THURSDAY, AUG. 22, 1901.

Why argue a plain proposition or hesitate to vote for a well recognized and admitted need? Vote "Yes" on the proposition to bond the city for the purpose of establishing water works.

The Herald and the News readily seconded THE TIMES' agitation for water works; now let them do the same with the proposition to celebrate the centennial of the first settlement of the spot where our town stands. Interest in the movement is on the increase.

At a meeting of the State Board of Fund Commissioners at Jefferson City last Saturday, instructions were issued for the calling in, at the office of the State's fiscal agents in October, of $300,000 of the State's outstanding bonds. This will leave only $1,887,000 of the State's bonded indebtedness unpaid, and the announcement was made at the meeting of the Fund Commissioners that this will all be paid off by the close of next year. Missouri will then be out of debt, except its obligations to the State school and seminary funds, which have been made perpetual because they are the safest securities in which these funds can be invested. Besides fulfilling paying off its bonded indebtedness, the State will also have paid $1,000,000 to the Louisiana Purchase Fair to be held in 1903 by the beginning of that year. And this will all have been accomplished with about the lowest tax levy of any State in the Union, only 15 cents on the $100 valuation for State revenue purposes, one-third of which is appropriated to the support of public schools, and only 10 cents on the $100 valuation for the State interest and sinking fund.

With the payment of the last bond this levy of ten cents for State interest and sinking fund will go also, leaving only the 15 cent levy for State revenue to be paid by the taxpayers. Missouri is all right, all right. Missouri is a Democratic state.

FOR WATER WORKS—YES.

The qualified voters of the City of Farmington now have an opportunity to vote on a proposition that promises a better supply of water and water works for the town. It is no use to argue the need of these things, for it is recognized and admitted by every one. The proposition ought to carry without a dissenting vote; but some objection has been urged that the ordinance providing for the special election to submit the question of bonding the city for the purpose of establishing water works, does not set forth the character and plan of the water works to be constructed if the proposition carries. The Board of Aldermen did not believe it advisable to be the first place to incorporate any particular plans in the ordinance, which might thereafter prove embarrassing if it were found that some important changes should be made, and in the second place, it did not want to put the city to unnecessary expense in the event the proposition fails to carry. It is an open secret that the board favors the plan of sinking artesian wells to procure a supply of water, and that the most practical system of storing the water in reservoirs will be looked into and the best adopted.

Southeast Notes.

The Courier says that some very fine peaches are being brought to Bloomfield.

The Charleston Enterprise says the peach crop of Mississippi was never finer than it is this year.

DeSoto will have a new $25,000 opera house if the citizens subscribe $6,000 towards the building.

John Lamb was killed last week in Stoddard county by being caught under a falling tree which he had cut down.

Fredericktown was "dry" last week, as the licenses of all the saloons expired and the saloon men were unable to get enough signers to secure new licenses.

LIFE'S SPICE.

"Variety is the spice of life."

BY S. MCK. F.

A young girl said to me the other day that she and her brother wanted to make a contribution to the library, and this amount completed the necessary funds for a new library. That's the way I've remarked before that it would be an easy matter to get the funds for a library by asking for them, but I do not intend to do that; the contributions must be voluntary. The library only costs $2, and this expense should be evenly divided among the readers. We are indebted to Mrs. G. W. Williams, Mrs. David Hindeburg, Miss Kathie Wade, Lucy and Mary Jennings for this library. The library has been ordered and the catalogue will be published in this week's TIMES. Please cut it out for reference, and after cutting it out keep it and keep in mind the days, the hours and the books you want.

Several girls have asked me why I didn't have something to say about the boys in town as well as the girls. Certainly they deserve some mention, but maybe you have heard the story of a very profane man who was driving up a long hill with a load of potatoes. As he reached the top of the hill he discovered that the back board of the wagon had fallen out, the wagon bed was empty and the potatoes were distributed at various points of the hill. The bystanders expected to be shocked at the language indulged in, but there was only silence. Some one asked him why he didn't say something, and he said he had no words in his vocabulary to do the subjects justice. So it is with me on this subject, for I think it rather shocking to see a boy in the garb of a day laborer, sleeves rolled up displaying a black, hairy arm to the elbow, broad hat like those necessary for a field hand, talking to a girl with as much assurance as if he were properly dressed as possible. It may be comfortable, but it is not nice, and carelessness in attire is apt to lead to loss in care in conversation, to a sort of free and easy style that is not conducive to good manners and good breeding.

Here is a beautiful new gem by Ella Wheeler Wilcox:

WHICH ARE YOU?

There are two kinds of people on earth,
Just two kinds of people; no more nor less;
Not the sinner and saint, for 't is well
Understood between us, that we're all sinners.

Not the rich and the poor, for to count a man's wealth;

You must first know the state of his conscience;
Not the lame and the proud, for to size 'em up,
With a simple van-ace is not counted a man.

Not the happy and sad, for the swiftest flying years
Bring each man his laughter and earnest;
Nor the two kinds of people on earth I mean,
Are the people who lift and the people who lean.

Wherever you go you will find the world's masses;
And you'll find them divided in just these two classes;
And oddly enough you will find, too, that
There is only one litter to twenty who lean.

WHICH CLASS ARE YOU? Are you casting
The lot of the rich? Or the lot of the poor?
Or the lot of the lame? Who tots down the road?
Or are you a human, who lots others hear
Your portion of labor and worry and care?

In the public school fund had been kept invested in United States bonds, the public schools would now be deriving about $80,000 a year from the interest instead of $186,000, while the State would still be paying to the holders of State bonds interest on the amount of bonds which the certificates represent, thus paying out more on these bonds than it would be receiving from the United States bonds, as the latter bear a lower rate of interest.

