorized by the organic act of 1871 to pass laws to panish persons for keeping nuisances injurious to bealth, and to enforce the same by fine and imprisonment under criminal process? Is the ordinance of said Board passed November 19, 1875 a law or ordinance of the District of Columbia in force therein?

The plaintiff claims that an ordinance of the Board of Health is a law bluding on the people of the District, and can be enforced by the Police court. This the defendant denies, and sustains by citing the case of Bates against the Distict of Columbia, where the court in general term decided that the ordinance was not law. The counsel for the District asks the court to review this case and overrule it, being satisfied that it was not correct, and evident, from examination of the opinion of the court, delivered by Justice Olin, that it was based upon an entire misapprehension of the law and the facts in the case. Messrs, Riddle and Mil-ler appeared for the District, and Messrs, Birney & Birney for the defendant.

Miss Randall as Mrs. Alias Ketcham does catch 'em (joke!)—that is, high encomitums—all the time, and Miss Montejo as Miss Columbia is also greatly admired. The other characters are ably presented. The company remain but this week, and will be succeeded by Gas Williams, in his new success, "Our German Senator."

To the Editor of The National Republican:

Sin: From the high indersemements with which Dr. von Moschalsker came here, I was induced to place myself under his care for a case of cataryh deafness which gave me a great deal of uneasiness. His treatment proved a perfect success. I consider him a physician of great skill and judgment. I think it but a just tribute to him to make it known to all who need his medical services that I have the utmost confidence in his professional abilities, and advise them not to hesitate to call on him at 619 Nincteenth street and place themselves under his treatment. Wealth Easily Obtained.

Jay Gould, combining vast amounts of money with several great capitalists, has frequently made colossal profits in stock speculations, paying millitons to each shareholder. The new combination plan of Messrs, Lawrence & Co. confers similar benefits on the shareholders who invest small and large amounts, from $25 to $19,090. The money of thousands of customers is thus massed in one mighty sum, and, operated with the ripest experience and best skill, has secured the most brilliant successes. A hotel keeper in Ohio invested $100 in a combination, which netted $758. Three reinvestments resulted in a total profit of $13,501.18. A Boston gentleman invested $500 in a combination, which yielded a profit of $2,847.04; two reinvestments netted him $2,644.31. A Chicago merchant made $43,210.41 in four months of combination investments. New explanatory circular with "rules for unerring success."
