

BRYAN IS CONFIDENT

Hard Battle to Be Fought in Pennsylvania Today.

MAY GO UNINSTRUCTED.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 20.—The democratic state convention, which meets today to elect four delegates at large to the Denver convention, promises to be one of the warmest in the recent history of that party.

The fight is whether the convention shall send the four delegates at large under instructions to vote for William Jennings Bryan or whether they shall go to Denver unfettered.

Col. James M. Guffey of Pittsburgh, national committeeman from Pennsylvania, was positive last night the convention will not instruct the delegates. The colonel has made the statement that he and his followers will control the convention two to one.

On the other hand the Bryan leaders claim they will have a safe majority and the delegates will go to Denver under instructions to vote for the Nebraskan.

The leaders of the Guffey faction have decided upon H. A. O'Boyle of Luzerne county for permanent chairman, while the Bryan men support William T. Cressy of Columbia county.

AN HONEST MAN SAVED BY A PHILANTHROPIST.

Mr. T. A. Morgan, of Hammond, Ind., had suffered for years with his stomach and kidneys, and while the great Root Juice scientist was proving the merits of the Root Juice remedy to the people of northern Indiana, Mr. Morgan purchased six bottles of the Juice and while it was being wrapped up, he said: "If Root Juice cures me I will make the scientist a present of one hundred dollars." A short while ago Mr. Morgan called on the scientist and said that he could eat anything without the slightest inconvenience and that his kidney trouble was entirely cured. He wanted the scientist to take the one hundred dollars, but it was refused. However, it was agreed to give the money to an orphan asylum. So Root Juice is not only curing the sick, but in this instance will be the indirect means of caring for some dead mother's child. Root Juice has proved its wonderful merits to many people of this point. From the very start it seems to soothe and heal the linings of the stomach and bowels and strengthen the liver and kidneys, thereby giving nature a chance to, in her own way, throw off the impurities of the blood. It is a wonderful medicine, sold for $1.00 a bottle or three for $2.50, at A. G. Luken & Co.'s drug store.

COW FEEDS A SHOAT, BY HECK

Motherless Squealer Gets Good Meals.

Stockley, Del., May 20.—To be adopted by a cow is the good luck of a small pig that is being reared on the farm of Albert Burton near here. The mother of the pig died some time ago, and when it was running about the pasture, squealing, the old cow took notice of it. Since then they have become great friends and when the cow lies down in the meadow the pig secures meals of warm milk. The cow seems to take great pride in her founding.

The Contrary Mule.

A farmer in Kentucky sought advice from a veterinarian about a sick mule. The doctor advised calomel, five times the dose for a man.

"How can I make him take it?"

"You put a stick of wood three-quarters of an inch thick between his teeth, and then you take this rubber tube, put the calomel in it, insert it in the mule's mouth, which is held open by the piece of wood, and blow the medicine down his throat."

"That's easy enough," said the farmer.

Three weeks later the doctor met the farmer, who had changed greatly. He was emaciated, humped, ghastly and banded in heavy wrappings.

"Why, what's the matter?" said the doctor.

The farmer sighed deeply and spoke feebly. "That mule," he said, "that cursed, idiotic, fool mule! You see, I got ready just as you told me, got the tube in his mouth ready to blow, and then," he paused for breath, "then that infernal mule blew first!"

Thoughts Breed.

Hatred, envy, malice, jealousy and revenge all have children. Every bad thought breeds others, and each of these goes on and on, ever reproducing itself, until a world is peopled with their offspring.—O. S. Marden.

Presiding and Planting.

Rutherford B. Hayes while president and visiting his home in Ohio passed the farm of a neighbor who was planting potatoes in a patch near the road. The president, being somewhat of a farmer himself, noticed some peculiarity in his neighbor's style of planting, and after a few minutes' chat he called attention to it, and the old man argued the point awhile.

"After all," concluded the president, "I don't think you are doing it as it should be done for the best results."

The old farmer rested his arm on the fence and looked steadily at Mr. Hayes.

"They ain't neither one of us," he said, "and the only thing I know about us, but if you just go on presidential the United States your way an' I go on plantin' potatoes my way I guess we won't be no wuss off."

Love and Business.

In 1797 M. Peter Caesar Labouchere, then a clerk in the banking house of Hope & Co., Amsterdam, was sent by his patrons to Mr. Baring, the London banker, to negotiate a loan. He displayed in the affair so much ability as to win the esteem and confidence of the great English financier.

"Faith," said Labouchere one day to Baring, "your daughter is a charming creature. I wish I could persuade you to give me her hand."

