

THE SOCIAL WHIRL

Edited by Miss E. Elizabeth R. Thomas.

PLAINT OF THE SILKWORM.

The silkworm remarked, with a sob
"I soon will be out of a job, For the women their skirts so abbreviate They use two yards where they should use eight,
And with us that is raising hob."

"When I gaze at the throng on Broadway
On any old sunny day I see Lottie, Olivia, Alice and Betty
With petticoats none or with petticoats petty,
And I am constrained to say:

"Oh, give us the days of yore When the old fashioned skirt they wore!
It measured full many a yard around,
It had a train that would wipe the ground
And was bulged with gore upon gore."

The silkworm remarked with a sigh;
"An idle young worm am I,
For the maiden now dresses so you can see Much more of her than you can of me.
Does the fashion of Eve draw nigh?"

—New York Globe.

FEARING-ISERMAN.

Simplicity marked the wedding of Miss Cora Iserman, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Iserman, of South Eighth street, and Mr. Fred W.
Fearing, a prominent young druggist, of Dayton, Ohio. The affair was celebrated today at high noon at the parsonage of the St. Paul's Lutheran church, the Rev. Conrad Huber performing the ceremony. The bride wore a beautiful white embroidered gown, handsomely fashioned with lace.

She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses.
Immediately after the ritual had been said the wedding guests went to the home of the bride where a wedding dinner in several courses was served. Many beautiful gifts were received by the bride and groom which will add to the attractiveness of their cozy furnished home at 216 Kiefaber street, South Park, Dayton, Ohio. Late this afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Fearing left for an extended wedding trip to Ashland, Kentucky, and different points in West Virginia. The bride's going away gown was a dark blue tailored cloth. They have the best wishes of their hosts of friends in this city for a most happy future. Mrs. Fearing will be greatly missed by her coterie of friends in social circles.

CUSTOMS OF CALLING.

The interest taken by the woman of today in athletics, in the world, in affairs of public tenor, has brought about at least one welcome social change—the abolition of the social call.
No longer are upper blinds seen to flutter suspiciously while mail or butler utters the solemn "Not at home" to relieved callers. The allotted twenty minutes of platitudes, during which hostess and guest conversed about such vital topics as the weather or the servant situation, is reckoned as so much wasted time by the busy woman of today.

This gradual disappearance of the calling custom does not mean a consequent dampen upon social activity.
What it does signify is a more sincere and a more natural phase of sociability. Today a woman rings up the friend she wishes to see on the telephone and arranges for a friendly little visit. The stiff rose and gilt of the front parlor have yielded to the cozy depths of the living room easy chairs, and the staid conversation of the reception room to the cozy clatter of the tea table.

What a bugbear were the "Tuesdays" or "Thursdays" of the society leader, from which continued absence spelled social oblivion. Many a heartache originated in these drawing rooms of the dictator, where cuts were dealt right and left and the arrows

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo. — "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak
I could hardly walk.
I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it.
Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow.
I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl." —Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try it?

sent out by a sarcastic or satirical tongue caused a sting which lasted for weeks. A vise of stiff silk, burning patent leathers and other insignia of correct dress are not conducive to kindness and good cheer, especially on a warm day. For these very obvious reasons we hail with joy the passing of an era of silly formality, hastening to welcome in its stead the custom of "just dropping in for a chat" or an afternoon visit.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

A number of local horsemen left this morning for Logansport to attend the annual meeting of the Logansport Driving club. The horses entered this year are much faster and a successful meet is predicted.

The Indiana State Baptists convention will be held in Bluffton, October 10-12. This is one of the largest religious gatherings in the state. There will be a large delegation from Richmond attend the meeting.

According to the reports that are being sent over the state the supply of quail and rabbits will be very plentiful this fall. State commissioner of fisheries and game, George Miles states that the large increase is due to the many game preserves in the state.

If the reports sent out from Rushville are true, James Watson, ex-congressman from the Sixth district and a once candidate for Governor of the state, still has the political bee in his bonnet. It is stated by the Rushville Republican, that it is possible he may be a candidate for congressman against Finly Gray in 1912.

A Crowd Assured.
"Can't we have our marriage celebrated quietly, dear duke?"
"You mean without so great a crowd?"
"Yes."
"I'm afraid not. My creditors are quite sure to find us out, and every one will be here."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Well Begun—Half Done.
Sidney was walking on the beach with his Uncle John when his uncle told him that if he could find two pebbles exactly alike he would give him a dollar. Full of glee, Sidney began searching. By and by he ran to his uncle crying: "Oh, Uncle John, I've found one of them!"—Delineator.

Artful Innocence.
"I wish I was a moth," was the eni-gmatical declaration made by a young married woman to her husband.

"Why?"
"Because I should be able to get into some new clothes!"

The fact that they cannot carry a tune does not deter some men from singing their own praises.—Philadel-
