PHILADELPHIA SURE TEAM WILL REPEAT

Merkle's Injury to Ankle Casts Gloom Over the Giant Players.

DEPEND ON LUCK

Schang's Triple Yesterday Considered Slightly on the Fluke Order.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—In this town today the fans feel sure that the home team will win the baseball championship. Most of them think the series will go six games, others five, while the most enthusiastic are predicting four straight.

The 6-to-4 victory of the Athletics yesterday, aided and abetted by the clouting of Home Run Baker, who included a little four-base swat in his batting hit, was the factor that made the Athletics' supporters so certain of ultimate victory in the series.

Giants in Gloom.—The gloom in the Giants' camp was deepened by the spraining of Merkle's ankle, which was sprained in the sixth inning of yesterday's game. The plucky first baseman insisted that he would be able to get back into the game this afternoon with his ankle in a brace, but the team's doctor declared that the warrior would be taking a long chance.

The injury to Merkle is an especially hard blow, because Snodgrass, the only other man on the team capable of holding down first base during such a crisis, is laid up with a "charley horse."

Merkle begged McGraw to allow him to go into the game on his nerve, but McGraw had seen many such exhibitions of nerve in the past and he knew that more harm than good probably would result.

Issue Undecided.—Looking back over the fray yesterday the non-partisan fan is not quite able to figure out why the Athletics' supporters are so extremely optimistic, or the two thousand Giant fans who followed the team here, so pessimistic. True, the Athletics won, and it is also true that the Quaker City athletes chased two giant twirlers from the mound. But the Athletics did not outplay the Giants by any wide margin in any department of the game.

The much talked of "breaks" were annexed solely by the Athletics. The law of average must figure in a world's series combat as well as anything else and the Giants are due for their share of "breaks."

Schang's triple yesterday was slightly on the fluke order, and for a time the scorers were nonplussed as to how to record the play. The drive was a terrific one. Schang, the Giant's centerfielder, ran back for it, paused just a second too soon, saw the liner was going past him, and jumped into the air. The ball plumped against his gloved hand and then skidded away. Had Schang been one inch farther out he would have snared the drive that resulted in two Athletics runs.

Home Run Feature.—Baker's home run was one of the deciding factors of the game. But, mighty slugger that he is, Baker can't hammer out circuit wallops every day.

The unkind way in which the Athletics treated Marquard, the Giants' star southpaw, disheartened the Giants as well as their supporters. But the Rube stacks up as one of the greatest pitchers in the game. All of the have their off days, and it looked as if yesterday was Rube's.

Tesreau's fine work in the two innings that he worked as a relief pitcher, has given the Athletics a "chance" of a fine chance to clutter up the atmosphere with their expressions. One and all they'll tell you today that if McGraw had sent Tesreau against the Athletics yesterday, the New Yorkers would have won.

URGES ATHLETICS IN BIBLE SCHOOLS

R. W. Lookabill, at Baptist Meeting, Says Boys Are Attracted.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 8.—"Athletics in the Sunday School serve two purposes," said R. W. Lookabill at the Marion County association of Baptist Sunday Schools yesterday. "They divert the schools and attract boys into the church, who would be interested by no other means."

That the mother should be a companion of her children and try to meet them on their own level, was the statement of Mrs. Fred H. Hove. This is necessary, she said since the church, an institution is too far removed from the social side of the adolescent child's life.

PRESIDENT KEEPS TAB ON EACH GAME

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Surrounded by official papers with a telegraph instrument rattling merrily in the next room, President Wilson yesterday kept close tabs on the first game of the big series. The results of the game were sent to him by telegraph, and the president showed all matters of an official nature to lay in abeyance while he read of what the Athletics did to Marquard; how Baker came back, and other things of interest in connection with the opening game.

GLOOM HANGS OVER EARLHAM PLAYERS

Coach Dissatisfied With the Lack of Fighting Spirit.

The Earlham football team was given its second scrimmage practice yesterday afternoon, and although the men are showing good fighting spirit, Coach Reagan said they are too slow to get on to the signals. He said there would have to be a great improvement in the smoothness of the team work before Saturday.

Coach Reagan was very much encouraged at first by the fighting spirit of the players and at the number who first came out to try for the varsity, but since the real scrimmage has begun he feels that the men ought to begin to develop some real winning team work.