"Young man, you are joking, for, seriously, you must allow that Miss Baring could never become the wife of a simple clerk."

"But," said Labouchere, "if I were in partnership with Mr. Hope?"

"Oh, that would be quite a different thing. That would entirely make up for all other deficiencies."

Returned to Amsterdam, Labouchere said to his patron, "You must take me into partnership."

"My young friend, how can you think of such a thing? It is impossible. You are without fortune, and"

"But if I became the son-in-law of Mr. Baring?"

"In that case the affair would be soon settled, and so you have my word."

Fortified with these two promises, M. Labouchere returned to England and in two months after married Miss Baring and became a partner in the house of Hope & Co. Henry Labouchere, editor of London Truth, is his grandson.

Sociable With the Pig.

A candidate on paying a second visit to the house of a doubtful voter was somewhat surprised at hearing him say that he would support him.

"Glad to hear it," said the candidate.

"I thought you were against me."

"So I was at first," replied the voter.

"When you called here the other day and stood by that pig and talk for half an hour ye didn't budge me an inch, but after you had gone away, sir, I got to thinkin' how ye'd reached yer hand over the rail and scratched the pig's back till he lay down w' the pleasure of it. I made up my mind that when a man was so sociable as that w' a poor fellow creature I wasn't the one to vote against him."

Generous Feelings.

I do seem to be extraordinarily interested in a whole lot of arts and things that I have got nothing to do with. It is a part of my generous, liberal nature. I can't help it. I feel the same sort of charity for everybody that was manifested by a gentleman who arrived at home at 2 o'clock in the morning from the club and was feeling so perfectly satisfied with life, so happy and so comfortable, and there was his house weaving, weaving, weaving around. He watched his chance, and by and by when the steps got in his neighborhood he made a jump and climbed up and got on the portico.

And the house went on weaving and weaving, but he watched the door, and when it came around his way he plunged through it. He got to the stairs, and when he went up on all fours the house was so uneasy that he could hardly make his way, but at last he got to the top and raised his foot and put it on the top step. But only the toe hitched on the step, and he rolled down and fetched up on the bottom step, with his arm around the newel post, and he said, "God pity the poor sailors out at sea on a night like this."—Mark Twain.

All Foods Digest

Kodol alone digests all foods completely. That is easily proved, and we guarantee it. Pepsin digests albumen only. Most digesters are but partial helps. Kodol does all, and its action begins at once.

There is no such thing as a cure for dyspepsia. We might as well talk about a cure for lame ankles.

Nature must do the curing. And Nature will do it when given the chance.

Tonics and stimulants may seem to help for a time. But their effect comes only from spurring the stomach to action. And weakness cannot be cured with a spur.

One must relieve the stomach. Let Kodol do, for a little time, what the stomach fails to do.

Help it as you help a lame ankle. Rest it, as you rest other organs that need to recuperate. And stop the irritation of hard, undigested food.

You will be surprised to note how quickly the stomach can regain its strength.

All modern treatments for indigestion aim at this relief. But they aim in different ways.

Some advise dieting. That brings partial relief by omitting some elements which the stomach can't digest.

But the omitted foods are important. The body requires many food elements. When you cut some of them out, you are robbing some part.

How can Nature restore digestive strength if you deprive it of nourishment?

Another common way is to take pepsin, or digesters which depend almost solely on pepsin. That helps a little for pepsin digests albumen. But only part of your food is albumen. Pepsin can't digest starch; it can't digest fat. What will become of them?

It is essential to have a digester which completely digests all food. That is Kodol. There is nothing else which contains all the needed elements.

A perfect digester can be put up only in liquid form. That is why Kodol is liquid. And, because it is liquid, like the digestive juices, its action is almost instant.

This is very easily proved. Take Kodol after the meal, and note the absence of pain, of fermentation, of gas. It is evident that the food is digesting.

Or mix Kodol with food in a test tube, under proper conditions, and one can see it digest. Not part of the food, as with pepsin, but all of it.

You can find no other digester which will meet such a test, for there is none.

Will you use a digester that goes but half way? Or will you give to the stomach that complete relief which comes only from the use of Kodol?

Our Guarantee

You may prove, without the risk of a penny, what Kodol can do. Buy one large bottle, and ask your druggist for the signed guarantee. If the results are not satisfactory, take the empty bottle back and your druggist will return your money.

This offer is made on the large bottle only, and to but one in a family. That will amply prove how much Kodol means to you. Then please tell your friends who need this help how easy it is to obtain it.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. The $1.00 bottle contains 2½ times as much as the 50c bottle.
