BALLOON CONTESTS NOW IN PROGRESS

England, Germany, France And America Are Represented in the Events.

FOR GORDON BENNETT CUP.

THE CONTESTS WILL EXTEND OVER A WEEK—THERE WILL BE MUCH RUBBERNECKING FOR SOME DAYS.

St. Louis, Oct. 21.—At 4 p. m., nine balloons representing England, Germany, France and America, will begin the second international race for the James Gordon Bennett cup.

Rubbernecks will line the course of the aerial racers and for a week upturned eyes will sweep the skies for glimpses of the big gas bags and their pilots as they scurry along, each seeking but one goal—that of capturing the generous cash prizes and the James Gordon Bennett trophy.

In racing for the trophy the daring aviators take their lives in their own hands. It is a race with death for aid and honors.

This is the second contest of the nature ever held. The first one was held in Paris, France, in September of last year, when the cup was won by an American, Lieut. Frank P. Lahm, of the United States army.

Contests Will Last One Week. Five days will be devoted to the contests. Today is the long distance contest for the Bennett trophy.

Today will be given over to the aeroplanes or flying machines of the heavier-than-air type. Wednesday the machines of the lighter-than-air type will hold forth, and Thursday flying machines will contest for the Scientific American cup.

The cup which Lahm holds is an object of art in massive silver valued at $2,500 and was offered by James Gordon Bennett to the aeronaut covering the longest distance in a single flight.

The law knew nothing about this arrangement and the earl did as he had promised. He placed the 100 guineas where the highwayman might at his leisure collect it.

Years afterward he attended a great banquet in the city and found himself pleasantly entertained by an extremely well known man whose signature was good for a sum in several figures.