Three of the best Freshmen candidates are out of the running, two on account of parental objection and one on account of a sprained ankle.

Woodgate of Greenwood, and Henly of Kansas have both received notices from their parents stating strict objections to their entering the game.

Thornton, one of the bright prospects for a strong backfield, got his ankle badly sprained and will be out for the first game if no longer.

MANY ODD BETS POSTED IN CITY

Betting in Richmond today indicated that Philadelphia was the favorite here for today's game. Not as many bets were placed today as yesterday.

Up to ten o'clock New York money was circulating through Athletic backers could not be found. Before noon the odds seemed to favor the Athletics though all bets were made merely as a gamble.

A bet of $50 or any part of it was posted at one of the hotels that the total number of runs made by both teams would be an odd number.

A Richmond man backing New York to win yesterday, lost over $700. A bet of $50 to $40 was offered by him when Philadelphia was one run to the good.

In several cigar stores bets were posted on both teams as to which would score the first run.

THEIR VIEWS TODAY

"I have made a long and careful study of the Giants and my hope is true to the letter. We have too much speed on the bases and in the field for the National league, and with good stick work and the luck with us, I can see nothing but victory. The series will be close and hard fought, but I look for four victories in five games. Blank, Shawkey, Bush and Brown are all set for the remaining games."

"It will be the pitching of my men that will win for the Giants, this despite Marquard's showing in the opener. Jack has assembled a great team, they are great hitters and fast fielders and will give us a stiff fight, but we'll win. Victory today will turn the tide and we will take the lead."

RACES TO FEATURE ANNUAL STOCK SALE

Reidston Farm to Place 20 Young Horses on Block October 21.

Two races have been arranged to feature the fourth annual sale at the Reidston stock farm west of the city October 21 when twenty head of young horses will be placed on the block. One cow will also be placed on sale. The sale is in charge of John Hegler.

The races will be a quarter mile heat for yearlings and a half mile for three-year-olds. The races are open to all Wayne county farmers and a purse will be offered to the winner.

Most of the twenty head on sale at the stock farm are yearlings or a little older. There are some fine ones among them, and the bidding is expected to be spirited. The sale will be the largest held at the farm and is expected to draw a large crowd of horsemen.

SAYLOR WILL MEET LIGHTWEIGHT WELSH

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 8.—Milburn Saylor, Indiana's one best bet in the lightweight class, will meet Freddie Welsh, light-weight champion of Great Britain, in Winnipeg, Canada, Friday, October 17. This match, which has been hanging fire for some time, was closed by wire last night by Ray Bronson, Saylor's manager. John McKee, well-known promoter, will stage the match in Winnipeg.

CROSS SCORES K. O.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Leach Cross of this city, last night knocked out Young Brown, a local boy, in the sixth round of a scheduled ten-round bout. Brown received severe punishment in the third round, and took the full count in the sixth, when Cross brought over a right to the point of the jaw. Cross and Brown are light weights.

GREISEL CONSENTS TO UMPIRE GAME

Well Known Central League Official Will Be Here Sunday.

BAUMAN WITH STARS

Figer Second Baseman to Visit Here and Bush Sends Assurance.

Word has been received that Harry Greisel, the well known Central league umpire, will be on hands Sunday to officiate in the game between the Richmond team and the All Professionals.

Patsy Bauman, the star second baseman of the Detroit Tigers, who will be seen in the visitors' lineup, will arrive in Richmond the latter part of the week to be the guest of George Foster.

The All Professionals who defeated Kokomo last Sunday by a score of 4 to 2 will play a return game there one week from Sunday. In the game last Sunday Willis, the St. Louis National pitcher, struck out 14 batters.

Interest of Richmond fans in next Sunday's game will be centered in the performance of Owen Bush the Detroit short stop who was a local favorite long before he broke into major league baseball. Bush, in a letter to a friend here, says he will be in Richmond "with bells."

FIRST GAME NOTES

Over 300 newspaper men from all parts of the country are in Philadelphia to report the series for their respective newspapers. While the Inter-city series in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago and St. Louis kept many away it is believed that the attendance in this respect, at least, will prove a record.