The taxpayers would not be benefited and the public schools would be deprived of about $100,000 annually.

MAYOR WILSON SPEAKS.

Suggests a Meeting to Arrange for a Centennial Celebration.

FARMINGTON, Mo., Aug. 26.
The first settlement of the City of Farmington was made in 1801. I would suggest that a meeting of the citizens of the city and vicinity be held about the 7th of September, 1901, and arrangements be made to celebrate the same.

GEORGE M. WILSON, Mayor.

In this connection a brief sketch of the early settlement of this vicinity and the names of those who were active participants in that event, may prove interesting to our readers:

The first settlement of the country where Farmington now stands was made in 1801. According to a history of the State edited by C. R. Barnes and published in 1877, Rev. William Murphy, a Baptist preacher and a native of Ireland, who lived at the time in East Tennessee, procured in 1798 a land grant, and in company with his son George and Silas George, came on here and located claims. They then started back home, and Rev. Wm. Murphy and Silas George died on the journey.

From data obtained from Mr. Franklin Murphy of DeLassus, the oldest representative of the Murphy family now living, we learn that David, Dubart, William, John, and Richard Murphy, sons of Rev. William Murphy, came to this country in 1801. Richard prepared a home for his mother, Mrs. Sarah Murphy, on the claim where Judge Wm. Carter's residence now stands, and she and her sons Isaac and Jesse came on here in 1803.

David Murphy located his claim where J. H. White now lives, and cut the first tree in what is known as the "Murphy Settlement" in 1801. The first clearing was made near Fleming's spring, about where the Doubleton house stands, for a turnip patch for David Murphy.

Dubart Murphy, father of Mrs. Katherine Evans and Mrs. Isabella Long, who died February 14, 1900, settled on what is now known as the Evans place, about one mile east of the Court House.

William Murphy (known as "Billy the Good"), a son of David Murphy and the father of Franklin Murphy, now living at DeLassus, and as is mentioned above the oldest living representative of the Murphy family, settled in what is now known as Hill's Addition to Farmington, just where Will Lang's water tank stands.

William Murphy settled what is now known as the Hopkins place, about two miles south of Farmington, in 1802. The first church or "meeting house" west of the Mississippi river was built near the Masonic Cemetery, and the first Sunday school was organized and taught in that house by "Grandma" Sarah Murphy in about the year 1806.

Earlier settlements were made in other parts of the county, the first said to be at Big River Mills by John Alley, Andrew Baker, Francis Starner, John Andrews and their families, together with three or four young men, who located claims in 1794, but did not bring their families until 1796. In 1800 Nathaniel Cook located a claim in what is still known as the "Cook Settlement," near Libertyville. Soon after, in the same vicinity, Jas. Caldwell, Wm. Holmes, Jessie Blackwell, Elliott Jackson and James Davis located claims and made improvements.

From 1805 to 1810 settlements were made on Doe Run creek, Flat River and at various points on the St. Francois river by Squire Elmer Clay, John Robinson, Isaac and John Barnham, Lemuel Halstead, Samuel Rhodes, Solomon Jones and Mark Dent.

December 19, 1821, a year after Missouri's admission as a State, St. Francois county was organized from parts of Ste. Genevieve, Washington and Jefferson, and James Austin, Geo. McGaugh and James W. Smith were appointed as a County Court by Gov. Alexander McNair, the first Governor of the State. The first session of the court was held at the home of Jesse Murphy April 1st, 1822, when they appointed John D. Peers County Clerk.

The first Circuit Court was held at the same place and time, Hon. N. B. Tucker, judge, and John D. Peers, clerk. Henry Poston, John Andrews, Wm. Alexander and James Holbert were appointed commissioners to locate the county seat, and David Murphy, September 22, 1822, donated 55 acres of land for that purpose, of which the Public Square of Farmington is about the center, and the County Court accepted the donation February 27th, 1823. In 1824 a strap-pen and a log jail made double, and a brick court house were built.

Nothing Like Oil.

"In dealing with men, remember that a spoonful of oil will go farther than a gallon of vinegar." The same may be said of children. There is nothing so good for children as the old fashioned castor oil. However much they may abhor it, it is their best medicine for disorders of the bowels. In the more severe cases of diarrhoea and dysentery, however, Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy should be given after the oil operates, and a quick cure is sure to follow. As Excuse For Crime.

From the Indianapolis sentinel:
The Republican advocates of the ship subsidy, steal, forced by the indignation of the people to invent some excuse for taxing the whole nation in the interest of the few, offer as one argument in its favor the benefit of the subsidized vessels in times of war. Taking advantage of that stupidity which oftentimes possesses an intelligent people upon the invention of patriotic items, they make use of an argument that is positively silly. If a vast number of reasons were urged in favor of the measure we might be justified in ignoring this particular one. But in so far as it is one of the two most urpated.

Mr. E. M. Robinson of Poplar Bluff has brought suit for the recovery of her four-year-old son, who has been taken from her by the Probate Court and put in a home in St. Louis. The jury decided that as the woman was an inmate of a house of ill fame she was not the proper person to care for the child.

RECOMMENDS CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY.

ABOUT 18 MONTHS AGO MR. W. S. MANNING OF ALBANY, N. Y., WIDELY KNOWN IN TRADE CIRCLES AS THE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE AUBURN CHEMICAL CO., WAS SUFFERING FROM A PROTRACTED ATTACK OF DIARRHOEA. "I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," he says, "and obtained immediate relief. I cheerfully recommend this medicine to those similarly afflicted." This remedy is not an astrigent and for that reason has bad effects follow it up. It checks the diarrhea by curing the disease which causes it. It never fails and is pleasant to take.