Some unique requests have come in from those desiring world's series tickets to those who might have them. An out of town acquaintance sent word to Larry Doyle as follows: "Please get me a pass to each of the three games in New York and have it for a seat behind the New York players' bench."

Total paid attendance at the game was 36,291, total receipts $75,255. Of this sum the National Commission receives $7,525, the clubs $13,546 each, and the players $40,638.

The hue and cry about ticket scalping was entirely a fake. The only tickets in the hands of the scalpers came from politicians who had made a cowardly use of their pull to secure a few reserved seats at regulation prices, and then unloaded them on the ticket agencies at an advance.

The Giants looked better yesterday than they ever did in a world's series game since 1905. The kind of ball they played would have wiped up the ground with the Boston last fall. They fielded faster and hit cleaner than they did against Boston, and seemed steadier and more confident.

A score of "three-card monte" men did a thriving business among the crowd in front of the gates until the police broke up the game.

The Athletics were jubilant over finding Marquard so easily, and now think they can rush through the series perhaps in straight games. No series has even been won in four straight games, though the Cubs came pretty near doing it when they took four straight from the Detroit Tigers in 1907, after tying the first game.

Only once in eight seasons has the winner of the first game failed to come through to gain the final decision.

Taking it all in all, it was a game in which the final score clearly indicated the difference between the teams. The Athletics had just a shade in all departments. Their hitting was longer and harder, their fielding the least by far, and their base running a bit superior.

Bender had good control, not giving a base on balls, but the old stuff did not seem to be there. He was saved by the hard hitting of his men and their exceedingly fast fielding behind him, rather than by his own personal prowess.

Larry Doyle was not bothered by his lame shoulder, and played a better game than he did in any contest with Boston last year. His hitting was effective and he said his shoulder was not very painful, and he expects to play in every game.

Center field seems to be a hoodoo spot for the Giants. Snodgrass muffed a fly out there last year and lost a series. Yesterday Shaffer's mistake on Schang's blow in the fourth cost two runs and the game.

"No wonder Marquard can't pitch. He is trying to think what he will say in his story of the game," remarked a keen observer when the athletes were hitting the Rube in the fourth inning.

FOREIGNERS FLOCK TO NIGHT SCHOOL

550 Pupils Enrolled for Work When Class Sessions Begin.

One noticeable feature at the opening of the night school in the Richmond high school building last evening was the increased number of foreigners who took advantage of the school. The enrollment for the opening night was 550 as announced by Principal Pickell, at the assembly in the auditorium.

"While the enrollment this year is not quite as large as the former year, I am assured that the students mean to stick to their work," said Principal Pickell. "Last year," continued the supervisor, "we had a larger opening enrollment, but when the novelty wore off the classes decreased, but I feel that the pupils this year will remain during the entire term of twenty weeks."

The various classes were formed at the session and the instructors made the assignments for Friday's session. The business and industrial classes are much larger than the previous year's classes and are nearing the limit. Every class has an exceedingly large enrollment, as many of the former year's students are taking additional subjects this year.

Bench Work Popular.—The forging, bench work and mechanical drawing classes are especially large this year," said Principal Pickell.

The entire foreign enrollment is taking instruction in the English division. As the night school is no longer a mere venture, the students are choosing courses which in the end will lead to thorough instruction in that particular line.

In a brief speech before the assembly, Principal Pickell urged them to choose their classes with the idea in mind of sticking to the work for a number of years.

Mr. Helman, of the commercial department, told his students that the night school was a unit of opportunity. Many of his students work in the daytime and attend school at night to receive added instruction in their work and aid in their advancement.

A recent tour of the factory districts conducted by Principal Pickell and corps of assistants, was a success, for a large part of the students are shop people. An effort has been made this year to bring together as many of the factory boys and girls as possible, and from the results one might predict that the scope of the night school is being realized.

STUDENTS PRACTICE SCHOOL FIRE DRILL

Special Exercises to Be Given On Fire Prevention Day.

Fire prevention will be discussed at the opening exercises of the schools October 9. Special programs have not been arranged in any of the schools, but the teachers will take up the time with practical instruction to the children. They will give the pupils an idea of the annual loss from fire, the location of fire alarm boxes in their school districts, and measures to be taken to prevent fires.
